Quad-City Draft Call For March Upped to 58

Pre-Draft Quota Raised Last Week; Induction Is Highest in 3 Years

The Quad-City draft call for March has been increased from an original quota of 45 to 58 with another 36 Quad-Cityans scheduled to take pre-induction physicals during the month, it was announced Tuesday by the Madison County Selective Service office.

The draft call also has been increased for the Collinsville-Edwardsville area from 41 to 51 inductees, but was left unchanged at 45 men from the Alton area because they are due to leave for service tomorrow.

County-Wide—154 Men

The new call for 154 men from Madison county instead of the 131 in the original quota represents the largest draft call for a single month since September 1965 when 180 inductees were called into service from all three induction areas. The Quad-City call this month, however, is larger than the 1965 call which included 50 inductees from the area. At that time the Alton area inducted 92 men.

The February quota was only 38 men from the entire county. In January it was 70.

The 51 men now to be called from the Collinsville-Edwardsville area are to leave March 15, while the Quad-City contingent of 58 men is to leave March 29.

A total of 138 men has been called for physical examinations during March. Of these, 36 will be from the Quad-City area, 42 from the Collinsville-Edwardsville area and 60 from the Alton area.

Last month's local draft quotas were seven for induction and 25 for pre-draft physical exams.

A. O. Smith-Union In 13-Hour Meet; To Resume Today

Representatives of A. O. Smith Corp. and Boilermakers Union Local 575 were to resume negotiations this afternoon following 13 hours of contract talks last night and early this morning.

Renewal of negotiations got underway at 5 p.m. yesterday in the offices of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service at St. Louis. The meeting remained in continuous session until 6 a.m. today when it broke up with agreement to resume the talks at 1 p.m.

Pending completion of the "around-the-clock" negotiation session, participants said there were no reports to be made at this time on the trend of the discussions.

The new discussions were arranged yesterday by Chandler Fizer, federal mediator who has been sitting in on negotiations in an attempt to settle the 60-day strike of 1200 boilermakers at the Smith plant. The strike began Jan. 1 upon expiration of the union's old contract. A series of contract talks since the beginning of the strike has failed to bring about progress toward settlement of the issues.

Yesterday in Court

The renewed negotiations began yesterday after officials of both the company and the union had spent the day in circuit court at Edwardsville where Circuit Judge James O. Monroe jr., late yesterday afternoon, signed a temporary injunction limiting the union to six pickets at any gate or entrance to the A. O. Smith plant and enjoining the union from blocking entrances to the plant, intimidating anyone entering or leaving the plant or preventing the company from moving equipment or materials in or out of the plant.

The injunction order was issued on agreement by principals of both sides. A verbal agreement on the same basis was reached in circuit court last Monday after the company filed the injunction proceeding. At

Chouteau Village Rejected, 657 to 88

Active Campaign By Citizens Balks Plan To Form Municipality

An extremely heavy turnout was recorded Monday as residents of the proposed village of Chouteau defeated the plan by a margin of more than 7-to-1.

There were 657 "No" votes, 88 "Yes" votes and 49 spoiled ballots. The 794 total is believed to have represented about 90% of the number of potential voters in the 1.91-square-mile area in the southwestern area of Chouteau township.

An intensive campaign was waged by both those in favor and those opposed to incorporation. Autos marked "Vote Yes" shuttled back and forth to the polling place at the Fun 'n' Sun resort, apparently transporting in at least some cases persons who voted against the proposal.

Numerous Circulars

Unsigned circulars and cartoons stressing positive or negative viewpoints appeared with regularity at homes in the area prior to the election.

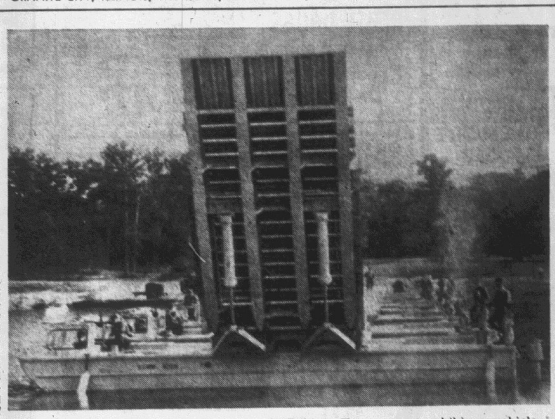

A few appeared to be libelous and nearly all violated the requirement that the author be identified.

Some of the people who initially advocated incorporation were attacked in desperation "Vote Yes" circulars on the eve of the voting. Much of such literature was confusing and, as a result, may have been ineffective.

Enforcement, Tax Issues

Major issues included the potential quality of legislation and law enforcement by the MOFAB — Mobile, Floating Assault Bridge - Ferry, an amphibious vehicle used by the Army to cope with inland water obstacles. The Army Depot here is the first to receive the units from the manufacturer and the vehicle is to be tested on the Mississippi River.

Army Depot to Test MOFAB Units on River

The Granite City Army Depot will be using the Mississippi River here for the testing of the MOFAB. The Mobile, Floating, Assault Bridge-Ferry is an amphibious vehicle used to surmount inland water obstacles in assault operations.

In the near future, a two-man team from Fort Belvoir, Va., will arrive at the Depot to begin writing a training program for troops in the maintenance and operation of the vehicle. The Depot is being considered as a MOFAB training site for military personnel.

The amphibious unit can travel over land at speeds up to 40 miles per hour. Three-man crews of four vehicles assemble a four-unit ferry in six minutes. Carrying a 60-ton load, the ferry moves at eight miles per hour. Individual units travel in water at 10½ mph.

Bridge in 15 Minutes

A 334-foot bridge can be formed in 15 minutes by crews of 12 units. Sixty-ton loads can cross the bridge at intervals of 100 feet.

End or interior bay superstructures (decks) can be carried by the same self-propelled vehicle. The end bay is 37 feet long and weighs 10 tons. It is carried in a folded position and extended in water by two hydraulic cylinders. The interior bay is 26 feet long and weighs seven tons. Both are constructed of welded steel and aluminum.

The vehicles go directly into the water without preparation. The bays are carried lengthwise on land and are rotated hydraulically 90 degrees and connected for bridging or ferrying operations.

16-Ton Transporter

The basic transporter-vehicle is built of riveted aluminum and weighs 16 tons.

Its 335 hp diesel engine drives the vehicle on land and furnishes power for the propeller in the water. The transporter-vehicle is 43¼ feet long, 12 feet wide, and 5½ feet deep.

Upon entering the water, the wheels can hydraulically retract upward into two wheel wells. The 28-inch shrouded propeller can be rotated 360 degrees for steering and reversing, can be lowered 16 inches below the bottom of the unit to permit operation in shallow and deep water, and swing into an elevated position for road travel.

The units are driven from the cab and the marine operation is either from the cab or the marine station. All control and positioning functions of the propulsion unit, superstructure, wheel retraction and land steering are accomplished by hydraulic power.

The Granite City Army Depot has been selected by the Army Materiel Command, headquartered in Washington, D. C., as the first installation to receive these units from the manufacturers for processing and retrofit prior to troop issues.

Meet March 11 On Recreation Plan in Madison

A meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 11, at the Madison recreation center on the proposed development of outdoor recreational facilities at that site.

Representatives of Madison organizations and Quad-City employers have been invited to attend, along with the public.

"It will be an opportunity to hear of the detailed plans drawn up to improve the recreational facilities, and the part that your group may take in this project. It is designed to benefit all age groups of the citizens of Madison," Harvey R. Miller, Maditon Rotary president, has announced. George J. Frangoulis is project chairman.

Plans for the meeting were reviewed at yesterday's Rotary luncheon, where photographic slides were shown by Rex Waggoner, son of Rotarian Lewis Waggoner. The speaker has just completed two years of Marine Corps service, including 13 months in Vietnam.

Sanitary Sewer Construction Stalled by Weather, Final OK

Start of construction on the $192,904 sanitary sewer project in scattering sections of Granite City should be undertaken next week, it was learned today.

The work was to have begun last week by General Contracting Co., but was delayed due to weather and a final approval of the city's $150,000 revenue bond issue by the bond consulting firm.

Approval of the form of the completed bonds, which were sold to the First Granite City National Bank, is expected within a few days.

A report on progress of the bond issue was given during Monday night's session of the city council, where protest was raised by Alderman Green, who said the city had gone on record to start the sanitary sewer project in North Granite and the present plans are to start in West Granite.

Water Table Problem

"I'm for starting the work in North Granite as we said we would," Green stated. He was advised by Alderman Bartosiak, chairman of the Special Sewer committee, that the contractor had requested the first phase be in West Granite where the current water table is lower and there will be less mud to cope with.

"By the time he finishes there, the water table will be about right in North Granite," the chairman added.

A proposal by Mayor Partney for the city to hire an inspector for the sanitary sewer project was tabled by the council after

Experts Confer at SIU-SW

Research Stressed in Plant Site Seminar

Research, imagination, cooperation and plenty of "homework" in attracting new industries to this metropolitan area were stressed by experts in an industrial plant location seminar conducted Tuesday at the Southern Illinois University - Southwestern campus.

Two industrial executives, two officials of state economic development departments and several educators stressed changing concepts now being considered by industrialists in selecting locations for industrial plants before the 113 persons with vital interests in industrial development who were at the all-day affair.

The seminar was sponsored by Metro-East Industrial Development Inc., St. Louis Regional Industrial Development Corp. and SIU-SW.

Communities and industrial development organizations rarely provide the type of information needed by industrial executives in considering plant locations, it was agreed, and that "advertising signs" welcoming new industries or expensive brochures are seldom effective.

Inform Executives

Industrial executives should be informed not only what a particular site has to offer, but what it should contain; and developers must convince the executives that they should locate at a particular site, according to Robert Weinberg, vice-president, corporate planning, Anheuser-Busch Inc. of St. Louis.

Weinberg, who is in charge of selecting sites for new breweries throughout the U. S., was particularly critical of realtors interested in disposing of industrial sites.

"No realtor has given me a real proposal," he said. "If a realtor took time to understand the problems of a company, he'd have a head start.

"Where do I build a brewery? As close as I can to people who drink beer, because water is expensive to ship. Convince me that I would be foolish in not considering the site the realtor has in mind. Do some homework."

Labor Factors

The chief concern in the minds of most corporation executives in locating plants probably are labor factors, particularly in construction of plants. He referred to no-strike agreements in his company's St. Louis brewery expansion and in Proctor and Gamble's industrial development in Cape Girardeau.

But a year or two from now, pollution will be the major factor, he emphasized.

Weinberg, a former professor and ex-IBM official who reviewed the assumptions of theorists in selection of plant locations, said, "I think businessmen behave nearly rationally but generally on the basis of misinformation. Businessmen rarely have the proper perspective.

"It is extremely important to you to recognize, in addition to theory, the subjective and emotional factors that come into play," he said. "There is never just one site. There is always a handful which are equal. The clincher is based on subjective factors of questionable rationality."

Stress Imagination

Howard Roepke, professor of geography at the University of Illinois, stressed the word "imagination" in dealing with particular industrial sites. The word "just about covers the waterfront," he said, and "leads to a variety of ways to

YMCA 50th Anniversary Dinner Saturday

(Related feature on Page 30)

The 50th anniversary meeting of the YMCA will be observed with a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, the exact date of the charter signing in 1918. Election of directors to the governing board, presentation of service awards and an address by a YMCA official of international repute will highlight the affair.

Featured speaker will be Lt. Col. David C. Stubbs, USAF, (retd.), who for the past year has worked as the Director of International Affairs for the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago.

A 12-year member of the United States Olympic Rules committee and chairman of the first U. S. Olympic Volleyball committee for the 1964 Tokyo games, Stubbs gained further international experience as a member of the World Alliance of YMCAs in Geneva, Switzerland, from 1965 to 1967, during which time he visited most countries were YMCA World Service Fraternal Secretaries are at work.

The guest speaker attended George Williams College and Northwestern University. He began his YMCA career at the Austin Center in Chicago while still at school. He served five years on active duty in the U. S. Air Force and continued in the Air Force Reserves, retiring with the grade of lieutenant colonel.

International Interests

Stubbs' international interests started in the late 1940s when he spent six months in South America as a consultant on physical education. Since that time, he has served as president and held other offices in the North American Physical Education Society and as representative and member - at - large on the National AOS Board. He also was a member of the Organizing committee of the Pan-American Games in Chicago.

The professional YMCA worker was recipient of the Roberts - Gulick Memorial Award for outstanding achievement in the field of "Y" physical education programs. For eight years, he was a metropolitan physical education director, followed by three years as metropolitan program coordinator. Both appointments were in Chicago.

Since returning to this country from Switzerland, Stubbs has worked as the Director of International Affairs for the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago and devotes half of his time serving in the same capacity for the "Y's" Region One area.

About 75 persons are expected to attend the event in the YMCA auditorium. Invitations have been mailed to community

Levee District Election to be On Local Basis

Madison County to Choose Two Trustees; Filing Opens Monday

Filing Rush On Opening Day in 3 School Districts

Twelve candidates filed nominating petitions yesterday for eight regular terms and two unexpired terms open to balloting this year in school board elections in the three school districts of the Quad-City area.

The petitions of candidacy were submitted to board of education offices of Granite City School District 9, Venice District 3 and Madison District 12, to mark the opening of the 1968 school election filing period.

Last day to file is March 23. Candidates then will have until March 26 to withdraw. School elections will be conducted Saturday, April 13.

In Granite City school district, where three regular terms and a one-year unexpired term are open in election this year, first candidate to file was Morris W. Miles, 118 Kinder drive, seeking election as a rural member.

File in Granite City

Others filing in Granite City on the first day of the filing period included incumbent Donald W. Stucke, 1613 Clark avenue, as an urban member; Harold W. Davis, Rural Route Two, rural member; incumbent George E. Moore sr., 1929 St. Clair avenue, urban, and Henry J. Beadle, 4732 Vincent drive, rural, all seeking election to regular three-year terms.

Arthur L. "Pete" Metcalf, 2718 Cayuga street, now serving on the board as an appointee, filed nominating petitions to run for the remaining one year of the unexpired term to which he was appointed last year. School election laws provide that a vacancy may be filled by appointment up to the next following election, at which time any remaining period of the term must be filled by election.

Regular terms expiring on the Granite City school board this year are those of Stucke, Moore and Royce Timmons. Timmons thus far has not taken out nominating petitions and he has made no announcement of plans.

Four File in Venice

Only other opposition to incumbent board members to develop on the first day of filing was in Venice where Hugh Hairston, a service station operator and a leader of NAACP activities in this area, filed nominating petitions. Others to Earlier opinions that candidates for five board trusteeships of the East Side Levee and Sanitary district must run for election this year in their own respective areas of Madison and St. Clair county were confirmed by the Illinois attorney general's office today as preparations were being completed for the opening of the 1968 primary election filing period on Monday.

As a result, nominating petitions must be filed with the county clerk of the area in which the candidates lives. In past years, all candidates for the levee board filed nominating petitions with the secretary of state's office at Springfield and ran on a district-wide basis.

The East Side Levee and Sanitary district is a bi-county agency comprised of parts of Madison and St. Clair counties. The five trusteeships are apportioned between the two counties on the basis of property valuations, which currently allows two board members from the Madison county area of the district, and three from the St. Clair county area.

Attorney General's Ruling

Miss Eulalia Hotz, Madison county clerk, said today that she called the attorney general's office at Springfield yesterday to verify her arrangements for local filing by candidates, and was told that an

Summer Plans For Ice Rink Outlined by Board

Spring and summer use of the Wilson Park ice rink and recreation center was planned last night by Granite City park district commissioners who authorized purchase of volley ball, tennis and badminton court net standards, three ping pong tables and a gymnastic springboard.

Closing date for the ice rink has not yet been decided, but it will remain open at least until March 15, weather permitting. The board is to meet prior to that date to make a decision.

The commissioners tabled a proposal to buy basketball backstops for the rink and voted to prohibit the use of picnic tables and barbecue grills inside the rink area.

Other plans for use of the rink during the off-season months are in the making. ID cards for the ice rink also will be good for next season, the board decided.

In other preparations for the forthcoming recreation season, the commissioners purchased three sets of bleachers for ball diamonds at playgrounds, called for bids for a baseball backstop at the new playground near Prather school and authorized fencing at the softball diamond at Worthen Park.

$2600 Sidewalk Bid

A contract for construction of a concrete sidewalk through the park from Fehling road at Yale drive to 29th street in front of Niedringhaus school was awarded to Leo Wolf Co. on a low bid of $2600 that included a $450 alternate for an eight-foot walk from Fehling road to the ice rink and five-foot for the remaining distance. The city and school district are sharing the cost—to pay $750 each. Six bids were received.

Taken under consideration was assignment of a guard for Triangle Park in West Granite, who also would serve the Washington school playground during recreation periods. The request was made by the West Granite Youth Development Association, which has complaints that older youngsters are damaging playground equipment.

Approval was given assignment of the baseball and softball assignments for summer league play.

Management Courses Offered at 3 Centers

Night courses leading to a certificate in industrial management will be offered again in the spring at Alton, East St. Louis and Granite City under auspices of Southern Illinois University, Quad Cityans were reminded today.

Sponsored by the Division of Technical and Adult Education at SIU-SW, the ten-week studies will meet one night a week beginning March 18. Registration will be conducted in each community Thursday, March 7, except in Granite City, where because of the widespread interest in the regional basketball meet all evening activities have been canceled on March 4 to 8.

Registration at GCHS will be held daily and on Monday through Thursday evenings to March 15, except for next week.

Offered every quarter except summer, the program features a variety of subjects aimed at improving supervisory skills. Although completion of eight courses is required for a certificate, students may proceed at their own pace.

Subjects available at Alton include Basic Industrial Metallurgy I, Illinois Labor Law, Industrial Engineering for Foremen, Logic, Material Handling, Motion Analysis and Time Study and Reading Improvement. Registration will be from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the SIU General Office, 2800 College avenue, Alton, with classes at Alton senior high school.

In East St. Louis, classes are scheduled at the senior high school. Courses will include effective Speaking for Supervisors I, English Review, Labor Management Relations and The Supervisor and His Job. Registration will be from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the SIU General Office, 10th and Ohio streets, East St. Louis.

Courses at Granite City will be offered at the senior high school. Included are Effective Speaking for Supervisors I, Industrial Report Writing, Practical Psychology for Supervisors II and Reading Improvement. Registration will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in GCHS Room 147, the adult education office.

Previous classes have been attended by all levels of management, including prospective supervisors, small business owners, union representatives, secretaries and construction personnel.

Further details are available from Dale Blount of the SIU-SW Technical and Adult Education Division at 692-3560.

Changes Planned in Wheat Price Support

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the price support program for 1968 crop wheat will be modified, according to M. Lee Rogers of the ASCS office in Edwardsville.

Current price support regulations provide that when wheat is stored in or delivered to CCC approved storage warehouses official grade and protein (hard wheat) determinations are required.

Revised Regulations will eliminate these requirements beginning with the 1968 wheat crop. However, any producer may request and get an official grade and if hard wheat, a protein certificate, if he so requests at at the time the wheat is delivered.

"This change should reduce marketing costs and will simplify and speed up loan making and settlements. Yet, all interested parties will be protected," Rogers said.

County Mental Health Group to Meet Mar. 7

The Madison County Association for Mental Health will hold its first general membership meeting of the year at 8 p.m. March 7 in the special services building at Alton State Hospital.

Paul Largomarcino, director of the hospital's Alcoholic Treatment Center, will present a program.

The meeting is open to anyone interested in mental health. The county association is made up of volunteer citizens interested in mental health education and legislation.

MORE ABOUT

Sanitary Sewer

Bartosiak pointed out the engineering firm of H. W. Lochner Co., Chicago, is to handle the inspection under its contract and is to furnish daily reports on the status and progress of work.

Mayor Partney said he made the proposal after studying the contract with the Federal Housing and Urban Renewal agency, which is authorizing use of about $100,000 of the city's $1,500,000 grant for sewers. "I read that the owner is to provide supervision and inspection. The engineer is to supervise and I maintain the city should have an inspector even though the engineer says he will provide inspection."

He said the city's sewer inspector would be paid from the construction fund, and that a qualified, experienced man is needed by the city to prevent such problems as arose after the Nameeoki area sanitary sewer project where several expensive breaks occurred.

Engineer Represents Owner

Bartosiak stressed the engineer would be representing the owner in providing inspection and that he had verified that particular stipulation in the engineering contract during conferences with the engineer and with the city's bond attorney.

"If the city hires an inspector, it will be added expense, and the engineer told me it would not be necessary as the firm's inspector will be on the job steady to watch every section of pipe go in," Bartosiak said.

Joining the discussion, Alderman Whitmer stressed he wanted no political appointments to the inspection posts. "I recall the shoddy job on the Nameeoki area project with its cave-ins that nearly caused the city to go bankrupt paying for repairs."

The mayor agreed he did not want duplicate inspection services, and Bartosiak called for tabling the proposal.

Alderman Rutledge, chairman of the Finance committee, called for legal action to be taken against persons who have failed to pay the $2.50 monthly charge for sewer rental and the 90-cent monthly payment for sewage treatment.

Overdue Treatment Bills

City Treasurer E. R. Rich reported the sewage treatment delinquencies now amount to over $17,000 in a two-year period and the Nameoki area sanitary sewer project rental delinquencies total more than double that amount.

Rutledge called for advice from City Atty. Allen after Treasurer Rich reported that filing liens against the property was not the answer in the case of delinquencies, since it worked only in a few cases. "Sometimes we have to wait for years when property is sold on a contract for deed," the treasurer reported.

Atty. Allen said the individuals could be sued in the court of small claims, but that it would be a long, drawn-out procedure and take a lot of time. He said the council would have to determine how the legal work is to be handled, as he could not do that work and keep up with other legal requirements.

No further action was taken by the council Monday night.

Alderman Poulos complained that a number of Granite Cityans are using oil drums as garbage containers and that dogs are overturning the receptacles and scattering debris. "We have a law that sets forth the type of container and that it should have a tight-fitting lid. This shoulde be enforced," he told council members.

Hospital Honors Gulley, Townsend and Employees

C. E. Townsend, editor and publisher of the Press-Record, Lyle Gulley, executive vice-president of Granite City Steel Co., and employees of St. Elizabeth Hospital were honored Wednesday afternoon for their efforts in the recent hospital expansion fund drive.

Austin Witter, president of the hospital's advisory board, presented a plaque to Townsend for his work as honorary chairman during the drive.

Gulley was given a similar plaque for his leadership as general co-chairman for the drive which netted $1,105,771. Delancy Davis, general co-chairman, was unable to attend.

The "30 Minute Club" hospital employee memorial plaque was unveiled during the gathering. Miss Jackie Haug and Paul Hopper, employee co-chairmen, participated. The memorial plaque is displayed on the ground floor of the Binney wing. After the new wing is constructed, the plaque will be moved into it.

The names on it represent those hospital employees who have pledged 30 minutes of their salary each week to the expansion fund. The pledges represent gifts totaling more than $80,000. As new employees are hired they are invited to join the club.

Fire Destroys House In Venice Early Today

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a one-story frame house at 1004(r) Calhoun street, Venice, shortly before 5 a.m. today. Venice firemen, who received the alarm at 4:45 a.m., said the house was a total loss. The house, owned by Alonzo Barber, was vacant.

Venice firemen also were called at 2:50 p.m. yesterday when a fuel oil truck on the county road at the Army Depot gate sprung a leak. Firemen washed down the road while the tank truck, owned by Mobil Oil Co., was refilled.

village, and the cost of operating a new layer of government.

The anti-incorporation effort was spearheaded by citizens, motivated in part by the belief that future village officials might adopt policies that would substantially alter life in the Mitchell area to the detriment of the residents.

Those directly affected played the major role in the campaign but "outsiders" also were observed in the area, one of them an elected Madison county official. Incorporation advocates had said they planned to expand the village from western Mitchell to eastern Mitchell once it had been established.

Boundary Questions Arise

Many prospective voters were turned away but observers said they felt there was general adherence to the laws governing conducting of an incorporation election.

Conduct Charge Filed

John Cliff, 54, of 1405 Grand avenue, was arrested at 10 a.m. Tuesday on a disorderly conduct complaint signed by Daisy Painter. He was released on notice to appear for a hearing.

Advance apprehension in this regard had prompted an investigation by Chief Circuit Judge James O. Monroe, who stressed the legal duties of poll officials and citizens and said he and the sheriff would be "on call" in the event of any complaints. No problems were reported.

The appearance of ineligible voters was attributed to the intricate southern boundary line and resulting uncertainty over which lots were inside or outside the line. The opposition group provided a detailed map which aided in deciding residence questions.

Both the rejected voters and those whose ballots were ruled as spoiled appeared to be of about the same proportion of voting sentiment as the ratio of valid "Yes" and "No" ballots, it was learned.

Demos Pick Clark for Senate Race; Simon To Run for Lieutenant-Governor's Office

Illinois Democratic leaders, after huddling in Chicago with Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, dropped State Treasurer Adlai E. Stevenson III as the 1968 candidate for U. S. Senator and announced they had picked Attorney General William G. Clark in his place.

At the same time they announced selection of Lt. Gov. Samuel Shapiro of Kankakee, a long time party faithful as candidate for governor, and State Senator Paul Simon of Troy as the candidate on the Democratic ticket for lieutenant-governor.

Shapiro will campaign to succeed Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner, who is expected to resign soon to accept a federal judgeship, Kerner's resignation would elevate Shapiro to the governorship and enhance his campaign by running as an incumbent.

Incumbent State Auditor Michael J. Howlett was slated to run for re-election, as was Secretary of State Paul Powell. The committee picked Francis S. Lorenz, now director of the Department of Public Works, as candidate for attorney general, and chose Miss Fannie Jones, an East St. Louis Negro school teacher, to run for clerk of the Supreme Court.

First Negro on Ticket

It marked the first time a Negro has been selected to run on a state ticket, with exception of candidates for University of Illinois trustees. Selection of Miss Jones was made to help the Democrats with the Negro vote on a statewide basis. Simon's selection for the lieutenant-governor's spot was reported due to Mayor Daley's consideration for the influence of downstate committeemen and his feeling that downstate should be represented for a balanced ticket.

Makeup of the state ticket was announced by Mayor Daley after several days of maneuvering and individual caucusing by the 20-member Democratic State Central Committee. Committee members first met in Springfield last Friday and then moved to Chicago on Monday to meet with Daley.

Political observers maintained there was little doubt that Daley had final say over the organization of the ticket. An announcement of the slate was promised early Tuesday, but the final session of committee members was postponed into late Tuesday afternoon so that Democratic leaders could attend the funeral of former Senator Scott Lucas at Havana.

Reserved on Policy

Stevenson was left off the ticket. Democrat leaders admitted, because of his reservations about American policy in Vietnam. Some leaders said the action severely damaged Steven's future in Illinois politics and certainly upset his timetable. Stevenson was known to have aspired to higher office this year, pereferably as the candidate for U.S. Senator.

The state treasurer was believed to have killed his chances for a place on the ticket when he met with party officials in Springfield last week. At that time Stevenson told them "I might conceivably have to disagree with the President (about Vietnam) at some point during the campaign."

Mayor Daley was known to favor a ticket of loyal organization men who would cause no trouble this year by dissenting from any of the policies of the Johnson administration.

Simon had sought the committee endorsement for the senatorial race and conducted an extensive campaign throughout the state during the last three months. He made a six-week tour of Vietnam several months ago to acquaint himself with the policy issues.

Local Vietnam Vet To Train Soldiers

Sp/4 Larry G. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harris 2932 Washington avenue, arrived home Tuesday evening by plane from Vietnam concluding his years tour of duty. While overseas he was attached to a number of different units including three Marine Units, the 1st Cavalry, and the 101st Airborne Unit.

He is home on a 30-day leave and will report at Fort Bliss, Texas, for his next assignment to assist in training men on automatic weapons.

A graduate from the local high school in June 1966, he enlisted that summer and has 15 months yet to serve before he receives his discharge.

HOW TO DO IT is demonstrated by Warrior sectional wrestling champion Paul Hoffman, shown defeating Joe Lutz of Carbondale 5-2 in their title match here. Hoffman, in control of the bout at the point shown, expects even tougher competition at the state meet this weekend.

REPEAT CHAMPIONSHIP will be sought by Paul Hoffman, 154-pound district and sectional winner, at Evanston. Bill Fuchs of GCHS won the state 103-pound title last year.

By Press-Record Staff Photographer

INTENSITY OF COMPETITION that will be encountered in the state wrestling bouts at Northwestern University, Evanston, tomorrow and Saturday is illustrated by this sectional match involving one of the four state-bound Warriors, Bob Miller. He lost this 103-pound title bout to Rick Buckner of Decatur Eisenhower, 3-2, but will join Buckner and 14 others in the rivalry this weekend.

Pekin Favored in State Mat Meet-But Don't Count Out Warriors

What the "run for the roses" is to horse racing, the annual state tournament is to Illinois high school wrestling.

Granite City, no stranger to the statewide mat finals, ranks as a "dark horse" in this year's competition tomorrow and Saturday at Northwestern University, Evanston, but cannot be counted out at this stage of the race.

Favorites are Pekin, Sterling township and Normal, with Maywood Proviso East also possibly included in that category.

GCHS is represented in four of the 12 weight divisions by 154-pound Paul Hoffman, district and sectional champion, and three who won district titles and were runnersup in last week's GCHS sectional—Bob Miller, 103 pounds, Dempsey Cross, 138, and Ricky Smith, 145.

Granite City, 44-43 winner over East St. Louis Lincoln in the local sectional, finds itself outnumbered with its contingent of four. Lincoln also qualified four wrestlers for the state meet.

Pekin Sends 7, Sterling 6

Pekin has seven state entries as champion of the Champaign Central sectional. This powerpacked tourney also saw University high of Normal advance four wrestlers to Evanston.

Sterling township, champion of the Rock Island sectional, has six grapplers in the state tourney. The host Rock Island squad is sending three to state.

Proviso East captured the sectional at Glenbard West of Glen Ellyn although only qualifying three students to advance; Aurora East is advancing four from the same sectional. However, Proviso East has capable entries and might become a threat if it can pick up several early wins in two weights.

Joliet, DeKalb, Chicago

Joliet West rates consideration on its five state entries and its championship of the sectional at Sandburg high school of Orland Park.

At the Fremd of Palatine sectional, DeKalb was the champion with four wrestlers advancing and East Leyden of Franklin Park is sending two to state.

The Evanston township sectional title went to North Chicago, with four grapplers statebound.

In addition to 24 matmen moving to the state tourney this week from each of the seven sectional tournaments, 24 Chicago city wrestlers will participate, making a grand total of 192 or 16 in each of the 12 weights.

Chicago Vocational won the Chicago competition and Farragut high school also showed strength by advancing three wrestlers.

Although much of the attention will be focused on the team competition, each bout will involve the most fundamental possible confrontation—two wrestlers battling for a win that only one can achieve.

Four Champions Back

Perusal of the sectional tabulations and previous records shows why Granite City is only a dark horse and why none of the schools can await the tournament with much assurance. It should be one of the toughest state meets in years.

No less than four state champions are back from last year—Richard Casino, 95 pounds, of Thornton Fractional North, Max Braum (127) of Richwoods East, Eric Bates (154) of University high of Normal and Bob Shelby (180) of Champaign Central.

These four are among a record total of 19 state qualifiers who have gone undefeated and untied this season.

Casino is 25-0, Braum 28-0, Bates 28-0 and Shelby, 25-0.

32-0 Wrestler Entered

Two third-place wrestlers also are returning from the 1967 state meet—Phil Parker (127) of North Chicago and Randy Pratt (180) of Chicago West. Parker is 32-0 and Pratt 29-2.

Those who qualified for state action from the Granite City sectional are: 95 pounds, Mel Jackson of Lincoln and Fred Miller of East St. Louis; 103, Rick Buckner of Decatur Eisenhower and Miller; 112, Rusty Cunningham of Decatur and McNary Nollie of Lincoln; 120, Bob Patterson of Roxana and Bill Henderson of Lincoln; 127, Enos Brownridge of East St. Louis and John Freeman of Decatur; 133, Jim Collins of Bethalto and Jerry Higgins of Springfield; 138, Bob Williams of East St. Louis and Cross; 145, Mark Malley of Decatur and Smith; 154, Hoffman and Joe Lutz of Carbondale; 165, Steve Tozer of Springfield and Charles Scott of Decatur MacArthur; 180, Ken Hammon of Bethalto and Esau Tolson of Lincoln; and heavyweight, Frank Werkau of Springfield Lanphier and Don Shanks of Piasa Southwestern.

Of these sectional champions, Buckner, a sophomore, has a 17-2 won-lost record this season; Cunningham, a junior, is undefeated with a 26-0 mark; and Werkau, a junior, has 23-2.

The other nine sectional titlists are seniors—Jackson 24-3, Jones 24-1, Brownridge undefeated at 25-0, Higgins 26-1, Williams 22-4, Malley undefeated with 25-0, Hoffman 23-5-1, Tozer 28-1 and Hammon, 24-1.

Glittering Past Record

As mentioned, state competition is nothing new for GCHS, although new for the four individual Warriors in the 1968 competition. The local school has participated in 30 of the 31 state mat meets and has scored some points each time it competed except in 1950, when the Warriors were shut out.

Waukegan has produced the most champions, 28, and Proviso holds the most state team championships, eight.

Granite City holds the record for the most points scored by a non-victorious team, 41 in the 1957 meet.

GCHS, by winning its 15th consecutive sectional championship, set a new state record.

Last year, the Warrior tied for tenth place in the state but produced a state champion, 103-pound Bill Fuchs, Rock Island, with only two wrestlers, won the team title with only 25 points; Evanston and Orland Park Sandburg tied for second with 22 each; and Pekin and Champaign tied for fourth place with 21 points apiece.

4 from GCHS, Lincoln

The 24-wrestler contingent advancing to the state tourney from the Granite City sectional meet includes four Warriors and four grapplers from Lincoln of East St. Louis.

The closeness of the sectional, won by GCHS by a point over Lincoln, is further shown by the fact that the host squad had one champion and three runnersup, the identical figures for Lincoln.

Lincoln benefited more from the use of a 1930-era rule allowing the third-place finisher to challenge the second-place wrestler for the right to accompany the champion of their weight to Evanston.

All three Lincoln runnersup had finished third and then won challenge bouts. Of the three Warriors surviving challenge bouts, two had placed second and one third.

Rule Increases Fairness

Those finishing second had won all their bouts until losing the title bout. Those designated as third lost one time during the tourney but won all their other tournament matches.

The rule is viewed as adding to the fairness of the competition, since a better-wrestler than the second-place finisher might have been eliminated sooner in the meet merely because he fought the prospective champion sooner.

In all, seven of the 12 placing second here fought off their challengers, while five third-place grapplers succeeded in qualifying for Evanston the hard way.

Three Had Two Champs

Third-place Decatur and fourth-place East St. Louis are each sending two champions and a runnerup to the state meet, while fifth-place Bethalto will be represented by two sectional champions.

Seventh-place Springfield is sending a champion and runnerup to Evanston.

Sixth-place Springfield Lanphier, eighth-place Roxana and ninth-place Decatur Eisenhower are each sending a sectional champion, while tenth-place Carbondale, 11th-place Piasa Southwestern and 14th-place Decatur MacArthur are each sending a runnerup.

Four at State Have 84 Wins

The four Warriors competing in the state tournament this weekend have the following won-lost-tied records for 1967-68:

Miller (103), 16-4-0, district champion and sectional runnerup.

Hoffman (154), 23-5-1, district champion and sectional runnerup.

The seven Granite Cityans who reached the sectional level but did not advance to the state this year are:

Ron Hopper (112), 18-10-0, district champion.

28 Victories By Oxford

Dan James (heavyweight), 13-6-0, district runnerup

The twelfth Warrior in district competition at Wood River this year was Bob Pates (180), who finished the season with a 19-14-0 record.

Diamond, Schedule Decisions Tonight

A meeting of managers and coaches of the Granite City park district boys' baseball program will commence at 7 o'clock tonight at the Community Center to discuss final plans for the 1968 season, including game nights and practice diamonds. Roster sheets and registration cards will be given out.

Park district office personnel are still taking names of boys not already on teams who are interested in playing baseball this year. Boys between the ages of seven and 17 are invited to call 877-3059 and be placed on waiting lists for managers to call.

Red Devils to Play for District Championship

Can the Venice basketball Red Devils win their fourth consecutive district high school championship? Only one obstacle remains today—either Dupo or O'Fallon in the title game of the O'Fallon district meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The tourney has proceeded according to form so far, and the seedings indicate Dupo should edge O'Fallon at 7:30 tonight, with Venice slightly favored to defeat Dupo tomorrow evening.

Venice ousted St. Henry's Prep of Belleville 89-51 and Columbia eliminated Mascoutah 65-61 Monday; Dupo downed Lovejoy 73-47 and O'Fallon outran Lebanon 99-85 Tuesday; and Venice crushed Columbia 96-77 last night.

Team Shows Improvement

"We were slow and sluggish Monday but we looked a lot better this time," Coach William Ohlendorf said last night after Venice had gained a narrow, 19-17 first quarter lead and then sprinted to a 44-27 halftime advantage, earned a 66-46 third period lead and poured in 30 points during a 61-point fourth quarter.

"Our press was effective. We stole the ball more than 10 times and were tough on rebounds."

Tom McIntosh had a 27-point scoring barrage and John Gardner was close behind with 25. Larry Mosby contributed 18, Russell Turner 11, Glover seven, Fessor Gray four, Jim Miller three and Marvis Hoults, one.

Pointmakers Monday were Frank Glover 19, Gardner and Mosby 14, McIntosh and Gray 12, Turner 10, George McIntyre seven and Miller, one.

Venice scored eight points before St. Henry's could score and led 15-7, 36-23 and 60-35 at the quarters.

"We missed many scoring chances, but they also had problems and toward the end our press forced them into a lot of confusioon," the Red Devil coach related.

Mat Squad Departs for State Meet

The state tournament-bound Granite City high school wrestling team left here by train this morning and will arrive this afternoon in Evanston.

A record number of 110 schools has qualified one or more wrestlers for the tournament tomorrow and Saturday. Attendance by the five wrestling cheerleaders and a supervisor was authorized by the school board last night, and President E. W. Walton praised the team for setting a new state record — 15 straight sectional championships.

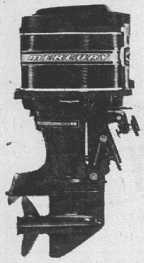

The Warriors have done well in the state meets, being runnerup in 1957, fourth in 1961, co-champion in 1965 and third in 1966.

Records they hold are: most points scored by a runnerup, 41 in the 1957 meet; scoring in 29 of the state tourneys; and tied with Champaign for the most times qualifying for state participation, 30.

The Warriors are ranked fourth in state scoring, which has been kept since 1956. Waukegan is first with 429 points, Reavis has 265, Proviso East 262 and Granite City 223.

Robert Whelan of Granite City will be one of the referees at Evanston.

GCHS Will Host Strong Regional Cage Tourney

The Granite City high school memorial gymnasium will be buzzing with activity next week with one of the strongest Illinois high school regional basketball tournaments.

The first-seeded Collinsville Kahoks will meet Alton Marquette in the opener at 7 p.m. Monday, followed by a game between the Granite City Warriors and Madison Trojans getting under way at 8:30. MHS will be trying to avenge a defeat by GCHS earlier this season.

The remaining first-round games will be played Tuesday, Alton senior high meeting the Roxana Shells at 7 p.m. and the Edwardsville Tigers playing the Wood River Oilers at 8:30 p.m.

Semifinals March 6, 7

The winners of the opening games Monday evening will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday and the survivors of Tuesday's games will meet at 8 p.m. next Thursday, March 7.

The final contest will be played at 8 p.m. Friday, March 8, matching the winner of Wednesday's game and the winner of Thursday's game.

The Collinsville Kahoks are favored to win the regional, but have been beaten by Alton and Edwardsville. The Kahoks have won for the last five years consecutively.

Tigers on Winning Streak

The Edwardsville Tigers have been able to win their last five games without a loss, and their victims included not only Collinsville but Alton.

The Red Birds and Tigers finished in a dead heat for second place in the Southwestern Conference.

Alton, Edwardsville, East St. Louis and Collinsville of the Southwestern Conference have been rated among the top teams in the state this season, but the Warriors and Trojans are regarded as having the ability to take all the marbles, having shown they could beat even the most powerful quintets on a given night.

40 from GC Park District In Recreation Day Meet

Forty young people representing the Granite City park district will participate Saturday in the third annual "Recreation Day" event, to be held this year in Roxana. Competing teams are entered from Wood River, Centralia, Belleville, East Alton, Highland, Alton, Granite City and the host community.

Granite City has taken top honors at both prveious "Recreation Day" programs and a third win by the youthful contestants will secure permanent possession of a large traveling trophy. Last year, only one point separated the local winners from two runer-up teams.

Harold Brown, park superintend, said the contestants will depart by bus at 7:30 a.m. Saturday from the Wilson Park ice rink parking area.

Participants include Deena Poulos and Janis Mehelic, table tennis; Rick Schardan, Ray Hoffman, Dennis Orsey, Bob and Charles Poulos, high school boys bowling team; Liz Starko, Dena Peterson, Nancy Gauen, Sandy Deatherage and Debbie Hightower, high school girls bowling team.

Katheryn Morgan, Connie Kestler, Carol Kula, Kathy Knackstedt, Helen Marsh, Diane Barnett, Marguerite Ward, Nancy Edwards and Sharon Baroniak, volleyball teams; Mike Martinez, Kirk Champion, Bobby Hutchings, John Lignoul, Jerry Sedabres, Don Lloyd, Tim Gabriel, Terry Hollis, Keith Geheig and Mark Evenson; fifth and sixth grade basketball.

More Indoor Track Competition Friday

The Granite City high school indoor track team will travel to the St. Louis Armory at 4 p.m. tomorrow to compete in the fourth of a series of indoor relay meets. The National Guard Armory is located at 3626 Market street.

The Warriors are among 55 schools registered to participate and there are expected to be about 500 boys present Friday, the biggest field of entries so far this season. East St. Louis Lincoln is favored.

The GCHS team has been hampered by influenza this week but should be at nearly full strength.

Elks Team to Bowl In National Tourney

A team of bowlers from Local Elks Lodge 1063 is leaving today to participate in the 48th annual National Elks Lodge Bowling Association tournament being held in Columbus, Ohio. They are to return Sunday.

On the team are Raymond Willaredt, Dr. Daniel Jaimet, Dr. Carlyle Schmitt, Jack Jachino, Horace Calvo, Charles Campbell and G. R. McGovern. They will compete in three types of events.

Trojans Rally to Win No. 21 in 24th Game

The Madison high school basketball Trojans, champions of the Midwestern Conference, extended their record to 21-3 Tuesday night by defeating Roxana 80-73 in a conference game played at the Roxana gym.

Adding frosting to their cake, the Trojans are now 10-1 in the conference and can finish with an 11-1 record by defeating Highland here Friday night. The two second-place teams have 8-4 marks.

The quarter scores Tuesday were 15-15, 21-20 with Madison ahead and 58-51 with Roxana leading. A 29-15 effort in the final period turned the tide.

Joe Collins and Tom Weston each got 11 rebounds for the Trojans, but their team was outrebounded 37-32. John Durham had 14 of the Shells offensive and defensive rebounds.

The late rally was aided by Roxana's loss on fouls, with three minutes left, of Don Tuttle, a 20-point scorer, and Larry Davis, 18 points. Madison had gained a four-point lead prior to their departure.

Balanced Enemy Offense

Assistant Coach Harland Scheibal noted that the Shells "had balanced scoring and good moves at the basket, and played a good defensive game. They had all five of their starters in double figures in scoring."

In shooting from the field, the Trojans sank 26 of 59 shots to Roxana's 23 of 53.

Gary Lusk, scoring star for the Trojans, sank nine of 21 shots from the field and nine of 13 from the free throw line for a 27-point total.

Collins accounted for 17 points while Weston totaled 18. John Harper scored eight, Jim Scott six, Dale Clinton two and Keith Williams two.

Moore Finishes Cage Play for Peru State

The Peru State College Bobcats will lose only George Moore jr., Granite City; from this year's squad via graduation. Moore, injured much of the season after starting the first seven games, saw action in 19 games and averaged 8.2 points per contest.

The Peru, Neb., quintet ended the season with a 3-5 mark in the Nebraska College Conference to tie Hastings College for third place. Wayne won the crown with a 7-1 mark. Chadron was second with a 5-3 record, and Kearney was fifth, 2-6.

The son of School Treasurer and Mrs. George Moore sr., Moore hit 64 of 123 field goal attempts and 29 of 45 free throws and gathered in 112 rebounds.

Final statistics for the 1967-68 season reveal the leading scorer, Wayne Heine, moved into eighth place in all-time Peru State scoring. The junior from East Alton tallied 488 points in 26 games to raise his scoring total to 1051 points; His 18.7 per game average this year raised his all-time average for 76 games to 13.8.

Peru State finished with an overall record of 12 wins and 14 losses, only the third losing season for Coach Jack McIntire in 12 campaigns. McIntire's record at Peru State, starting in 1956, is 185 victories, 120 losses and six Nebraska College Conference championships.

PTA to Seek More State Aid in Rally on Monday

Members of District 29, Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, are planning to rally on the first floor rotunda of the State Capitol at Springfield at 11 a.m. Monday when the Legislature convenes in a special session.

They are asking the Legislature to increase the foundation level of state aid to $500 per pupil from the present level of $425. Autos are to be identified by attached green ribbons or streamers.

Levee District

opinion confirming local filing and local balloting under new Illinois laws, has been forwarded to St. Clair county officials.

Miss Hotz said nominating petitions for levee board candidates are available at her office.

The one-week filing period for levee board candidates and those seeking nominations to county offices opens Monday and will close at the end of regular office hours on the following Monday, March 11. Candidates then will have through March 16 to withdraw if they so desire. March 18 will be the first day and March 25 the last day for Presidential candidates to file petitions with the secretary of state's office at Springfield.

Candidates running at a district level — for Congress and state representative — file nominating petitions at Springfield during the filing period opening next Monday.

Run Only in Area

As a result of the new laws splitting the levee board election into local elections in Madison and St. Clair counties, candidates for the two Madison county trusteeships will run only in the Madison county area of the district which is made up primarily of Granite City, Venice Nameoki and Chouteau townships. The same applies to candidates for the three St. Clair county board memberships and will receive votes only in that part of the district.

All levee board candidates in previous elections were voted upon throughout the entire district, regardless of the section of the district in which they lived.

This will tend to break up the formation of an "incumbent" ticket by the present five members of the levee district board who include William "Mike" Ebersoldt of Venice and Joseph A. Grant of Granite City as Madison county members. The three incumbent St. Clair county members are Lawrence Tolar, board president, Morris Campbell and George Duff, all of East St. Louis.

To Fill County Offices

In addition to the two Madison county levee board posts, nominations also will be open this year on both the Democratic and Republican tickets for state's attorney, coroner, recorder of deeds, auditor and circuit clerk at the local level.

Two Democratic and one Republican nominees for state representative of the 55th district are to be selected this year, as well as one candidate on each ticket for congressman of the 24th district.

All incumbent county officeholders have announced their intention to seek re-election and are expected to receive endorsement of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee whose executive committee is to meet tonight in the Holiday Inn at Edwardsville to make endorsements.

Declines Predictions

Walter "Buck" Simmons, chairman of the county central committee, declined to make predictions as to endorsements, but noted that the "logical choice" for county level selections would be the incumbent officeholders. He said the incumbent candidates would represent his "personal" choice.

Incumbents seeking re-election include Willard "Butch" Portell for circuit clerk, Leon Scroggins for state's attorney, John L. Kraynak for auditor, Leonard Davis for coroner, and James Chapman for county recorder. Davis and Scroggins are serving by appointment.

The Republican county central committee has announced it will back a ticket of candidates including David John of Granite City for circuit clerk, Robert Thomas of Granite City for coroner, Pete Fuchs of Alton for auditor and William Burns of Collinsville, operator of a Granite City restaurant, for recorder. Republican leaders have not yet announced an organization candidate for state's attorney.

Family Education Night At EOC Center Tuesday

A "Family Education" program, designed to assist parents with pre-school to teenage children, will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday at the Madison EOC Neighborhood Service Center, 145 Madison avenue, Mrs. Ruby Williams, acting center supervisor, announced today.

The counseling and discussion program will be conducted by Dr. Raymond E. Troyer of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus, and C. A. "Bud" MacMillan of the Illinois Youth Commission office in Granite City.

Mrs. Williams said participation is open to all interested parents.

Higher Earnings Possible Without Benefit Deductions

By RALPH BRASHER
of the Social Security Office

For older people and other beneficiaries who continue to work, the recent changes in social security will enable them to make more money and still draw some or all of their social security benefits.

The amount of money a person can earn in a year and still draw all his social security benefits has been raised. Beginning with 1968, a person who makes as much as $1680 can still collect all of his social security benefits. Even if he earns considerably more than that, he may still draw some benefits. The old law had set that limit at $1500, through 1967.

Here's how it works. If you are working regularly and do not earn more than $1680 a year in wages, you will receive all of your social security benefits each month.

If you are working regularly and make more than $1680 a year, $1 will be withheld from your benefits for each $2 you make over $1680, and up to $2880. If you make more than $2880, $1 will be deducted from your benefits for each $1 you make above that amount.

However, regardless of your total earnings for the year, you will receive your social security check for any month in which you do not earn more than $140 in wages and are not active in self-employment. This means that you could make any amount over $1680 a year, and still receive your checks for any month that you do not work, but with deductions against the months you do work. Remember, these new provisions apply to earnings in 1968. The old law applies to earnings and benefits in 1967.

As in the old law, there are no deductions taken from your social security benefits for any month after you reach 72, regardless of how much you earn in the year.

The provisions of the retirement test apply also to dependents of people who are receiving disability benefits, but not to the disabled worker himself. Special rules, including medical considerations, apply to people who are receiving benefits because of disability.

About 760,000 people across the country are expected to receive some $175 million in additional benefits during 1968, as a result of this change.

Eight Drivers Ticketed On Radar Charges

Eight drivers were issued arrest tickets Tuesday as traffic division police operated a radar unit on East 23rd street and on Madison avenue. They are:

GCARC Announces Bowling Tournament

A regular monthly business meeting of the Granite City Association for Retarded Children was held Monday evening at St. John United Church of Christ.

Eugene Tondre, president, presided at the meeting and announced the bowlers, (children in the group) now have a regulation bowling league each Tuesday evening at Bowland. They are engaged in a tournament to last ten weeks.

Mrs. Helen De Runtz, treasurer, announced the membership fees are now due.

Tondre appointed a committee for the Day Camp activity. Mrs. Patty Knobelock will serve as chairman and committee members are Mrs. Lester Kynion, Mrs. Naomi Black, Mrs. Virginia Tondre, and Mrs. Irvin Rellek.

Research

make you function effectively."

He emphasized consideration of society's "changing processes" in determining plant locations and urged industrial developers to keep close track of the evolving conditions.

He cited technology, economic trends, research and organization as the most important factors to study. He said concepts are constantly changing in these areas, and their effects are highly significant in choosing plant locations.

The modern period of industrial location dates from 1960, he said, the industry now is paying more attention, not just to minimum costs, but to maximum profit, impact of new technicalities, markets, competitors, linear programming and computers.

Transportation Methods

Industrial developers could take advantage of new, specialized methods of transportation, including pipeline developments in which liquid ammonia can now be piped from the Gulf Coast to this area in planning new types of industry which could locate here.

"Try to determine what is best in the way of raw materials to fit industry here at lesser cost," he said. "There is an increasing importance of by-products and waste products."

As examples, he said the Gulf Coast is running out of sulphur, but sulphur can be produced from sour crude oil and natural gas.

Fly ash out of smoke stacks can be used in making bricks and cement, he added.

Except for food, almost nobody consumes anything, Roepke said. "The automobile industry produces a highly complex and useful machine at about the same price per pound as coffee. What do we do with it when it wears out? Auto scrap is about as undesirable as any type of scrap you can find.

Reclaim Materials

"If the auto industry could remelt and reuse the components, auto dealers could recollect them and send them back to the manufacture for re-use. This can apply to many other items as refrigerators and air conditioners. Reclaim and retrieve them."

Roepke also cited the increasing importance of non-profit activities and in government participation in the development of industry, and that long-range corporate plans are requiring increasingly more time.

"A corporation may select a handful of areas as possile plant locations and shelve them until it is ready to move on the development," he said. "It may take several years."

But few communities keep corporations informed on the status of their sites—they forget it, he said.

Land Pollution

Many are guilty of "land pollution," Roepke commented, in using up available industrial land. "Industry is choosing new locations every day. Many are moving out of central cities to dispersed areas.

"But many smaller plants are now getting big enough to realize the advantage of being near a big city." He referred especially to those that settled in the south because of tax advantages.

Roepke cited the need for more research in the requirements of particular firms. If a community has a particular industry, organizers could try to attract a similar corporation to move in to provide competition in the market area, he said.

Local factors, rather than labor contracts, are becoming increasingly important in selection of plant locations, Roepke said, especially with advent of nation-wide labor contracts and more wage laws.

Panel Discussion

A panel discussion which ended the morning session was composed of D. Reid Ross, executive vice-president of RIDC as chairman, and Willis Cooper, manager of real estate for Monsanto Co. in St. Louis, Weinberg, Roepke and Robert Koepke, assistant professor, earth sciences faculty of SIU-SW.

It was agreed that tax gimmicks are no longer so important to industrial executives in considering locations, but tax rates, and the way they are interpreted in some states, are important.

Tax incentives have very little effect today, it was pointed out, as it puts pressure of public opinion against a company, and a "service giveaway," as sewage treatment, would be much more effective.

Government Program

The role of the U. S. Economic Development Administration was described by Walter Thoresen, of Duluth, Minn., director of the north central region.

EDA provides funds for public works projects related to industrial development for communities which prove that they are going to have some industrial growth, but only in counties with prolonged unemployment, migration of people, low family income or sudden rise in unemployment, he said.

Business loans at low interest rate are attractive to many businessmen, he said, and small industry is extremely important to the department program.

Also available are funds for technical assistance, as many communities do not really know what they have to offer people, he said. General planning grants can be made in designated areas to permit communities to obtain professional people for planning programs in the industrial field.

Training Programs

EDA also funds training programs, he said, as some communities have the manpower but not qualified labor or educational facilities in depressed areas, Thoresen said.

"Many people expect economic development to occur overnight," he said. "This is a long project. They expect economic development to occur without problems. The people don't want any problems, just the jobs.

"Often the power structure of an area is not doing enough in bringing an industry to its area. We must educate people with the kind of problems that they will have to face.

"In communities which have suffered, industries have allowed their managers to move into glorious suburbs. They should stay within the confines of the community and help the people, rather than run away."

Social Conscience

Thorensen said industry has developed a greater social conscience, and the total social environment of a community should be considered as one of the most important aspects in attracting industry.

"Most communities don't know themselves what they have to offer. They aren't accomplishing anything. Unless there is a regional approach, there will be no economic development."

He said that EDA and the government are looking for a partnership with business to bring industry and government closer together.

Plant location activities and economic development programs of Illinois and Missouri were described by David Richmond, assistant director of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development, and Henry C. Maddox, director of the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development.

Both stressed the importance of cooperation of state and regional organizations in developments within their own states.

Others on the program included Cameron Meredith, assistant to the vice-president at SIU-SW, who presided at the morning session; Robert MacVicar, SIU-SW vice-president, who presided over the luncheon program; Chester Baker of Granite City, past president of Metro-East Industrial Development, who presided over the afternoon program; SIU President D. W. Morris, and Alfred Kahn, associate professor at SIU-SW who was on a panel in the afternoon.

Kiwanis Hear About ISES Office

Alex Duccini from the local Illinois State Employment Office was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club held Monday evening at the Rose Bowl and outlined the program at the employment office.

He explained there are two divisions, one for employment and one for unemployment, and that the program on employment is to assist older people who may have lost jobs through automation, and to aid school drop outs, high school graduates and the physically handicapped. The office offers training for better jobs, training for special jobs and for returning veterans, and aptitude tests conducted by trained personnel.

Also attending the meeting were five men from the Kiwanis in Edwardsville — Clyde Reiter, Homer Runge, Erwin Dustman, Richard Coleman and Lou Enloe, and guests from the Wood River Club were Harlan Nash, Keith Ballard, Ralph Hill and Lloyd Kirchner.

Runge, who is the chairman for the district membership drive, spoke on the project announcing Division 14 has 12 clubs enrolled and each club will be in competition with another club of equal membership. Granite City with 25 members will compete with O'Fallon with 23 members. The drive is to continue until Dec. 5, 1968.

Marvin Barnes, Garvin Butler, Herbert Schannot, and Peter Jellen attended a luncheon at the Belle-Clair Kiwanis Club in Belleville on Tuesday to deliver the traveling gavel.

Improvements at GCHS Athletic Field Planned

Two improvements at the Granite City high school football stadium were topics at last night's school board meeting, when approval was given to the design of a block and wood structure that will house four ticket windows, a concession area, restrooms and storage space.

The other project, a pressbox, is planned by the Boosters of the Fighting Warriors, represented at the meeting by Willis Shepard. The board authorized the group to raise funds for the pressbox through two "Ozark Opry" performances April 28 at the GCHS auditorium and a related booklet.

It was decided to proceed with preparation of athletic fields on the new Grigsby junior high school campus without adding to the height of the land.

The area is low and flat and some drainage problems are expected. However, stockpiling of dirt there could be costly and would not fully solve the problem of occasional excess stormwater, it was reported.

Reopening of Negotiations

Notification was received that American Federation of Teachers Local 743 is reopening three non-monetary articles of its working agreement for the third year of the 1966-1969 agreement, as provided for in the terms previously agreed upon. The salary and policy committee headed by Jon Mullen is to meet with the board March 11.

Memorandums of understanding, interpreting present custodial and secretarial agreements on overtime pay and seniority, were approved and the board decided to submit a supplementary proposal for the expenditure of $12,726 in National Defense Education Act funds for classroom equipment.

The Masque and Gavel Society, GCHS speech group, will visit New York April 24 - May 5, with financing by the group. The 23 students are to present two programs at other schools, make tours and view three Broadway shows.

Harold Thomas and Mrs. Myra Blades are to be delegates to the International Council for Exceptional Children April 14-20 in New York City.

Use of Schools Approved

Permission was given for the Chamber of Commerce annual business-industry - agriculture dinner April 24 in the GCHS cafeteria; for a Church of Christ vacation school June 3-7 or June 10-14 at Nameoki grade school; and for a park district recreational wrestling meet March 8-9 at Coolidge junior high school.

Mrs. Holly Bosek, Normandy, a 1968 SIU graduate, will become a Stallings third grade teacher March 18.

Faculty additions for the next schol year are Mrs. Doradene Manuel, Granite City, Eastern Illinois U. bachelor degree and four years of experience, junior high girls physical education, and Ronald Yates, Peru, Neb., 1968 Peru State bachelor degree, industrial arts.

Resignations were accepted from Harold McCarty, GCHS assistant custodian, effective Jan. 26, and Mrs. Bobbie Schuck, Maryville, Ill., a Stallings school third grade instructor, effective March 18. Employment of John P. Stanton jr. as a Coolidge junior high assistant custodian was terminated by the board.

Culottes, Falls Allowed

A revised GCHS student council dress code approved by the board permits culottes "if they are the same lengths as skirts and look like skirts" and falls (additions to girls' hairdos) if clean, well groomed and not of an unusual color. Wigs continue to be banned.

The board authorized Hollywood-Andrews to continue providing student pictures in 1968-69 and approved distribution to junior high students of Madison County Farm Bureau Women's Committee citizenship packets.

Fire alarm connections to four GCH doors by Dron Electric for $952 were approved. East Ten Publishing Co. will provide school board election ballots for $97 to $206, depending on the number of names, and Office Machines, Inc., will provide three cash registers for $1053.

It was decided to investigate delayed payment of a $92 insurance claim for Tom Mitchell, 2583 Boyle avenue, injured Coolidge basketball player. His father, Charles Mitchell, reviewed the case with the board.

Travelers Hear Report On Tour of Holy Land

Mrs. Delis Aulabaugh spoke and showed photographic slides at the February meeting of Travelers Abroad Monday evening at the Prather junior high school library. Subject was her tour of the eastern Mediterranean area and the Holy Land.

President Walter Klein presided. Hawaii was announced as the topic of the March 25 meeting.

that time the company announced it would hold the complaint in abeyance with the understanding the case could be called at any time in event terms of the verbal agreement were violated.

A series of disturbances Tuesday night and the assembly of a large number of union members at the plant Tuesday morning and afternoon prompted company officials to appeal to the court for issuance of a documented temporary restraining order.

Union officials agreed to all terms set out in the new order.

Meanwhile, wives of union members joined the picket line in front of the main plant entrance yesterday morning. While a large number of union members were present at the plant entrance, there were no further efforts to keep supervisory employees from going into the plant. Only a few pickets carrying signs moved back and forth in front of the main gate.

Granite City police reported that they were called to the plant at 11:15 p.m. Tuesday by a plant guard who said there was a fire in the plant yard. Police said the fire was in a stack of four-by-four posts. Two holes had been cut in the fence, apparently with bolt cutters, police said, and two windows were broken out of the power plant.

Police also went to the plant at 7:05 p.m. Tuesday when a plant guard reported he had heard two shots fired, but were unable to locate any disturbance or damage. At 8:45 a.m. a plant guard notified police that four windows had been broken in a pump house near the railroad tracks.

The Manufacturers Association of the Tri-Cities meanwhile issued a statement through William F. Hoelscher, general manager and secretary, calling upon all parties involved in the strike to respect the property rights and human rights of others.

Roy Wickerham, science lecturer for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., was the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting Tuesday of the Granite City Rotary Club in the YMCA.

He spoke on "Magic of Sound," saying with the buttons gadgets the development of the telephone has gone from a simple voice transmitted to a complicated push button phones of today. Listing the problems of the development of the telephone, he said the research department is constantly working to clear any new problems. In the future, he said, the people can look forward to dialing a number and seeing the person they are talking to via video TV photo. Also looking ahead the company expects that all sound to be transmitted by lazer beam.

Roger Ward was the program chairman for this week's meeting and luncheon.

The next meeting on March 5 will be held at the "Y" and Len Yelton will serve as the program chairman.

Annual Banquet of Cub Pack at Wilson School

The annual blue and gold banquet of Cub Pack 122 was held Monday evening at Wilson school.

B. J. Rodgers, Wloyd Pitchford, Michael Mezo and Eddie Bellings gave the opening flag ceremony, and the invocation was by Bob Mezo, pack treasurer.

Seated at the speakers' table were Wilson PTA President Bob Jones, John Mezo, committee chairman, Floyd Pitchford, institutional representative, B. J. Rodgers, assistant district commissioner, Ted Vrenick, Wilson school principal, Harold Watters, scoutmaster of Troop 122, and Joe Moutria, cubmaster.

Ted Vrenick was guest speaker for the banquet and his talk was entitled "What Is An Elementary School Principal?"

The pack accepted two new members, Raymond Collins and Mark Carroll.

Den mothers were introduced and showed displays. They were Mrs. Carol Bellings, Mrs. Mickey Easley, Mrs. Luan Briner and Mrs. Sandy Logan. Bill Bellings heads the Webelos den.

Cubmaster Moutria presented awards and year pins.

Receiving one-year pins were Mrs. Sandy Logan, Mrs. Luan Briner, Mrs. Carol Bellings, Mrs. Mickey Easley and Mrs. Shirley Brewner. Two-year pins went to Bob Mezo, Louis Trgovich, Clyde Ripley, Mrs. Phyllis Mezo, Mrs. Barbara Smith and Mrs. Rita Moutria.

Bill Bellings and Mrs. Mary Sturdevant received three-year pins. Four-year pins were presented to John Mezo, Carl Stinson, Joe Moutria, and Mrs. Pat Pitchford. Floyd Pitchford received an eight-year pin.

Awards presented included John Sturdevant, silver arrow, John Meador, wolf badge, Bobby Mezo, bear badge, Gary and Larry York, naturalist badge, Tommy Lawson, engineering and scholar, and Kevin Tallis and James Bellings, engineering.

The program concluded with a puppet show entitled "The Den Mothers' Dragnet," presented by Bill Bellings, Joe Moutria, Bob Mezo and John Mezo.

MORE ABOUT

file yesterday were the three incumbents whose terms expire this year. They are Leo Davinroy, 1229 Klein street; Elmer A. Taylor, 632 Broadway, and Jack R. Tolliver, 1250 Klein street.

All the Venice incumbents are running for re-election to regular three-year terms, but an opening exists for the two-year unexpired term of the late John Gonterman, who was elected to a three-year term in 1967 and who died about two weeks ago. John Pier, Venice school superintendent, pointed out yesterday that the school board is authorized by state law to appoint a successor to Gonterman to serve until the school elections on April 13.

A candidate who seeks to run for the unexpired term, must file his nominating petitions not later than the March 23 deadline.

Madison school district, where the most heated board contest of the area has been anticipated, reported only two filings yesterday, both by incumbents whose terms expire this year—Oel Blumenstock, 1687 Market street, and Frank L. Derner, 901 Washington avenue. These are the only two terms open to election in the Madison district this year, but a three-way battle for the two posts appears to be developing.

Coalition Ticket Possible

The two incumbents, who will have the support of the city political organization, are expected to meet opposition from at least one candidate backed by the Madison NAACP chapter headed by Mrs. Thomas Weston, and at least one candidate backed by the group of white parents who played a prominent part in racial difficulties at the Madison high school last November.

Whether candidates backed by each of these groups will team up as a coalition ticket to woo a combined Negro and white vote in opposition to the incumbent candidates apparently has not been determined, although that possibility has been discussed by both sides.

November's racial strife at the high school resulted in alternating Negro and white student boycotts. At that time both groups announced plans to participate prominently in school elections this year in an attempt to change the makeup of the Madison board of education.

JACK R. TOLLIVER
Depot Nominee

Jack Tolliver is Depot 'Employee Of Year' Nominee

Three Granite City Army Depot employees were nominated to represent the Depot in the 13th Annual Federal Civil Service Employee of the Year competition.

Nominees are: Jack R. Tolliver, supervisory civil engineer, 1250 Klein street, Venice; George D. Langdon, employee development specialist, Troy, and Mrs. Mary E. Matthews, military personnel clerk, East St. Louis.

Announcement of the winners will be made at a banquet in the Khorassan Room of the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel, Friday evening, March 8.

Each nominee represents one of three categories: administrative services, managerial and technical, or professional and scientific.

Tolliver is the nominee in the professional and scientific category. Currently serving as chief of the buildings and grounds maintenance branch, Facilities Division, Directorate for Services, he first entered government service in 1960. He worked for the St. Louis District Engineers until September 1961 when he transferred to the Depot. In addition to his primary duties, Tolliver is chief of the assessment team (Civil Defense) and a member of the board of governors, Granite City Army Depot Officers Club.

Tolliver is active in community services, including membership on the Venice public school board, Tri-County Traffic safety committee Southwester Illinois Council of Mayors' committee on employment of the handicapped, the American Legion and Submarine Veterans of world war II. He was graduated from Washington University with a B.S. degree in Civil Engineering.

Mr. and Mrs. Tolliver are the parents of six children.

Deceptive Directory Ad 'Bills' Received

A new high in a brazen "directory advertising" scheme was reached this week when the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce was "billed" for a non-existent advertisement. The Chamber serves as a Better Business Bureau agency and is the office that alerts the local public to such deception.

The Chamber is critical of the approach because it has every appearance of being a bill for a previously approved advertisement; actually, it is the initial contract, but the explanation is in such small print that some firms become confused and send a payment. Typical bills range from $88 to $73.

One-Day-Old Richmond Infant Dies Tuesday

Robert F. Richmond, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Richmond, 2900 West 20th street, died at 1:15 a.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he had been born one day earlier.

Besides his parents, the infant is survived by his maternal grandfather, Archie Le Smith, and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Richmond, all of Corning, Ark.

Funeral services were held today. Arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Vandal Breaks Window

A passenger in a two-tone auto got out of the car in front of Jerry's Tavern, in Madison, about 12:20 a.m. yesterday and hurled a rock through a three by four-foot window on the north end of the building, according to a report to Madison police.

EIGHTH BIRTHDAY OF CHRISTY LYNN BARNHART

Christy Lynn Barnhart was honored with a party Sunday afternoon, given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnhart, 1713 Fourth street, on her eighth birthday.

Games were played by the boys and girls, and she opened her gifts prior to refreshments being served by Mrs. Barnhart, assisted by Mrs. Elmer Voegeli and Mrs. Geraldine Friend.

Guests served from a table adorned with a large balloon centerpiece were Ellen Voegeli, Robert Reeves, Bobby Dragich, Tony Mangoff, Robin and Renee Hakkaranien, Sherri Lee Grzywacz, Theresa Boyer, Mary Kay Christ, Brian Townzen, Vicki Vasiloff, Donise Friend, Linda and Mike Derner, Charlie Asperger, Gretchen Holder, Tommie Lynne and Kathy Barnhart, a cousin of the honoree, and Victor Barnhart, Christy's brother.

Adults arriving at the home for the observance included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Land, grandparents, from Sullivan, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Don Barnhart, St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Jennings and Elmer Voegeli.

ORPHANAGE PROJECT BY BROWNIE TROOP

Brownie Troop 1100 met Monday at Harris school with the leader, Mrs. Virginia Landwehrmier, who was assisted by Mrs. Marilyn Engle, Miss Laura Engle, Mrs. Jean Britt and Miss Linda Soles.

The meeting opened with the pledge of allegiance to the flag, the Brownie promise and singing of "America" led by Ellen Voegeli, Gloria Mulnik, Mary Lee and Jane Stephenson. Linda Shelton took roll call.

Mrs. Landwehrmier spoke of Thinking Day, which was held Sunday, and girls who attended told of points of interest during the event. Mary Lee has been assigned to send "get well" cards to members of the troop who are ill or to members of their families.

Girl Scout Sunday will be observed March 10 and the leader discussed it with the girls. They will be responsible for making a "bunny box." Guests for the meeting were Carla Taylor, Kathleen Hill, Cindy Roberson and Reva Coryell.

The girls worked on stuffed animals during the meeting; they will make animals for an orphanage.

Others present were Anna Elbe, Linda Verba, Peggy Sanders, Beatrice Gott, Marina Gott, Theresa Boyer, Tina Ellis, Deborah Pruitt, Verna Barnett, Alicia Narvaez, Deborah Thompson, Tanna Webb, Georgia Engle, Pamela Thompson, Carol Forshee and Kathy O'Bear.

FRED C. BOGER

Fred C. Boger, 67, Dies in Florida

Fred Clarence Boger, 67, a former Granite City resident who was widely-known for his church activities, died at 7:30 a.m. yesterday at the Martin F. Plant Hospital in Clearwater, Fla. He was admitted at the hospital Saturday following a heart attack at home.

A resident of the local community for 30 years, Mr. Boger had moved to Clearwater last Dec. 1. He retired three years ago from General Steel Industries, where he was employed as a coremaker since 1929. He was a native of Elco, Ill.

During his residency here, Mr. Boger was active in the affairs of the Second Baptist Church. For many years, he served as a church deacon and at various time held office as Sunday school superintendent, Adult Men's Class teacher and superintendent of the Adult Department. His first wife, Nellie, preceded him in death in January 1962.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Boger; one daughter, Mrs. Robert (Charlene) Sanders of Granite City; two sons, Robert Boger of Ballwin, Mo., and Melbourn Boger of East Alton; his mother, Mrs. Pearl Boker of Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Mayberry and Mrs. Grace Lambeth, both of Granite City; a brother, Harry Boger of Edwardsville; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Paddlers' Board Elects Al Malottki President

Albert Malottki jr., 33 Oaklawn drive, was named president of Paddlers Swim Club at the board of directors first meeting of the year, held earlier this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gitchoff, 2659 State street. He succeeds as president Mickey Loftus.

Others elected to the executive board were Gitchoff, executive vice-president; Earl Buenger, vice-president in charge of operations; Fred Cunningham, financial vice-president; Mrs. Mary Jessee, treasurer; Mrs. La Venka Meyer, vice-president, membership; and Mrs. Vyvyne Durbin, who was re-named secretary.

New board members, selected at the annual stockholders meeting last month, who were seated for the first time Monday evening, include Charles Barth, Robert Conreaux, Cunningham, Herbert Reisinger and Jack Sollberger.

Malottki announced that applications for summer employment are now being accepted by the private swim club, located at 2121 Johnson road. Several club memberships presently are available for purchase and families interested in summer membership only are advised to contact Mrs. Meyer for information, the new president said.

Roland F. Ruhe, 60, Dies; GSI Carpenter

Roland Fred Ruhe, 60, of 4221 Division street, died from a massive stroke at 10:20 a.m. Tuesday at Faith Hospital, St. Louis. He had been ill eight days and was hospitalized for six days.

Mr. Ruhe was employed as a carpenter at General Steel Industries. He had been with the firm 30 years. He was born in Marion, Ill., and had resided for the past 42 years in the Quad-Cities. He was a member of the Marion Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Edel Ruhe; one sister, Mrs. William (Emma) Dettmer, and a brother, Louis Ruhe, both of Marion, Ill.

Industrial Authority Meets

The Illinois Industrial Authority now is announcing its immediate aim is to plan a new approach toward stimulating industrial growth in areas of high unemployment by directly assisting such an area in acquiring, constructing and developing industrial projects.

Recent legislation authorizes the agency to acquire industrial sites and build and lease industrial facilities. The agency is empowered to employ such personnel as may be necessary to further this design.

Public members of the authority, all of them experienced in industrial financing, include Harry L. Crisp II, Marion; Timothy R. Hennessey, Belvidere; Gerauld L. Hopkins, Monee; Russell W. Davis, Benton and Kenneth L. Jones, Rock Island.

Lake Michigan Coho

Illinois sport fishermen may catch coho salmon in the shallow waters of southern Lake Michigan this spring. The salmon are fished by trolling as the salmon pursues the alewife, a small shad-like fish, into offshore shoal areas.

The daily limit on coho salmon is eight fish. There is no size limit or closed season as far as sport fishermen are concerned, but salmon may not be taken by commercial fishermen in Lake Michigan. An Illinois fishing license is required to fish in the Illinois waters of the lake.

The Department of Conservation advises anglers to heed weather warnings because squalls can blow up quickly on Lake Michigan in spring. Every boat should have a radio tuned in to receive reports of foul weather broadcasts by Chicago radio stations.

Divided Retirement System

Illinois is the 20th state to adopt the "divided retirement system" provisions of the Social Security Act which permits a state to incorporate Social Security coverage into its retirement plans for public employees. Public employees will be permitted to include the coverage as part of their retirement plan upon a purely voluntary basis, according to Gov. Kerner.

Changes in Livestock Show

The Grand Champion Steer and Grand Champion Carcass Auctions will be combined at the world's largest livestock exposition held annually at the Illinois State Fair. The move is expected to allow coverage by statewide television and radio, newspaper and livestock magazines as well as allow more livestock people to participate in the auction.

As a result of the re-scheduling of the auction, the Steer Show will be Tuesday morning, Aug. 13. The Aberdeen Angus Breeding Stock Show will be one day earlier, Monday, Aug. 12.

Changes were approved by Prof. R. O. Lyon and Livestock Specialist Harry Russell of the U. of I. Extension Service, Don Garrigan of the U. of I. Meats Division, State Fair board member Jerry Taylor of Prairie City, Gene Mason of the Berkshire Breeders Association, Chuck Bloomberg of the Pork Producers Association and Entries Superintendent Jean Roberts.

Illinois Forestry Milestone

A real milestone and momentous occasion in Illinois forestry was realized when William T. Lodge, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, presented the first Timber Buyer's License to A. C. "Bert" Foley of the Foley Lumber Co., of Paris.

The Foley team of brothers, Albert C. and Phillip O., together with the third generation sons, Philip S. and Thomas A., serves a diversified wood products field, mainly specialized woods for manual training classes spreading through two-thirds of the 50 United States and into other countries.

Bert remembers his first experience as a timber buyer when only 12 years old. He paid $70 each for 14 trees about five miles south of Paris and made enough money to get the bicycle he so badly wanted.

Recently-passed legislation requires the annual licensing of Illinois timber buyers.

New Water Study Out

A report by the Illinois State Geological Survey, "Ground Water Geology of the Rock Island, Monmouth, Galesburg and Kewanee Area, Illinois," has just been released.

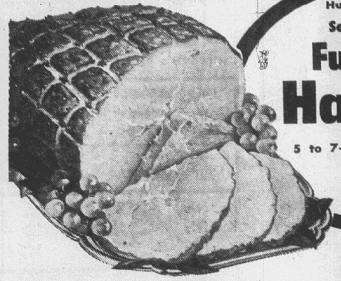

Ground water provides many municipal and industrial supplies and most rural supplies. An estimated 189,000 (63%) of the slightly more than 300,000 people living in the area covered by the report use ground water.

Winter Tree Care

Regular checkup for trees makes as much sense as occasional visits to your dentist.

Lawn shade trees are a major part of your landscape, and deserve regular pruning to preserve its beauty and protect it from splitting and rot.

Tree experts don't agree on the interval between inspections, but many agree trees should be pruned at least every ten years. Some insist five year intervals better protect the tree, but quickly admit it depends on the kind of trees in question.

Pruning of shade trees removes dead limbs, prevents splitting by pruning and cabling and thins out the entire top to develop better shape and growth. All cuts are painted, and injuries from wind and lightning are repaired.

Most nurserymen do not trim and repair trees, but can give you the names of experienced tree companies in the vicinity.

* * * *

An Attractive Dwarf Tree

The Washington Hawthorn is king of more than five hundred kinds of hawthorns. Small size, dense growth, profuse flowering, good fall color and winter fruit all contribute to this trees' credit.

The country cousins of this specimen is the pesky thorn bush so common in every part of the midwest. Even though the Washington Hawthorn, is thorny, its year-around features and mature size of twenty-five to thirty feet are important in home landscaping and city street plantings.

The white clusters of flowers in early June and dense glossy foliage are valuable summertime features. Its dependable growth in a variety of situations is important where the soil is disturbed. Average care usually results in dependable spring flowering and heavy crops of winter fruits.

Scarlet and orange foliage in the fall reveals a profusion of bright red fruits. Wintertime beauty of the bright red clusters of fruits becomes a bonus for bird lovers, when wintering birds become daily visitors to eat the fruits.

Rounded shape, dense branching and dependable performance more than offset the thorny spurs and common insect and disease problems.

* * * *

White Fringetree

A rare beauty sometimes found wild in Missouri, the Fringetree is an undiscovered treasure for home lawns.

The Fringetree produces a profusion of fleecy white flowers during early June to provide fragrance and spectacular beauty. Delayed development of the foliage allows the mass of fleecy flowers to decorate this handsome tree without concealment by leaves and new growth.

As a wild tree, it is found in wooded areas, but for consistant flowering and fall color, it must be grown in full sunlight. This relative of the lilac will mature as a twenty-five foot tree. Bright yellow fall color and the dark blue grape-sized berries are other ornamental features of this specimen tree. The summer foliage is dark green but does not produce dense shade. In a normal season, the leaves appear very late in the spring.

If you plant a fringetree, you are sure to worry when this tree remains dormant until all other trees and flowers are well advanced. As a patio specimen or a feature tree from inside the home, the Fringetree will prove an excellent choice.

* * * *

Black Gum—A Rare Tree

Black Gum is a collectors item among tree lovers because of its stubborn nature but outstanding fall beauty.

The pyramidal shape of the Black Gum is a near duplicate of the pin oak, but the dense foliage and blazing fall color are far superior to the oak. Its stubborn resistance to transplanting spoils its popularity among nurserymen.

Fall color so brilliant it may hurt your eyes, may be an overstatement, but those who posses this tree, insist the color is spectacular.

Transplanting problems of this tree seems a problem of size. When small saplings are carefully dug and balled in burlap, survival is good and prompt growth occurs.

The Black Gum is an ideal specimen tree for the lawn or as a view from inside the house. The mature size of seventy feet duplicates the use of other trees for shade, or as a screen.

* * * *

Fertilizing Shade Trees

Proper fertilizing will speed the growth of any tree, but young trees respond better than mature trees.

Careful study of different methods of fertilizing trees showed the well fertilized turf method as good as any. Fertilizer in holes in the ground was compared with fertilizer injected in the soil and spread on the surface. In all cases, the treated area extended from the trunk to the end of the limbs. When the surface method produced just as much growth as the other methods, this suggested the easy way for you to maintain a healthy, vigorous tree.

If you have a young tree of the slow growing type, like oak, black gum or golden rain, you can shift gears by applying some extra lawn fertilizer to the turf near each tree. You may find out you have a "fast" growing slow tree.

Wintertime Pruning Of Flowering Shrubs

Spring weather and free afternoons are the perfect combination to prune flowering shrubs.

The rule is to prune spring flowering shrubs in the summer and summer flowering shrubs in the spring. With complicated rules like that, you may decide to go fishing instead.

Spring flowering shrubs like forsythia, flowering quince, honeysuckle, lilac, climbing roses and many others develop flower buds in the fall. Clusters of buds, or cherry-like buds are the dormant flowers waiting for spring.

Wintertime pruning of these shrubs will improve the growth and vigor of the plant, and help remove some overwintering diseases and insects, but it removes the spring flowers too. Climbing roses are an example. Wintertime pruning will create good foliage but often spoils the massive show of summer blooms. Only summertime pruning, after bloom, will remove old wood, invigorate the plant and increase flowering the next season.

Summer blooming shrubs like tea roses and althea develop flowers buds in the spring and benefit from winter pruning. But would you think of pruning summer blooming roses doing full bloom?

In spite of the best way, or the best time, you may find yourself in a now-or-never situation. If summertime pruning seems to loose out to grass cutting or gardening, then the consequences may be worth it. Reduced bloom this spring will occur, but improved growth, good foliage and better bloom next year can be a worthwhile risk.

Quad-City 'Well Baby' Clinic Set for Tuesday

The "Well Baby Clinic," conducted semi-monthly at the Neighborhood EOC Service Center, 145 Madison avenue, Madison, will be operated from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. next Tuesday, it was announced today by Mrs. Paula Webb, center health specialist.

Sponsored by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, the clinic offers free examinations and consultation to families with infants six weeks to 12 months of age and pre-school children up to five years.

Appointments can be made by calling 451-7624, or by visiting the center prior to Tuesday, Mrs. Webb said. She added that medical services were received by 21 babies and preschoolers at the clinic held earlier this month.

The EOC supervisor also noted that donation of receiving blankets would be greatly appreciated by the center staff who need the coverlets to wrap around infants waiting to be examined. About 30 blankets are needed, Mrs. Webb said.

In loving memory of BENJAMIN SELPH, Feb. 28, 1967 and SALLY SELPH, Sept. 5, 1954:

Our family circle has been broken,
A link gone from our chain;
But though we're parted for a while,
We know we'll meet again.
Some day we hope to meet you,
Some day, we know not when,
We shall meet in a better land
And never part again.
We shall meet with many a loved one
That was torn from our embrace,
We shall listen to their voices
And behold them face to face.
Sunshine passes, shadows fall,
Love's remembrance outlasts all.

Sadly missed by—
THE FAMILY
33-2-29

In loving memory of CLAYTON J. HOGAN, March 2, 1967:

You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now,
Our hearts are sore,
As time goes by,
We miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

PART 1
SECTION 1.1
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Water Main Extension on Morrison Road
Mitchell Public Water District

The President and Board of Trustees of the Mitchell Public Water District will receive sealed proposals for the Water Main Extension on Morrison Road in their offices located at 745 East Chain of Rocks Road, Granite City, Illinois until 3:30 P.M., CST, on March 12, 1968. The bids wil be publicly opened and read at 8:00 P.M., CST, on March 12, 1968.

Proposed contract forms as well as the plans and specifications are on file at the office of Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab, Inc., Consulting Engineers, 2100 State Street, Granite City, Illinois and may be obtained from them upon deposit of $20.00. The amount of the deposit will be refunded to each party submitting a bid to the Mitchell Public Water District upon return of the plans in good condition within five (5) days after the bid letting.

A bid bond, cashier's check, or a certified check made payable to the order of the Mitchell Public Water District in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the gross amount of the bid, must be deposited by each bidder with his bid as guarantee that in case the contract is awarded to him, he will, within ten (10) days thereafter upon receipt of written notice of award, execute such contract and furnish a satisfactory contract bond. Upon failure to do so, he shall forfeit the deposit not as a penalty, but as liquidated damages, and acceptance of the bid will be contingent upon the fulfillment of this requirement by the bidder. The checks or bid bonds of all excepting the three (3) lowest formal bidders will be returned within ten (10) days after the opening of bids, the remaining checks or bid bonds will be returned within thirty (30) days from the date on which the bids were opened and read.

The successru bidder will be required to pay not less than the prevailing rate of wages as determined in accordance with the Illinois Prevailing Wage Law to all laborers, mechanics, and other workmen employed in the construction of this project.

All proposals must be made on forms furnished by the Engineer.

The Mitchell Public Water District reserves the right to waive, or not to waive, any irregularities in the bids and to determine which is the lowest and best bid for the improvement.

By Order of the President and Board of Trustees of the
Mitchell Public Water District

Beef Casserole A Company Dish

This Quick Company Casserole recipe ja great to have on hand for emergencies. When late afternoon guests unexpectedly drop in you can inquire casually, "Why don't you stay to supper?"

The casserole is a hearty, tasty combination of ground beef, canned stewed tomatoes and rice, flavored with onion, bouillon, and spicy Tabasco sauce—the liquid red pepper seasoning that adds zest to so many meat dishes. Shape the beef into balls, put all the ingredients in your prettiest casserole for table serving, pop it in the oven, and relax for the next hour.

Quick Company Casserole

- 1 pound ground beef
- ½ cup minced onion
- 2 teaspoons salt, divided
- ¾ teaspoon Tabasco, divided
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
- 1 bouillon cube
- 1 cup hot water

Combine beef, onion, 1 teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon Tabasco; shape into 8 meat balls. Roll in rice; place in greased 2-quart casserole. Combine remaining 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon Tabasco with stewed tomatoes; pour over meat balls. Dissolve bouillon cube in water and pour over casserole. Sprinkle with remaining rice. Cover; bake in 350°F. oven 1 hour, 10 minutes or until rice is cooked. YIELD: 4 generous servings.

Ladue Woman Found Dead, Wrist Slashed

A woman identified as Mrs. Evelyn Wiedershine, 41, of Ladue, Mo., was found dead with a slashed wrist, on the floor in a room of the Imperial 400 motel at 12:05 p.m. Tuesday. A bloody razor blade was on the floor nearby.

Coroner Leonard Davis said she had been dead eight to 10 hours. Blood also was found on the bedsheets and in the bathroom. No note was found. There was a 2½-inch laceration to the wrist.

She had registered under an assumed name and had arrived in a rented auto at 4 p.m. Monday. Her identity was traced thorugh a sales slip from a St. Louis department store. Her husband is Dr. Leonard Wiedershine of Ladue, and she was the mother of two children. The funeral was conducted Wednesday morning.

A suicide verdict was returned last night at an inquest conducted by Alvin Cease.

Donations to Continue ARC Gift Project Sought

An appeal to local organizations, business firms or individuals to help provide the sundry items contained in "ditty bags" which are presented Quad-City youths upon their induction into the Armed Forces, was made this week by Mrs. Lester Fehling, project chairman for the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter.

Mrs. Fehling noted that 58 local youths will report Friday, March 29, at Selective Service headquarters in Edwardsville for military induction. The figure represents almost half the number of local men drafted during 1967 and the largest quota to be called in a single month since 1965.

Up to the present time, Mrs. Fehling explained, the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter with the assistance of some local concerns have provided such items as toothbrushes, writing pads, address books, pens, toothpaste, soap, razor blades, shaving cream and key chains.

The small gifts are placed in cloth bags, sewn by church groups and other volunteers, and given the youths at the Edwardsville departure point. In addition, the project chairman said, local Red Cross volunteer workers are on hand at the Selective Service office to serve doughnuts and coffee to the inductees.

"This project is proving quite costly," Mrs. Fehling said, "But we feel it is also very important to the Quad-City men. The boys really appreciate the small gifts." She noted that inductees from Alton and Edwardsville receive similar gifts, explaining, however, the project in those communities is handled by various contributing organizations.

"No money is allotted in the Red Cross chapter's budget for the "ditty bag" program and we are about to run out of material, with which to make the bags, and contents," Mrs. Fehling said. She pointed out that many items such as razor blades, soap, shaving cream, etc., can be purchased at a discount rate through the Red Cross.

"Any service club, veteran's organization, church group, business firm or individual willing to help us continue the "ditty bag" program through a donation may contact me or Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, Red Cross executive director, at 452-7184," Mrs. Fehling said.

Local Area Tourism Booklet To be Available Shortly

A new four-color brochure by Region 8 Tourism Council is now available to the public, it was announced today by Ralph Stauder, president of the Council.

The brochure describes the recreation, history and pageantry of this 11-county area and graphically illustrates the many locations of interest to the traveler.

Stauder said that the brochure is a part of the 1968-69 Tourism Council program which will be unveiled to residents of Region 8 in the next few weeks. Both the brochure and a counter display will be made available to area hotels, motels, restaurants and service stations, he said.

"We firmly believe that our area is a rich storehouse of history and it certainly has outstanding recreational sites for all those who are interested in hunting, fishing, swimming, boating and camping," he continued. "With Illinois celebrating its sesquicentennial year, our efforts to provide the citizens of our area, as well as those from other states, with the knowledge of the attractions in Region 8 will be intensified," he concluded.

The brochure may be obtained by writing: Region 8 Tourism Council, P. O. Box 286, Belleville, Ill. 62222.

Region 8 is composed of Bond, Calhoun, Clinton, Fayette, Jersey, Madison, St. Clair, Marion, Monroe, Montgomery and Washington counties. It is one of 10 regions of the Division of Tourism of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development. The state provides matching funds for the promotion of tourism to those raised within the Region.

41 Additional Seats Available for Ice Show

The Granite City park district was notified today that an additional 41 tickets will be made available for the district-sponsored "Ice Capades" trip to the St. Louis Arena on Tuesday, March 19.

Harold Brown, park superintendent said this morning that 164 reservations have been made by local residents for the international ice show and that further requests for seats prompted the district to seek the extra tickets.

The park official noted the only drawback to getting the supplementary tickets is that all 41 must be sold to secure the extra section. "Should we not fill the additional reservations by Friday, March 15, we will have to cancel the entire block of 41 seats," Brown said.

Reservations can be made by calling the Wilson Park office, at 877-3059. Total cost per person is $4, including admission ticket to the Arena circle and round trip bus transportation.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF CUB SCOUT PACK 23

The annual blue and gold banquet of Cub Pack 22, sponsored by Frohardt school PTA, was held Tuesday evening at St. John's United Church of Christ.

Rev. Paul Surbey offered the invocation, followed by the pledge of allegiance given in unison.

After the dinner, Earl Buenger, cubmaster, introduced as guests Mrs. Jo Ann Kalert, president of the PTA, Joe Spiller, institutional representative, Wilbur Irelan, assistant district executive, and William F. Winter, Uniwab district chairman, who spoke on the role of scouting in building character.

Also introduced were the pack committee, William Down, assistant cubmaster and Webelos leader, Leonard Azerola, advancement and awards; Mrs. Joyce Kimball, secretary-treasurer; den mothers and their assistants, Mesdames Delores Milton, Marcia Buenger, Pat Schulte, Phyllis Brusatti, Addie Lee, Emily Carich and Sandy Meyer; and William Krause, Odell Milton, Martin Roth and Dr. Larry Tadlock.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Fred Marience, magician.

Buenger presented Alex Tarpoff with an engraved appreciation plaque for his many years of service as Webelo leader.

He announced the next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. March 26. It will be a pinewood derby at the school, and den and pack trophies will be awarded.

Azerola presented 31 awards and rank advancements to 16 scouts.

Faces Battery Charge

Joseph Hibbler, 36, of 1004 Logan street, Venice, was arrested by Venice police at 4:15 p.m. yesterday on a charge of battery resulting in destruction of property. Police said Hibbler was picked up on a complaint signed by Mrs. Tamara Hibbler. A magistrate hearing was scheduled March 13 and Hibbler was released on a notice to appear.

By Press-Record Staff Photographer

Testimony Being Videotaped for Viewing at Trial

A first in the U. S. was achieved Tuesday by two local attorneys, Morris B. Chapman and Hugh Talbert, when they used videotape to record a physician's testimony for replay during a Madison county circuit court injury suit trial in April.

Chapman believes the process will revolutionize trial procedures, since it will enable unavailable or deceased witnesses to be seen and heard by juries as they appeared at the time their testimony was presented.

While taped conversations can be altered, it is believed that the combination of picture and voice is tamper-proof. However, as an extra precaution, designated shorthand specialists can be present to record such conversations during the videotaping.

More Impact When Spoken

A major advantage is expected to be the impact of closed-circuit television testimony. Transcribed notes read by court reporters fail to convey as much understanding as when jurors can observe the way the witness acts and speaks, it is felt.

The testimony taken Tuesday was that of a St. Louis orthopedist, Dr. Leon Fox, who reviewed the condition of a man who underwent back surgery. The camera was set up in his office and the discussion required less than an hour, compared to the half-day or day of his time that might have been consumed if he had appeared in court.

Missouri witnesses cannot be subpoenaed in Illinois for such cases and usually have merely submitted written depositions.

Costly at Present

The equipment includes a camera capable of providing a bright picture with only normal room lighting, a monitor with nine-inch-wide screen and the recorder-and-playback machine. The three units fit into two portable cases, each weighing about 75 pounds. A 23-inch screen monitor can be used in courtrooms.

Present cost is $3000 for the equipment and $40 for each 40-minute tape, which contains both the image and sound on its half-inch width. Tapes can be erased and used again once a pending case has been completed.

Because the proecss is so versatile, Chapman expected it to become more popular, eventually reducing the cost to several hundred dollars.

Instant Replays

The monitor can show television programs much like a conventional TV set and also can record them for later viewing. It works instantaneously; a recorded conversation can be shown immediately by operating the appropriate controls.

The tape also can be adapted for broadcast over a general television station.

Tapes of particular movies or other productions may someday be available for presentation when desired in the homes of videotape unit owners, it is believed.

Although the local use is considered unique, a Peoria attorney specializing in wills began using such equipment in his practice this winter, Chapman said.

Disposition of assets is described on videotape by the person making the will enabling his sanity to be defended in future years by replaying his appearance and mannerisms as they were at the time the will was made.

Alton State Hospital Plans 'Open House'

Dr. Abraham Simon, superintendent of Alton State Hospital announced today that Mrs. Marguarita Vozak, chief social worker, has been named chairman of Mental Health Week, to be observed April 28 through May 3. Mrs. Mae Oller will be co-chairman.

Open house at the hospital wil be Sunday, April 28, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Vozak said, "This year's theme will be, 'Follow the Trail with Mental Health to Celebrate Illinois' Sesquicentennial and the Golden Anniversary of Alton State Hospital.' The entire program for the open house wil be patient focused, and we encourage community participation."

Each of the four units, which geographically serve 17 counties, will present open house programs stressing Illinois' 150th Birthday; the Hospitals' 50th Birthday, as well as new aspects of mental health treatment. The hospital units are Madison; St. Clair - Monroe; Eastern Counties; and the Medical-Surgical, which serves the specialized needs of patients from all counties.

Special programs and events will be announced at a later date.

Daily tours will be arranged during Mental Health Week, April 29 through May 3, by calling the hospital at least one day in advance.

Grain Program Sign-Up Deadline is March 15

Growers were reminded today that March 15 is the last day for filing applications to take part in the 1968 volunteer grain programs.

Lee Rogers, office manager of the Madison county ASCS office in Edwardsville, urged farmers who are interested to call at the county ASCS office as soon as possible before the March 15 sign-up deadline, and signing up is a necessary first step in program participation.

"These are really good programs," Rogers said, "as evidenced by our tremendous sign-up so far, and we don't want producers to lose out on program benefits due to not signing up in time. Also we expect an extra heavy sign-up during the last week so producers should get in immediately."

No acreage diversion is required for the wheat program but feed grain producers must divert at least 20% of the base and can elect additional diversion up to 50%. Diversion payment will be earned for the additional diversion.

Bi-State to Seek U. S. Grant for Transit System

The Bi-State Transit System will file immediately an application for $1 million in federal funds as the result of approval of a $300,000 transit system subsidy by the Missouri legislature, board members of the Bi-State Development Agency announced in regular meeting yesterday morning.

The application is made possible by total subsidies of $500,000 approved by the Illinois and Missouri assemblies which may now be used as matching funds. Federal funds have been unavailable until the agency could provide matching funds.

The Missouri legislature approved its $300,000 share of the subsidies only a week ago. Illinois, however, approved a $400,000 subsidy in its regular 1967 session—$200,000 for each year of the biennium—but made payment contingent upon approval of a Missouri grant. Missouri legislators will be asked later for another $300,000 subsidy to meet its total share of $600,000 for the biennium.

To Retire Deficiency

The $1.5 million made available from federal and state grants this year will be used to buy 50 new buses and other equipment and to retire a $742,300 deficiency in the transit system's depreciation reserve fund. This would enable the agency to meet, for the first time, requirements of the capital improvement fund, Board Chairman Robert S. Knapp told the board.

The board also adopted a new transit system operating budget for the fiscal year beginning tomorrow through February 1969.

The budget anticipates revenue of $23,501,000 and operating expenses of $20,852,00, leaving an estimated net revenue of $2,649,000. Fund requirements of the trust indenture, however, will require a total of $3,245,000, posing an anticipated deficit of $596,900.

Lawrence Hoelter, 56, Dies Suddenly Today

Lawrence Henry "Pickles" Hoelter, 56, of 2309 East 20th street, died suddenly at 1:50 a.m. today at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was admitted early last evening after suffering an apparent stroke.

Mr. Hoelter, who was not believed to be in ill health and had worked yesterday, collapsed while watching television at home about seven o'clock last night. He was employed as a crane operator at General Steel Industries, from whom he had received his 25-year service award last May.

Born in Mitchell and a lifelong resident of the local community, Mr. Hoelter was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church. For many years, he also had been active in Eagles Lodge 1123.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mildred Kay Hoelter; five sons, Larry, James, Gene and Dean Hoelter, all of Granite City, and John Hoelter of Huntington, Calif.; two brothers, Ray and Alvin Hoelter, both of Granite City; one sister, Mrs. Norman (Lucille) Branding of Edwardsville; and 13 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

JOLLY MATRONS MEET

Mrs. Margaret Presnell was hostess to the Jolly Matrons club at her daughter's home in Collinsville Tuesday.

The members arrived at the home for a short business meeting prior to a luncheon served by the hostess.

Games filled the remainder of the afternoon, with Mrs. Marlene Serini holding high score, Mrs. Helen Thiele, second and Mrs. Johanna Milovich, third. Prizes were awarded.

Others taking part were Mrs. Anna Mae Murphy, Mrs. Barbara Wood, Mrs. Lottie Ostresh and Mrs. Margaret Gram. Mrs. Serini will entertain the members in two weeks at the home of her mother, Mrs. Thiele, 1509 St. Clair avenue.

CLASS TO MAKE FAVORS

Mrs. Gertrude McManaway, 1681 Second street, entertained the Queen Esther class of the First Baptist Church in her home Monday evening. The meeting was opened with the president, Mrs. Velma Rideout, presiding. The class song, "Make Me a Channel of Blessing," was sung, and happy birthday was sung to Miss Altha Lassen.

Roll call was answered by Mrs. Verna Willman, Mrs. Rideout, Miss Nora Rogers, Mrs. Lucille Veach, Miss Lassen, Mrs. Velma Stockton and Mrs. McManaway, each quoting a scripture of Love.

Plans were made for the class to meet in the educational building to make tray favors to be sent to the hospital for St. Patrick's Day. Refreshments were served by the hostess and favors were in keeping with Washington's birthday. Mrs. McManaway, teacher of the class, dismissed the group in prayer.

Mrs. Veach will hold the March meeting in her home.

Mrs. Leo Mae Salmon, noble grand of Delray 786 Rebekah Lodge, presided over a short business meeting Tuesday evening. Twelve members met at the Odd Fellows hall and discussed various topics of the lodge work and made plans for the ham and bean supper to be held at the hall on March 9.

Hearty Cold Weather Dish Features Canned Chicken Gravy

Are you organized enough to have a separate summer and winter favorite-recipe file? If you would like to start one, here's a perfect first recipe. Mark it "fall and winter." It's a hearty, robust dish—pork chops simmered in canned subtly-seasoned chicken gravy—just perfect for serving the football fans after a nippy afternoon at the stadium.

It's easy to make. First brown the pork chops with mushrooms. Then reach for a can of "saucey" chicken gravy from your pantry shelf. Just open, pour on the convenient sauce. Add a generous sprinkle of ground cloves for an exotic touch and simmer. The velvety smooth gravy with the real chicken flavor goes far to enhance this hearty fare. Just before serving, add pear wedges to the sauce.

Ideal go-alongs would be escalloped potatoes and a tossed green salad. For dessert, bake a spice cake in a fancy mold and decorate with a butterscotch glaze.

(And for you calorie tabulators, be consoled in the fact that you can conserve calories with at least one item on this menu. Most canned gravies have less than half the calories of their homemade gravy counterparts.)

PORK CHOPS IN SAUCE WITH PEARS AND MUSHROOMS

4 pork chops (about 1 pound)
¼ pound mushrooms, cut in half (about 1½ cups)
2 tablespoons shortening
1 can (10¾ ounces) chicken gravy
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
1 medium pear, cut in 8 wedges

In skillet, brown pork chops and mushrooms in shortening; pour off fat. Stir in gravy and cloves. Cover; cook over low heat 35 minutes. Add pear. Cook uncovered for 10 minutes more; stir now and then. Makes 4 servings.

Farm Column

Weed Control—Big Business

Weed control is big business—and for the farmer a never ending problem. No single production problem facing American farmers is as expensive and difficult as weed control. In his fight against weeds, U. S. farmers annually spend an estimated $2½ billion.

This figure compares with $430 million to control crop insects and $230 million to keep down plant disease damage. In 1968 Madison county farmers will pay their fair share of weed and insect control costs.

Experimentation by scientists has developed low-cost ways of controlling weeds. These methods can help farmers to be more efficient, whether they farm large or small acreages. Farmers must make wise use of the materials available to them to keep weed and insect control costs to an efficient minimum.

To help guide farmers, the University of Illinois College of Agriculture has prepared two publications. They are the "1968 Weed Control Guide" and the "1968 Insecticide Guide for Field Crops." Both are available free of charge upon request at the Madison County Extension office in Edwardsville.

Weed and insect control is a continuous battle that must be faced so that a constant flow of high quality food and fiber can be efficiently produced for the American consumer.

Recently, and especially during National FFA Week, many different aspects of FFA have been reported to the listening, view and reading public. Nationally 430,000 FFA farm youth were honored. More than 16,500 of these live in Illinois and more than 200 are from Madison county.

FFA is a voluntary organization which works in conjunction with high school vocational agriculture classes. Vocational Agriculture teachers, who are usually FFA chapter advisers, supervise the member's implementation of skills and practices learned in the classrooms.

We would like to recognize and compliment the FFA'ers of Madison county, and their Vocational Agriculture instructors who have done an outstanding job of preparing young men for agricultural careers. There are four FFA chapters in Madison county.

The chapters and their instructors are: David Ruppert, Highland; Delmar E. Launius, Triad; Chester Seibert, Edwardsville; and William Eagleton, Alton.

Congratulations for the recognitions earned by our Madison county FFA and their advisers. We hope they are encouraged to continue to pursue the excellent work and build on the performance of the past.

EDITORIAL

Pharmacy 'Revolution' in Progress

(University of Illinois)

If you have ever taken a pill or had a prescription filled, you'll be interested in what's happening to pharmacy at the University of Illinois Medical Center campus, Chicago. In fact, your life may someday depend on it.

As the field of medicine has become more and more highly specialized, and the number of drugs on the market has increased, problems have developed. The new pharmacy program at the campus is a giant step toward solving some of those problems.

For example, a woman may go to an obstetrician to have her baby delivered, to an internist for gall bladder trouble, and a dermatologist for a skin condition. All may treat her with medications.

Incompatibility Aspect

It's entirely possible that some of those medications when taken together can have a serious effect on the patient. Who's to know? Her pharmacist.

That's what the new pharmacy program is all about. It's training the pharmacist to be more than a pill dispenser. It's teaching him to put his knowledge to work.

Though the program had been under consideration for a long time, it began almost accidentally in the College of Pharmacy's front yard at the U. of I. Hospitals because of the nursing shortage.

On the 11th floor there is a 48-bed ward. Traditionally, the nurse dispenses medicines to hospitalized patients. With one nurse, 48 patients, and an average of 12.3 doses of medication per day per patient, you have trouble.

When the situation on the ward became impossible, the supervising nurse went to Miss Helen Dunn, director of nursing for the U. of I. Hospitals, for a solution.

Remedy—Look From Window

There was no quick answer. As Helen sat looking out the window trying to think of something, she faced the College of Pharmacy.

She made an appointment with the dean of the College of Pharmacy, Dr. George L. Webster, and the wheels began to turn.

Herbert S. Carlin, director of the Hospitals Pharmacy, was brought into the picture and the result was, for the first time, that pharmacists were assigned full-time to the patient floor.

For the first time in history, the pharmacist was brought close to actual patient care. He became an integral part of the health team with the doctor, nurse, etc.

That was the beginning of the revolution. The new program proved itself so successful that it was extended into education.

A clinical class, purely elective, was set up in 1966 for students in the College of Pharmacy. The response was overwhelming.

The first class was limited to 14 students. They became deeply involved with actual patient cases, and the results were remarkable.

The pharmacist emerged from the back room and observed the effect of the drugs he was dispensing to the patient.

No one knows as much as the pharmacist about the various drug products available, their recommended dosages, untoward effects and incompatibilities.

The College of Pharmacy at the University of Illinois may or may not be the first in the country to develop a program that gives its students clinical practice with patients, but it undoubtedly will not be the last.

Tax Rules on Company Pensions

(Internal Revenue Service)

Q—I have a pension from my company as well as Social Security benefits. I know Social Security is not taxable, but how about the company pension?

A—If the company paid the entire cost of the pension, the amounts you received will be fully taxable. If you paid part of the cost, only a portion of your pension benefits will be taxed.

If you will recover the total amount of your contributions within three years after you receive the first payment, your pension will not be taxed until you have recovered your cost.

If you will not recover the amount of your contributions within the three years, a portion of the pension will be taxable each year.

Additional information on this subject may be found in IRS Document No. 5018, "Retirement Income and Credit." This document can be obtained by sending a postcard to your local IRS office.

Deduct Pre-Pay Penalty

Q—I paid off my home mortgage early and was charged a pre-payment penalty. Is that deductible?

A—Yes, it is deductible as interest if you itemize.

Q—I got a short form in the mail but I might have to file the regular Form 1040 this year. Where can I get a copy of it and the instructions?

A—Tax forms are available at many banks and post offices as well as at local offices of the IRS.

Q—My wife is visiting her family for a few weeks. If we file a joint return do I really need her signature? Our return is all set to go and I want to get the refund as soon as possible.

A—On joint returns, the signatures of both husband and wife are required. If signatures are missing, any refund due you may be delayed.

Q—Our daughter started work last fall but my wife and I still support her. Can we claim her as a dependent?

Answer Not Simple

A—It depends on several factors.

To be eligible to claim her as a dependent, you must have provided more than half her support for the year.

However, if she earned $600 or more during the year, then she must be under 19 at the end of the year or a full-time student during five months of the year for her to still qualify as a dependent.

Q—Under what conditions can a person 65 or over sell a house and not have to pay any tax on the profits?

A—There will be no tax to pay if:

1. You were 65 or older before the date of the sale.

2. The adjusted sales price was $20,000 or less.

3. You owned and occupied the house as your principal residence for at least five of the eight years preceding the sale.

If the adjusted sales price was over $20,000 and the other conditions are met, then only a portion of the profit will be taxable.

Details on this and other benefits are contained in the booklet, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans," Document No. 5569.

In Stocks, Insist On a Bargain

By THOMAS E. O'HARA
Chairman, National Association of Investment Clubs

Q. In the last couple of years I have bought IBM, Computer Sciences, Xerox and Grow Chemical. A friend who reads your column regularly says you wouldn't approve. Why?

A. The only reason I can think he would say that is because all of the companies you have listed are selling at, or close to, their all-time highs and all of them are selling at quite high price-to-earnings ratios.

They are all good growth companies. However, I always get a little wary when price-earnings ratios seem to me to be too high.

It is an interesting but unfortunate fact of life that people tend to do the opposite in investing to what they do in other business dealings. If you went out to buy a car and the dealer quoted you a price of $500 or $1000 more than you knew was the list price, you'd laugh in his face.

But all too frequently people read or hear a lot about a certain stock, see it selling at its highest price in history, and insist upon buying it—apparently on the theory that the price will keep going up and up forever. This isn't necessarily so.

Let's go back to our car-purchase analogy: a smart buyer looks around for the best deal he can get. Often he finds he can get basically the same car from another dealer for $150 less than the first dealer he talked with would accept.

The same can be true in stocks. It is quite often possible to buy at a bargain a stock that shows all the qualities of another stock except its "glamour" and therefore its high price.

While we can't say an over-priced stock won't still sell at a higher price, the investor who insists upon a bargain usually winds up a wealthy man.

Have you a question about investing? Mr. O'Hara, editor of the monthly magazine, "Better Investing," will answer as many as possible in his column. Correspondents will receive a free copy of "Better Investing." Write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Dept. S, Box 1056, Detroit, Mich. 48231.

Surprise Democratic Slate May Be Strong; Drawbacks—Powell, Lack of Primary Choice

The state slate selected by the Illinois Democratic Central Committee surprised most voters but could be stronger than it might appear initially.

Lt. Gov. Samuel Shapiro, governor candidate, has made himself known here and in many other communities during the past eight years. State Sen. Paul Simon of this district, running for lieutenant governor, has spoken throughout the state and is highly regarded in Chicago liberal circles.

Attorney General William Clark, who will oppose U. S. Sen. Everett Dirksen in November, has built up considerable political strength in his two terms. Francis Lorenz, public works department head, is an experienced and attractive rival for the probable Republican attorney general nominee, experienced and attractive William Scott. Miss Fannie Jones, supreme court clerk aspirant, can bolster the ticket in East St. Louis.

Auditor Michael Howlett has been an active official and was considered for the governor race before being endorsed for a third term. Secretary of State Paul Powell is the most questionable member of the ticket; even some of the prospective Democratic state candidates wanted him replaced.

There was some speculation that the party would not try to beat Sen. Dirksen; Chicago Mayor Daley and his associates did omit their best vote getter, State Treasurer Adlai Stevenson III, but this may have been primarily because he said he would not support some policies of President Johnson in a Senate campaign—although he would back LBJ if Stevenson ran for governor.

Surprises included Shapiro, not discussed as prominently as Stevenson, Clark, Howlett or U. S. Anti-Poverty Director Sargent Shriver; Simon, who wanted to oppose Sen. Dirksen and has been a critic of organization Democrats; and Clark, who preferred to run for governor and is not a colorless candidate of the kind utilized in previous low-key contests with Sen. Dirksen.

Pleased central committeemen felt their decision Tuesday solved all problems. But a big one not answered is their vulnerability to charges that the slate was dictated to voters. The GOP, this year at least, has a wide open primary election, which gives voters a greater voice but risks a party split that might not heal by November.

Vote Against Village Plan Reflects Wishes, Diligence of Mitchell Citizens

Residents of the western Mitchell area showed conclusively this week that they do not want a village government established at this time.

The 657-to-88 vote against incorporating the proposed village of Chouteau not only was a decisive margin of over 7-to-1 but also reflected participation by nearly all of those eligible to cast a ballot. There can be no question now about how the vast majority of the public regarded the plan.

There obviously can be advantages from creating a municipality to provide basic community services, but residents want to be able to feel that the major emphasis will be on their wishes and needs, not the wishes of a favored few. In retrospect, this probably was the decisive factor in the outcome.

The inadequate tax base—primarily residential with no major industries—also raised understandable doubt as to whether the proposed government could be run both effectively and economically. It is difficult to operate a governmental agency unless the assessment rolls include a full cross-section of the categories of taxable property.

Another aspect may have been a desire not to lose Madison county zoning controls. Highly controversial when efforts were made to adopt it five years ago, zoning has since become recognized as valuable in protecting home investments and avoiding incompatible land usage. This changed image is a credit to the soundness of the law and the fair and conscientious way it has been administered by the County Zoning Board of Appeals.

Although "No" votes prevailed, the Chouteau election seems more positive than negative in nature—an expression of alert and diligent citizen action. If the result could be summarized in a single thought, it would be that people have immense power when they choose to exercise it—power whose potential is always greater than that of organized politics no matter how experienced or well financed.

Distinguished Past, Bright Future for the Local YMCA

The local Young Men's Christian Association has made healthier, happier and better citizens of countless Quad-Cityans during the half-century whose completion will be commemorated at a special dinner gathering Saturday evening.

Planned and financed in 1917 and 1918 by local residents, organizations, businesses and industries, the "Y" has remained close to the people during the ensuing years while adapting its program to the changing times. Throughout its history, it has managed to provide a wide array of services and facilities despite periodic difficulties, usually financial.

In the era before governmental agencies expanded their role in instructing adults and furnishing recreation for all ages, the YMCA played a somewhat broader but more informal role than today, when families have a choice of many more ways to spend their leisure time. This has necessitated more precise class schedules and increased attention to imparting of skills and physical fitness as well as recreation.

The March 2 milestone focuses attention not only on what has been accomplished here by thousands of volunteer citizens but on the present momentum—membership has doubled in the past year—and on the bright future, when there will be still greater opportunities for enjoyable and constructive YMCA activities.

Championships Aplenty for High School Athletes in Quad-Cities

Quad-Cityans have seldom had such a big week as last week in the diversity of success of their school athletic teams.

Madison high school won the Midwestern Conference basketball championship for the 1967-68 season, the Venice high school basketball team captured the Madison-Clinton-Macoupin Counties Conference championship, and Granite City high school wrestlers won a surprise sectional title a few days after gaining a surprise district tournament championship.

The GCHS Warriors can hardly be considered a favorite to acquire their second state wrestling championship, but the determination they displayed as underdogs in the earlier competition indicates that no attainment can be ruled out. In any case, much attention will center on their bid for still another upset in competition against 188 other outstanding Illinois athletes tomorrow and Saturday at Northwestern University.

In the basketball realm, larger high schools are completing their regular seasons this week and smaller schools have begun district play, the first round of pairings that will decide the state champion team March 23. Regional basketball games are scheduled for the Granite City gymnasium next week.

School sports have reached one of the most interesting periods of the year, and the skill and dedication of Quad-City students has assured that 1968 will be one of the most memorable years of all.

Special Ballot Issues Deserve a Vote

Proposed legislation by State Rep. Harold Katz (D, Glencoe) has merit. He suggests that the question of calling an Illinois constitutional convention be placed on the bottom of the November ballot listing nominees of the major parties, rather than on a separate ballot.

Human nature being what it is, extra ballots often go unmarked. This consistently affects the outcome of such voting, since the affirmative vote is compared to the total of candidate votes, not the total of special ballots cast.

Although his plan in a sense would aid the campaign for constitutional revision, it has broader implications. Any legal and ethical method of encouraging a fuller expression by voters should, in the long run, bolster the cause of good government.

Trial Requirement--Impartial Jury Without Regard to Class

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Associations)

The constitutional right to trial by an impartial jury is not violated simply because no jurors are of the same social or economic class as the defendant.

A newly-issued 100-page booklet, entitled "Your Bill of Rights," offers a discussion by attorneys of the 23 basic rights contained in the first 10 amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

It traces the development of the trial by jury from earliest times, in Medieval England, to the present day.

In the chapter dealing with the Sixth Amendment guarantee of an impartial jury trial in all criminal proceedings, the writer makes this observation:

"An impartial jury must ordinarily represent a cross-section of the community, but it does not have to contain members of the class to which the defendant belongs."

The only constitutional requirement concerning the make-up of an impartial jury is that it shall be drawn from "... the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed ..." Courts have fulfilled this requirement without too much difficulty, according to the author.

One of the earliest documents in which the right to jury trial in criminal cases is set forth is the Magna Carta, written in 1215. It provided:

"No freeman shall be arrested or detained in prison, or deprived of his freehold, or outlawed, or banished, or in any way molested; and we will not set forth against him, nor send against him unless by the lawful judgment of his peers and by the law of the land."

However, neither the Magna Carta, nor the English Bill of Rights, in 1689, called for an impartial jury or one selected from the district where the crime was committed.

Events leading to those guarantees included the Boston Tea Party. In retaliation for the "party," the governor in Massachusetts was given power to hold trials for treason, murder and other capital offenses, in other colonies or in England.

Copies of the booklet, "Your Bill of Rights," are available without charge from the Illinois Bar Center, Springfield, Ill. 62701.

U. S. Trains Arab Military Officers

(U. S. Department of State)

I have read that the United States is continuing to give military training to officers of the Arabian nations that have broken diplomatic relations with the United States as a result of the Middle East War.

I am surprised that this country should give training to these Communist sympathizers.

Why don't you invite the Red Chinese and the Russians into our military camps?

I would like to know your position on this vital matter.

S. B. G.

Dear M. G.:

The rationale behind the general policy of training officers of foreign military establishments centers around the importance these establishments are accorded in their home countries.

The military plays a key role in many Arab societies. It is often the only significant educated group.

By training the future military leaders of Arab countries, we have exposed them to life in our own democratic society.

Training here gives them an opportunity to associate with our own personnel, a cross-section of Americans from every social and econimc stratum and every creed.

We believe such exposure to the American system provides basic advantages for our relations with the Arab world in the long run and is a useful offset to Soviet influence in the area.

Since the Middle East War, the United States government has not initiated, nor does it plan to initiate, any new military training for those countries which have broken diplomatic relations with us.

However, those students already in United States service schools will be permitted to complete their current training programs.

Correspondence Courses

Will you please advise me if there is a school in Washington, D. C., that handles correspondence courses for children of non-diplomatic personnel in foreign countries?

S. S. H.

Dear Mr. H.:

Where no American School is available, our foreign personnel use the Calvert School, Baltimore, Md., for elementary school instruction by correspondence course.

For high school, they use the courses organized by the University of Nebraska.

We understand these courses are avaialble to the general public.

INSPIRED BY YOUTH'S LETTER ON VIETNAM

To the Editor:

Enclosed is our renewal to the Press-Record. Although we have lived here (Abilene, Tex.) 17 years, Granite City is our home town and we enjoy keeping up with the news there.

It was with a great deal of pride and admiration we read Daniel Conway's letter, "Give Vietnam War the Attention It Deserves," in the Forum of the Feb. 12 issue. It is one we feel all Americans should read and heed.

Although we do not know this young man personally, we know it took wisdom and courage for him to write as he did.

It is a tragedy that we do not have more adults of the caliber of this 15-year-old.

The shocking events in Vietnam the past month would never have occurred if more Americans had expressed the same concern a few short years ago.

We are grateful to this young man.

AIDED BY PRAYERS WHILE NEAR DEATH

To the Editor:

There comes a time in everyone's life when he becomes very dependent. I've recently experienced such a time while undergoing surgery.

Little did I realize the complications to follow would bring me very close to death.

Through the prayers of many faiths here in Granite City and throughout the area, I was returned to health.

To the priests and ministers, and to all my friends who gave their blood, sent floral arrangements, cards and letters, and masses, I offer my sincere appreciation on behalf of myself and my family. God bless and keep you always.

URGES AID TO FAMILY

To the Editor:

Enclosed please find check for $5 for the parents of Richard Doty, the little boy who is in the hospital suffering from burns.

They have no hospitalization and I know the medical bills are terrific and will continue to be so for some time.

In appreciation of our police department, of which Mr. Astorian, the boy's father, is a member, let's start a Richard Doty Fund to help with these bills.

I am sure there are plenty of people who read your fine paper who will be willing to help with any amount they can afford.

GIRL SCOUTS SEEKING MISSING CAMP BELL

To the Editor:

Recent vandalism at Camp Lakota, Glen Carbon, was the cause of heartache for all members of the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council.

A memorial bell, which was a treasured possession of all Girl Scouts, was removed from its hallowed place on the lawn of the camp's lodge.

The bell was dedicated in June 1965 in honor of Sgt. Donald Barnes, who lost his life in a plane disaster enroute to Vietnam. Sgt. Barnes, who had served in the Army 19 years, was very active in scouting and council activities along with his wife, Delsie, and two daughters,

Sadie Hawkins Party Held

Granite City Junior Service Club gave a "Sadie Hawkins" party Monday evening at the Civil Defense building for new members. Mrs. Louise Kovar served as chairman, with Mrs. Linda Saltich and Miss Juanita Bell also on the committee.

Decorations for the party were comics from newspapers attached on the walls.

Prizes were presented to Mrs. Mary Lou Worthen and Mrs. Jo Anne Gaumer for the best costume.

Games were played and those winning prizes were Mesdames Charlene Pohlman, Bernice Fitzpatrick, Francesca Rowden, Eva Burns, Jo Anne Guamer, Loretta Krekovich, Audrey Jaros, Mary Lou Worthen, Rena James, Candy Kawula, Miss Flora Mae Lensing and Mrs. Gerry Gavlick, a new member.

Others present were Mrs. Carol Trittschuh and Mrs. Jean Ann Vrenick.

June '48 Class Plans Reunion

A reunion for the graduating class of June 1948 from Granite City high school is being planned for July 6 at Fischers in Belleville with a dinner and an evening of dancing.

The planning committee reported having difficulty in locating some of the class members and anyone knowing their whereabouts is asked to contact Charlotte Griffith, 877-3679, Aileen Smith, 877-8647 or Kathleen Dortch 876-6429.

Addresses are unknown for Mesdames Shirley Eisen Rubinropt, Betty Kleinman Green, Julia Laswell Neumann, Mary Marr Hopkins, Nancy Nylen Kalweit, Hlen Rudder Johnson and Miss Peggy Hiasten, Miss Jo Anne Nall, Robert Shelton, Howard Snider, Miss Martha Tomich, Bob Tompkins and Richard Wagner.

MISS LOIS PABOR, whose engagement to Ronald Hafner is being announced by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Pabor of Olivette, Mo.

Fall Wedding Being Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Pabor of Olivette, Mo., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lois Pabor, to Ronald Hafner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hafner, 3004 Sunbury avenue. Plans are being completed for a wedding on Sept. 7.

Miss Pabor is a junior at Concordia Teachers' College, Seward, Neb., where she is majoring in biology. She is a 1965 graduate of Lutheran high school, St. Louis, and a 1967 graduate of St. Paul's College, Concordia, Mo.

The prospective bridegroom also is attending Concordia Teachers' College where as a junior student he is a theology major. He was graduated from Granite City high school in 1965 and is a 1967 graduate of St. Paul's College, Concordia, Mo.

Following their wedding, the young couple plans to reside in Seward while completing their education.

Radioactivity Topic of Club

Harold Mayfield, radiological defense and training officer of the Granite City civil defense organization. was the featured speaker Monday evening at a monthly meeting of the Welcome Wagon club at the Grand Cafe annex. His topic was "Fallout" and he spoke on precautions that can be taken by local residents against radioactivity.

Twenty-five members attended, with Mrs. Jean Andrews, president, conducting the business meeting.

She announced a new sponsor for the club is the Grand Cafe. The evening's prize, provided by Midtown Pharmacy, also a sponsor, was won by Mrs. Linda Ogden.

A Washington's pie was won by Mrs. Betty Read.

During the business session, plans were announced for the club to hold a bake sale on March 9 at Tri-City Grocery in Bellemore. A bowling party for couples will be held March 16 at 7 p.m. at Bowland.

Refreshments and the table decorations were in a George Washington birthday theme.

The next meeting will be held March 25 at the Grand Cafe. A representative from Herring Florist will speak to the group on "Flower Arrangements," and a "crazy hat" contest will be held in anticipation of spring and Easter.

Job's Daughters Holds Meeting

Miss Debbie Tellor, honored queen of Bethel 43, International Order of Jobs Daughters, presided at the regular meeting Tuesday evening at the Masonic Temple.

Those escorted and honored were Past Honored Queens—Miss Lynda Tellor and Mrs. Eleanore Todoroff; the guardian, Mrs. Nell Baskette, and associate guardian, Dr. E. H. Theis.

A letter was received by the Bethel informing them of the annual meeting of Grand Session in Chicago on April 18-21.

Vivian Gray, librarian, gave her report followed by remarks by Mrs. Baskette, Dr. Theis and Miss Tellor.

A special recognition was given to Miss Judy Goss, a regular member, who is moving to Tennessee to make her home.

Refreshments were served to 73 members and guests in the dining room by the Mothers Club.

World Prayer Day Set Friday

Mrs. Mae Yoho Ward will be the featured speaker at the World Day of Prayer, sponsored by the Church Women United, Friday, March 1, at the Good Shepherd Evangelical United Brethren Church, 3025 National avenue (Glenview).

A fellowship hour will be held at 9 a.m. with coffee served by members of the host church followed immediately at 10 a.m. with an Hour of Prayer and Meditation.

Baby-sitting facilities will be provided for the young children.

BIRTHDAY CHRISTENING PARTY IS JOINT EVENT

A birthday and christening party were held jointly this week for the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent E. Scrum in their home, 2650 Lincoln avenue. Young Todd Eugene Scrum observed his second birthday and Brett Matthew Scrum was christened during a ceremony following the 11:45 mass at Sacred Heart Catholic Church by Rev. Joseph Enright. Godparents for the infant were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stoddard.

Dinner was served to Mrs. Blanche Scantling, Mrs. Ann Scrum, Mrs. Helen Scrum, Mrs. Jessie Wood, Mr. and Mrs. George Scrum, Walter Scrum and daughter, Sherri, Mrs. Vivian Cease, Mr. and Mrs. William Komon and sons, Bill and Mark, out-of-town guests, Mrs. Nell Crombar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crombar and daughters, Robin, Leslie and Kelly and the honoree's sister Georgia Lynn.

MILLER-SCHLESSING WED AT LOCAL CHURCH

Mrs. Dorothy Schlessing of St. Louis and William B. Miller, 2228 Waterman avenue, were married recently at St. Peter United Church of Christ by Rev. Robert J. Baumann.

Following the ceremony they left for a trip to Hot Springs, Ark., and will make their home locally on their return.

GC Council Overides Veto Of 2 Stop Sign Ordinances

Voting 12-to-2, the Granite City council overrode the veto announced at Monday night's meeting by Mayor Partney of the ordinance establishing two stops on Niedringhaus avenue. The signs are to be placed on Niedringhaus avenue at Poplar and Chestnut streets.

In the veto message, Partney noted that the stop signs had been removed on a recommendation of the city's traffic engineer about two years ago. He added that the signs do not meet the traffic requirements by the state highway department for four-way stops and that only one accident has been reported in five years.

Aldermen absent Monday night were Steve Basarich of the Fifth Ward, who introduced the stop sign ordinance, and Robertson.

Outlines Need

The veto was attacked immediately by the other Fifth Ward alderman, Walter Nonn, who said the stops were needed to permit children and adults to cross the street during peak traffic hours. "The question is," Nonn stated, "who is running this area? The people who live there or Col. Hoskin (Army Depot commander)?"

His question was answered by Alderman Fry, who asked Nonn a question, "Are you trying to spite the colonel?"

Nonn answered that he was representing the people — not the depot.

Mayor Partney argued that with the Great River Road (Federal Aid Route 151), scheduled to be completed this year, the added stops would cause considerable congestion and backup of traffic.

"With all that traffic," Nonn interjected, "we'll have to provide a means for the people and especially for the children to cross Niedringhaus avenue."

Voting to override the mayor's veto were Aldermen Dallas, Meerlien, Bartosiak, Whitmer, Boyd, Poulos, Green, Nonn, Parmley, Jarrett, Dawes and Johnson. Opposing Nonn's motion were Rutledge and Fry.

Parking Restrictions

Other ordinances pertaining to parking restrictions were adopted by the council. One establishes a 25-foot, 30-minute parking zone in front of 2033 Illinois avenue and the other a no-parking zone on the north side of Amos avenue from Wabash avenue to the west boundary of 2131 Amos avenue.

Improvement to the west approach to the West Pontoon road rail crossing was requested by Alderman Dawes, who said the steep rise "appears to be getting steeper" and becoming a hazard to motorists and to pedestrians, who are mostly school children.

Mayor Partney explained the city project for improvement of the city's section of West Pontoon road has been stalled through the inability to get easements for a proper right-of-way. "If we go to court for condemnation, it will take three years, and it was hoped the state highway department would help."

The mayor indicated efforts still are being made to get the easements in time for next year's start of the Nameoki road improvement between Granite City and Mitchell.

Street Supt. Warfield said his department possibly could ease the sudden rise with fill during the summer street maintenance program. He was asked to study the problem to determine what could be done in the near future.

Approved by the council was a resolution submitted by the Granite City Housing Authority for acceptance of streets, sidewalks, sewers and drainage lines in The Anchorage development for the elderly. The city also maintains streets, alleys, sidewalks, sewers and drainage lines at Kirkpatrick Homes.

The request for acceptance was submitted by Walter Pfaff, chairman of the housing board.

Save Receipts Showing Service Tax, Solon Says

"Save those repair bill receipts" was the advice given Monday night by Granite City Alderman Samuel Whitmer during the city council session.

Whitmer expressed his concern over the status of the 5% service tax on television and auto repairs, pointing out he had paid $2 on a $40 auto repair bill recently, "and I'm saving the receipt since the service tax bills' constitutionality is doubtful."

The alderman said he conferred with officers of the Associated Retailers and they got in touch with the Taxpayers Federation in Springfield.

"The result was, that if the law is declared invalid, the courts will determine how to refund the service tax which is being held in escrow by the state.

"Anyone with a receipt stands a better chance of getting a refund," Whitmer stressed.

Pre-Trial Talks Held In Tax Protest Case

A large number of tax agency officials and attorneys, and attorneys representing railroads and industries that have filed tax objections, overcrowded the courtroom of Circuit Judge James O. Monroe in Edwardsville Tuesday to attend the first of a series of pre-trial hearings in tax objection cases.

State's Atty. Leon Scroggins said the hearings are provided by legislation enacted last year. He said the meetings are arranged between the court, the state's attorney's office and the objectors to determine the validity of objections and to learn if the issues can be settled without the necessity of trial. The discussions have no formal status so far as court action is concerned, Scroggins noted.

Scroggins said additional hearings will be planned later to permit conferences between the tax agencies and objectors. The first of these will be held for cities and villages on March 15.

FIRST GREEN AND GOLD BANQUET AT FROHARDT

The first green and gold banquet to be conducted in this area was held Monday evening by Boy Scout Troop 22, sponsored by Frohardt school PTA, at the school.

Terry Rea, David Shanks, Paul Robertson, Jeff Boyer and Jerry Sadler participated in the posting of the colors and leading the guests in the pledge of allegiance. Rev. Edward Hamilton, pastor of First Baptist Church, gave the invocation.

J. R. Shanks, scoutmaster, introduced guests G. Rollin Henn, vice-president of the Cahokia Mound Council, who spoke of the merits offered by scouting as pertaining to adult life. Wilbur Irelan, assistant district executive of the Uniwah (Quad-City) district, reviewed some of the activities in which the boys will participate at summer camp.

Charles Broeker, committee chairman, expressed thanks to the Mothers Auxiliary, which made all arrangements for the dinner. Others seated at the guest table were Mrs. Edward Hamilton and Mrs. Jo Ann Kalert, president of Frohardt school PTA.

Joseph Spillers, assistant scoutmaster, presented awards to Jerry Sadler, merit badges for nature, soil and water conservation, safety and automotive safety, three-year pin, Life scout rank and a Mothers Life pin given to Mrs. Gilbert Sadler.

David Shanks received a two-year pin and Star scout rank. A Star pin was given to Mrs. J. R. Shanks.

Jeffrey Boyer and Paul Robertson received three-year pins and Gregg Sarich a one-year pin.

Chuck Broeker was welcomed as a new scout and given his Tenderfoot badge. Two new troop officers were appointed and given badges of their office. They were Keith Wagner, troop scribe, and Bill Ellington, assistant patrol leader.

An unusual centerpiece for the table was created by Mrs. Ervin Rea, using red and white cupcakes as part of an American flag, substituting for the stripes.

Rev. Hamilton closed the meeting with prayer.

FBI Chief Seeks Cooperation in Curbing Sale of Smut

In a message to police departments throughout the nation this week, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is calling upon the law enforcement officers to seek public cooperation in curbing the sale of obscene materials.

The text of his message follows:

The publication and sale of obscene material is big business in America today. Degenerate sex pictures and pornographic literature, covertly peddled and sold in most cities and communities, net greedy smut merchants millions of dollars annually.

It is impossible to estimate the amount of harm to impressionable teenagers and to assess the volume of sex crimes attributable to pornography, but its influence is extensive. Sexual violence is increasing at an alarming pace.

Many parents are deeply concerned about conditions which involve young boys and girls in sex parties and illicit relations. While there is no official yardstick with which to measure accurately the reasons for increases in any criminal violation, we must face reality. Pornography, in all its forms, is one major cause of sex crimes, sexual aberrations, and perversions.

Question is Asked

Is our society becoming so wicked that we are turning from virtue and integrity to immorality and degradation? Are we becoming morally bankrupt and letting our principles of conduct and decency deteriorate? Are we forsaking the simple teachings of right over wrong and good over bad?

Let us look about us. In the publishing, theatrical and entertainment fields, are the good, enlightening and educational qualities of their products being overshadowed by too much emphasis on obscenity, vulgarity, incest and homosexuality? Many people believe this to be true.

But the legitimate productions of these media are rather mild when compared with the "hard-core" pornography flooding the country in the forms of films, "playing" cards, "comic" books, paperbacks and pictures. Such filth in the hands of young people and curious adolescents does untold damage and leads to disastrous consequences.

Motivating Rule

Police officials who have discussed this critical problem with me unequivocally state that lewd and obsecene material plays a motivating role in sexual violence. In case after case, the sex criminal has on his person or in his possession pornographic literature or pictures.

Under these conditions it is not surprising to note that forcible rape in 1966 increased 10% over the 1965 total, a violation occurring every 21 minutes. Since 1960, forcible rape has increased 50%.

Obviously, all that is being done to combat the sale and traffic in obscene material in the nation is not enough.

Sound and workable laws are needed, and, where they do exist, they should be vigorously enforced. Since many courts seem to judge obscenity on the basis of the moral standards in the community, the public has a vital role in upgrading the level of community morality.

When obscene material is discovered, it should be exposed and citizens should complain to proper authorities. when pornography is received in the mails, postal authorities should be advised.

Citizens should come forward and cooperate in the prosecution of offenders. Obscene material is indeed evil, but it is not a necessary evil. If the illicit profits in pornography were replaced with stiff punishments for the filth purveyors, this evil would be brought under control.

Income Tax Aid Available Mondays

Assistance for income tax filing is available each Monday to Quad-City residents at the city hall in Granite City.

Agents of the Internal Revenue Service are in the engineering offices on the third floor of the city hall, 20th street and Niedringhaus avenue, from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. each Monday.

The office is to be staffed on Mondays only through April 8, and the agents also will be there on Friday, April 12. The deadline for filing 1967 income tax forms is April 15.

Vet Benefits Generally Exempt from Taxation

Veterans benefits are generally exempt from taxation and need not be reported as income on income tax returns, John B. Naser, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in Chicago, said today.

The only reportable item is the interest earned on GI insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA. This is not considered a veterans' benefit and must be reported as earned income.

GI insurance dividends are not taxable, nor are proceeds from GI Insurance policies.

Other major tax exempt benefits include compensation and pension payments, educational assistance allowances, subsistence payments to vocational rehabilitation trainees, and grants for "wheelchair" homes and automobile equipment for the severely disabled.

Naser said that, likewise, all benefits to surviving dependents of deceased veterans and compensation allowances authorized for dependents of certain disabled veterans are tax exempt.

Church Services

Rev. Leland Rose, pastor of the Apostolic Pentecostal Church, 2633 Highway 3, announces regular weekly services are held at the church on Thursday evening at 7:30, Sunday morning at 10 and Sunday evening at 7:30.

Collide at Signal

When a car driven by Pamela J. Brewer of Edwardsville stopped at a walklight signal on Madison avenue near 16th street at 3:55 p.m. Monday, it was struck from the rear by one driven by R. P. Lee, East St. Louis, according to a report to police. Lee said his car skidded on wet pavement when he tried to stop.

YMCA Got Its Start Here 50 Years Ago During World War I

By VALERIE EVENDEN

Dresses had short narrow skirts; barely reaching the ankle; the American Army announced it numbered 1,360,000 men, having grown from a paltry force of 110,000 soldiers just eight months earlier.

Elks Lodge 1068 dedicated its "magnificently appointed" new building on Niedringhaus avenue, and local community leaders slipped into high gear to persuade Granite Cityans that a Young Men's Christian Association Building was long overdue here.

The time was mid-January 1918 and the YMCA Building Fund Drive, initiated by a group of civic-minded citizens and concerned industrial leaders on Jan. 21, culminated five days later with pledges from residents, totaling $27,600. Local industries already had guaranteed a $150,000 contribution to start the ball rolling.

Fund-raising officials were jubilant as they reported the campaign oversubscribed at the YMCA's first annual meeting, on March 2, 1918. "It went over the top clean, and clean over," one excited volunteer cried out at the meeting.

Exact Anniversary Date

The YMCA will mark its 50th anniversary meeting this coming Saturday, March 2, the exact date the original charter was signed.

William L. Harris, current president of the YMCA board of directors, said this week, "Our meeting Saturday is quite a milestone in the history of the Granite City YMCA. We hope to glance back a few years and of course look to the future on this 50th Anniversary."

Principal speaker for the annual dinner meeting and election of directors will be David C. Stubbs, director of International Affairs for the Chicago YMCA and a world-wide traveler, who will present a report on the "Y at Home and Abroad."

Local YMCA Staffs

An energetic group of men, all professional YMCA workers, currently direct the affairs of the local "Y" under the leadership of Vernon C. Tharp who jointed the Granite City YMCA as executive secretary on July 5, 1966.

Tharp, 43, came here from Racine, Wis., where he served as "Y" residence and adult program director. He has been associated with YMCA programs since completing a stint in the U. S. Army in 1946.

The "Y's" top executive is a graduate of the State College of Iowa and George Williams College, a YMCA training college for the midwestern states. Prior to his assignment at the Racine "Y," he was employed at YMCAs in Waterloo, Ia., and at the Southtown Branch of the Chicago YMCA. He is married and the father of four children.

Appointment of Marvin Van Metre, also of Racine, Wis., as YMCA adult program and membership director, was announced Nov. 17, 1966. A graduate of Iowa State University, he is married and the father of five children.

Before coming to Granite City, Van Metre served as youth work director at Washington, Ia., youth work and adult program director at Waukatosa, Wis., and executive director for Waukesha county, Wis. He is an 18-year veteran of YMCA work.

Charles H. Hasse, 26, a native of Staunton, Ill., joined the local YMCA staff as youth work director on Jan. 3, 1967. He is unmarried and since his appointment has moved to Granite City.

Hasse was graduated from Southern Illinois University-Carbondale campus with a bachelor of science degree in recreation and currently is a candidate for his master's degree.

Coordinating the YMCA's physical education program is Forrest Cockrell, a veteran of 23 years experience in YMCA work and a former physical education teacher at Peoria junior high school.

Cockrell came here on May 15, 1967, from the Alton YMCA, where he served 13 years, including the position of executive director. Previously, he was at YMCAs in Peoria, Los Angeles and Bloomington.

He was born and reared in Jerseyville, Ill., and was graduated from Illinois State University at Normal. Cockrell is married and the father of three children.

Planning Begins in 1916

Formation of the local YMCA began, in effect, on Aug. 31, 1916, two years earlier than its official founding date, at a gathering of representatives of various industries, civic clubs and school authorities of Granite City.

Meeting for luncheon in the club house of Commonwealth Steel Company (General Steel Industries), the 15-member group discussed at length the educational needs of the community, specifically in reference to industrial training and education of foreign-born workmen.

Concensus of the early participants was the program should be considered simply as a business proposition and unanimous agreement was reached that it would be wisest to profit from the experience of the YMCA organization and that industries involved should organize the matter according to the YMCA purpose.

Irwin Raut, industrial secretary of the East St. Louis YMCA, who was present at the initial session, met again in September 1916 with the community leaders and explained more fully the YMCA part of the program, emphasizing it being a coordinating, cooperating and supplementing effort with the regular authorities.

He stressed that through the YMCA program, efforts could be directed to meet the needs of foreign workmen best by offering the general community help, thereby benefiting the problem as a whole instead of just providing education to the non-English speaking residents at night school.

After considerable discussion, an Advisory committee was appointed which was ratified at a later date by the state YMCA.

Members of the first committee were W. I. Glasgow, American Steel Foundries; R. E. Jamison, Corn Products Co. (Union Starch & Refining Co.); F. W. Kottmeier, National Enameling & Stamping Works; Hayward Niedringhaus, Granite City Steel Co.; William Urban, Hoyt Metal Co.; J. S. Newell, National Lead Co., and Arthur T. Morey, Commonwealth Steel Co.

Decision to Build

In March 1917, the Advisory committee of the Granite City Industrial YMCA, as it was known, decided that a building for YMCA purposes was essential to keep the program together. W. H. Rowlands, the first general secretary, stated that attendance in the night school classes was falling off because of the various hours and places where sessions were held.

"A building under proper supervision would further the interest of industry and moral uplift of the community and through it we can do one thousand-per-cent more for our people by offering them educational, physical, moral, industrial and social training," the YMCA secretary told the board.

One month later, the advisory group agreed to erect a YMCA building—"a three-story structure, fireproof, equipped to carry the full Association program, dormitories to the number of 70 or 100 for sleeping purposes, cafeteria, club rooms, gymnasium, swimming pool and all other things that go to make up a modern YMCA," the recommendation read.

Two important points decreed at the April 10, 1917 meeting were proportioning to industry a right and equal allotment of building and equipment costs in the amount of $150,000, with the community to be given part in the planning, and a successful motion made by T. K. Niedringhaus that the proposed building be a Young Women's Christian Association, as well as a YMCA.

'Modern' Methods Used

Prior to launching the YMCA Building Fund Drive, the week of Jan. 21 to Jan. 26, 1918 to raise the community's share of $25,000, precise plans were devised to direct the campaign along the lines of those presently used in United Fund appeals and similar fund-raising drives.

Special committees were created to approach various facets in the community and Phillip Stremmel, superintendent of the Hot Mill department at Granite City Steel, was named general fund chairman.

Heading the Industrial Board was Arthur T. Morey, while F. W. Kottmeier was named president of the City Board and G. W. Niedringhaus president of the Manufacturer's Board.

Such names as L. P. Frohardt, Granite City superintendent of schools; R. H. Larner, president of the school board; W. C. Urban, Edwin Rigg, J. W. Holsinger, Stanley Hollis, W. J. Coudy, A. W. Hiscott, John Costley, Charles Worster and John Kleinschmidt appear among the active leaders of the drive.

A kick-off banquet for volunteer workers was held Jan. 18 at the Masonic Temple, highlighted with an address by Norman C. Schlicher of Chicago, International Industrial Secretary for the YMCA's Central States region, a comparable position to that held by the guest speaker at this Saturday's dinner meeting.

Ministers of the Evangelical churches of Granite City gave laymen permission to explain the YMCA program during Sunday morning worship services on Jan. 20, at six local churches.

Most Successful Drive

Concentrated action within the next five days produced what was then described as "the most successful and enthusiastic campaign ever witnessed in Granite City," resulting in topping the goal by more than $3000.

The local community had many other problems to think about in January and February of 1918. World war I was now in full-swing and emotions ran as high on the pros and cons of drafting the nation's young men to intense and extreme support, both physical and vocal, for the war effort.

Granite City high school graduated five girls and four boys in its January class; a Neighborhood Defense Society was formed in Madison "to assist the government in winning the war," matching a similar group organized in Granite City several weeks previously.

Madison, "The Biggest Little Village in the World," was flat broke—completely out of funds—and had to authorize an unprecedented $7500 in anticipation warrants to meet expenses.

Venice residents sponsored a "bon voyage, good luck" banquet, entertaining 450 local men who were leaving for Army duty at Camp Taylor; and Boy Scout Troop One of Granite City gained national recognition as the top-ranked troop in Illinois to sell the most Liberty Loans in a government bond-selling campaign, for which troop members received the President's Flag from President Woodrow Wilson.

From July to December 1918, the Advisory Board and City Board attempted to find an appropriate building for reconversion to a YMCA facility.

Site is Donated

Howarder, G. W. Niedringhaus announced the following January the boards had agreed to accept the Niedringhaus Trustees offer, donating a tract at Twentieth street and Edison avenue, providing adjacent lots needed for construction could be purchased from another owner at a reasonable price.

This was accomplished and in October 1919, the architectural plans submitted by William Wedemeyer for a $300,000 building were unanimously approved.

After seven years of time, effort and work, on Aug. 28, 1924, the first shovel of ground from the Granite City YMCA building was turned over by the new board president, George Whitten. Others participating included F. W. Kottmeier, who served as the YMCA Association's first president and Irwin Raut, the secretary.

The following April, the cornerstone was laid containing memorabilia of the day and records of preceding events which led up to the YMCA's founding here.

Thus, the $300,000 building, of which $13 000 was donated by the Niedringhaus Trustees, and $287,000, including 10% contributed by the citizens of Granite City and 70% from the industries, was open to the public on Jan. 3, 1926.

Between 1917 and 1924, the YMCA supporters here were not idle. Extensive programs were carried out without the benefit of a building. Playgrounds were located in Lincoln Place, East Granite, Little Six (an area near the mill) and at Madison, all staffed by neighborhood volunteers.

Southend Locations

Physical training courses were offered in school gymnasiums, English and naturalization classes were held at McKinley school and the Lincoln Place club house; and YMCA leaders cooperated with the Citizen's Relief Association, Boy Scouts, Sunday School Association, Ministerial Alliance, Safety Council, Naturalization Bureau, City Court and religious and educational boards.

Since those years of 1916-1919, the schools have taken over the education, the park district now operates the playgrounds, the churches conduct the Bible schools and the public school system, in cooperation with industrial personnel, has incorporated apprenticeship program in its curriculum.

Since the dedication of the YMCA building on Jan. 3, 1926, the YMCA doors have been closed to no one, the board stresses. It is still considered the community center, especially by the younger generation.

Its facilities are used by civic clubs as a meeting place; it has a dormitory accommodation for 117 men; and a full recreational program for men, women, boys and girls.

The original building has been renovated several times — old walls torn down, new walls erected to make additional room for the increasing program. When the "Y" first opened, coal was fed into the furnace by hand. In 1940 stokers were installed. In 1946 new filtering tanks were added to the swimming pool.

Extensive Remodeling

The most extensive remodeling program occurred in 1956, when locker rooms were tiled and refitted; the gymnasium floor replaced; a control desk added to the pool and physical education area; floors repaired and lighting fixtures replaced.

The rehabilitation project, financed by 35 donors at a cost of $108,520, was spearheaded by G. W. Hoelscher, who was then serving his 20th year as YMCA board president.

Hoelscher continued as president until 1961, when he was succeeded by Henry D. Karandjeff, who held the post until 1965. Milton G. Reinhardt served two terms as president prior to election of William L. Harris last year.

Initially, YMCA membership was free and belonged to any person walking through the front door. As programs became more diversified and services were offered not only to the workingman as originally proposed, but to kindergarten youngsters, teenagers, housewives, businessmen and special interest groups, staff members through necessity were increased and operational costs climbed from year to year.

Financial Picture

In 1923, the YMCA financial report listed receipts of $8638 and disbursements of $6408. In 1955, income was $76,214 and expenses, $76,-162, while the 1966 figures showed income upped to $156,143 and disbursements to $154,183.

Some years ago, rising costs necessitated membership dues and charges being levied on non-members for participation in some Y-sponsored programs.

To supplement revenue, YMCA officials reached an agreement in 1965 with the GM&O Railroad to rent 17 of the buildings' 70 rooms on a weekly basis for overnight stopovers by railway employees. According to YMCA executives, this arrangement has greatly benefited the Y's financial picture. Sleeping rooms, available for $12 weekly, or $3.75 per night are usually 90% filled, it was learned.

Perhaps no organization in history started with a loftier purpose or "longer handicap" than the world-wide YMCA movement. It was founded on June 6, 1844, in London, England, by George Williams, a young draper's clerk, with an enrollment of 12 members.

Name Shortened

Its "handicap" was in the name selected for the group: "Young Men's Christian Association for the Improvement of the Spiritual Condition of Young Men Engaged in the Drapery and Other Trades, by the Introduction of Religious Services in the House of Business."

Soon, however, that was shortened and only the first four words were retained; words which by their first letters—YMCA—have become familiar throughout the civilized world.

More than 78 countries with a membership roster totaling nearly three million persons now embrace the spirit of the YMCA concept.

On its "golden anniversary," the YMCA appears to have fulfilled and surpassed the intentions of the dedicated men who organized the 1918 YMCA Building Fund Drive.

To quote the nameless volunteer whose enthusiasm was apparent when the campaign pledges were announced 50 years ago—"It's gone over the top clean, and clean over."

1967 Highlights of YMCA

Total youth and adult membership increased from 542 to 1119.

In addition, 1545 registered non-members served in special programs, representing all age groups from pre-school swimmers to Teen Town to Senior Citizens.

The YMCA swimming pool was utilized more than ever before. Over 1000 individuals were given instruction. Total attendance for recreational swim periods neared 10,000 persons.

More than 300 boys participated in the YMCA Soccer Leagues and about the same number played in the "Y" Basketball leagues, operated in Madison, Mitchell and Granite City.

Board Presidents And Secretaries

Notable achievements in the YMCA's progress from its inception 50 years ago are credited by many to the men who served as presidents of the "Y" board of directors and as general secretaries.

Former board presidents, include:

F. W. Kottmeier, 1917-1922; George E. Whitten, 1923-1928; J. W. Costley, 1929-1933; Louis Buenger, 1934-1935; G. W. Hoelscher, 1936-1960; H. D. Karandjeff, 1961-1964; Milton G. Reinhardt, 1965-1966; and William L. Harris, current president.

YMCA general secretaries, were:

W. H. Rowland, 1917-1918; Irwin Raut, 1919-1928; R. E. Baldwin, 1929-1933; Elmer O. Hill, 1934-1937; Leroy Larsh, 1938-1955; C. A. "Bud" MacMillan, 1956-1966; Vernon C. Tharp, current secretary.

40 Employees

Apart from the four full-time professional YMCA executives, the local association employs 40 additional full and part-time employees, plus others who augment the staff for seasonal work and as special program instructors.

YMCA employees, include Betty Fuchs and Dora Darnell, front desk and bookkeeping; Geneva Werth and Bonnie Bone, clerical department; Janet Ann Naeve, Earnest F. Darnell, Jean Hoffman, Shirley Marie Tervasi, Don Schoenberger and Earl Iberg, front desk, part-time.

Activities for Toddlers to Oldsters

PRE-KINDERGARTEN PUPILS attend YMCA sponsored classes each Tuesday and Thursday morning under the supervision of Mrs. Mildred Hoelscher, kindergarten center instructor. Sessions are conducted along standard pre-school lines.

JUDO INSTRUCTION is only one of many sports offered young boys and girls, teenagers and men at the YMCA. Recreational activities and competitive sports range from team efforts such as soccer, basketball, swimming and softball to individual expertise in boxing, tumbling, volleyball and scuba diving.

Protests on the presence of police dogs with officers standing by near the striking Boilermakers Local 575 picket lines at the A. O. Smith Corp. plant last week were raised during Monday night's Granite City council session.

A motion by Alderman Green for a request to be made to the police department not to take the dogs to the picket line was approved. Also, the city engineer and city attorney were instructed to determine if a dirt road running along the railroad spur line serving the A. O. Smith plant and the highway in front of the plant are in the city limits.

Several aldermen studied available maps and decided the roadway and highway were in the city, but Alderman Boyd amended Green's motion to call for a definite and final decision. "We want to be on sound legal footing if, the police are going to the rail line gate of the plant. The Boilermakers Union has a good attorney who could make it rough on the city if city police are outside the boundary."

Dogs Not Out of Cars

Green pointed out that the strikers were good citizens striving to attain certain goals, and he saw no need for the police to have dogs in the area, "even if they don't get them out of the cars, and I was told the dogs were not out of the cars.

"But this antagonizes the people — just seeing the dogs there," he added.

Police Chief Veizer said that while the Canine Patrol cars were in the area, they were not on the picket line. "One was at least a half mile away near the RC Cola plant and the other was over the tracks on Nameoki drive," he told the aldermen.

He explained the officers were called out because of a disturbance complaint received from the plant. "A dog is as much a part of their equipment as a gun or a badge. He added that if the council determines plant areas are out of the city limits, he would be able to relax the standby alert for all officers.

Need for Patrols

Chief Veizer went on to say that police were sent to the plant on several days because of the large number of persons congregated at the gate and that the officers were there to keep the highway clear for passing traffic as well as to protect the pickets and plant personnel. "If the highway is outside the city limits, then we won't have to be there. The county sheriff tells me it's in the city and so does the state patrol. We've been patroling it for years."

Aldermen agreed the strike-bound auto frame manufacturing plant is in the city, but the extent of the boundaries and the status of the dirt road and Highway 3 in front of the plant was unresolved.

Alderman Whitmer, chairman of the Police committee, said the officers had to keep the highway open and were there more to direct traffic. "They did not interfere with the picket line."

Chief is Questioned

The chief was then asked by Alderman Poulos if the dogs would have been used on the picket line.

"Only if my men were in danger," Chief Veizer said.

The chief said he went to the picket line Friday night and saw a supervisor run the picket line in a car at a high rate of speed. I told Warfield (Flace Warfield, union president) to file a complaint.

Nonn said he saw a patrol car headed west on West Pontoon road on the west side of Highway 3 and noted it was outside the city limits.

The mayor called upon Alderman Parmley for comment. "I'll give you a report," the alderman said, relating that he had been called by union officials to see if the dirt road was in the city limits. "I advised them it was."

Other Aldermanic Views

Bartosiak said he didn't believe dogs belonged in the vicinity of the picket line, and that "police cars should not be tied up setting there." Rutledge added, "If the dogs are creating problems, they should be kept away, but we can't tell police how to do their jobs."

In calling for council action, Green said he recalled the strike at the Union Starch & Refining Co. plant several years ago and the use of police dogs there. "A. O. Smith's management should take lessons from the people where we are," he added. Green is an employee at Union Starch.

Alderman Poulos, also a Union Starch employee, said he saw dogs on the street during the picketing at that plant.

Green's original motion was to protest the use of dogs by police on the picket line. At the council's urging, he changed the motion to request the department not to use dogs at picket lines. His motion was seconded by Moerlien.

Chief Veizer commented that the department was answering calls from both the pickets and plant officials. Whitmer suggested the police be as inconspicuous as possible.

About eight members of the Boilermakers Union were in the audience for the council session but were not called upon for comment.

Mobile Registration Unit Planned For '68 Election

Madison county will mobilize its voter registration program this year with a new van truck furnished with registration material to reach out-of-the-way areas where it is inconvenient to establish special registration centers.

The new van was purchased recently from Cassens & Sons, Inc. of Edwardsville on a bid of $3700.

Miss Eulalia Hotz, county clerk who is in charge of voter registration activities, said this will be the first year in which a mobile unit has been used for registration purposes.

In past years, the county clerk's office has established voter registration points in shopping centers and other locations in the more heavily populated areas. Since these are not feasible to maintain in smaller towns in outlying areas, the mobile unit will tour these sections to make it more convenient for voters who might have difficulty in going to Edwardsville to register at the courthouse.

Miss Hotz said she plans to publicize the time and place that the van will appear. She said use of mobile units is comparatively new, but that they are being used in several of the larger counties.

She said she plans to use the truck the year around except during the period just before elections when the registration period is closed by law. The last day for registration in Madison county prior to the June 11 primary election this year is May 13.

About 10,000 persons were registered in the county in the last presidential election year, Miss Hotz said.

Scouters to Take Part In Regional Training

Cahokia Mound Council and Uniwah district scouters from the Quad-Cities will be among those attending the 1968 Boy Scout regional training conference Saturday at Bradley University, Peoria.

Chairman of the training seminar is Gene H. Sternberg, Granite City building contractor and president-elect of Optimist International. He is explorer chairman and a member of the executive committee of Region Seven, which consists of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Medicine Cabinet Clean-Up Urged

Make medicine cabinet cleanup an important part of household chores; it could save a life, authorities advise Quad-Cityans.

That's because old medicine is frequently bad medicine, chemically decomposed with age and a potential poison. Those out-dated drugs are especially dangerous in homes where there are youngsters in the climbing state.

Protect your family and yourself by cleaning out that cluttered cabinet NOW, it is urged. Start by disposing of the following:

1. Old prescriptions you are not currently using.

2. Any medicine that has changed color or formed a residue at the bottom of the bottle.

3. Any tablets that crumble or show signs of disintegration.

4. All drop containers left over from treating an infection. The dropper may have touched the infection and thus become contaminated.

5. Ointments or salves that have separated, developed spots or become discolored.

6. Mild antiseptics that have become cloudy or developed a solid residue at the bottom of the bottle.

8. Nosedrops that have become cloudy or developed a residue.

9. Eyedrops or washes used for treating an illness. Some of these eye medications could develop a dangerous fungus.

10. Hydrogen peroxide that no longer bubbles vigorously.

11. Milk of magnesia that has become caked.

Remember, time and medicine don't always mix. Over a long period of time, the chemicals combined in a solution — whether it be a mild ointment or a strong antiseptic—may go through a "breaking down" process.

Once this "breaking down" process takes place, the solution usually becomes weaker. But, in some cases, it can become much more powerful and, therefore, extremely harmful.

Old medicines of all types have just one place to go — down the drain.

Post-Korean Conflict veterans who already have pilot's licenses may receive 90% of the cost of their training to get a commercial pilot's license from the Veterans Administration. One month of their eligibility under the G.I. Bill will be used for each $130 paid under this program.

Concert for Youths Set Mar. 9 at SIU-SW

A concert for youngsters will be presented by the music faculty of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern at 11 a.m. March 9 in the Communications building theater.

"Overture on Hebrew Themes, Opus 34," by Prokofiev will be played by a chamber group comprising George Mellott, clarinet; Kristi Hervig, first violin; Mary England, second violin; Robert Schieber, viola; Joseph Pival, cello; and Renato Premezzi, piano. Miss Hervig and Miss England are students at SIU-SW. The others are members of the music faculty.

Premezzi and Harlan Hock, an SIU-SW student from Belleville, will play a Premezzi arrangement of "Ritual Fire Dance" by Manuel De Falla.

"Carnival of the Animals" by Saint-Saens, with verses by Ogden Nash, will be played by the chamber group, augmented by Hock as second pianist; David Engelke, bass; Barbara Cook, flute; Rogert Smalley, celeste; and Richard Schaumberger, xylophone.

Miss Cook is educational director of Music Education Council of Arts and plays first flute with the St. Louis Philharmonic Orchestra. The other additions are SIU-SW students. Leonard Van Camp, assistant professor in the fine arts division, will be narrator for the 14-part zoological fantasy.

Makes Dean's List

Robert W. Turck, 2430 Pine street, was named to the dean's list of honor students at Lewis College, Lockport, Ill. A graduate of St. Henry's preparatory seminary, Belleville, he is a freshman and had a grade point average of 3.25.

MHS 1968 Class Plans to Bury Time Capsule

Madison senior high school's graduating class of 1968 is planning to bury a time capsule on the front lawn of the school as their parting project.

The committee led by Jeff Helton as chairman, Charles Bosworth, class president, Charlie Ann Hackett, president of the National Honor Society, Terry Stawar, Paula Hutchings, Dennis Holt and the class advisor, Edwin Barton, are making only tentative plans with the approval of the school board.

This group plans to include in the capsule a copy of the year book, blueprints of the new additions of the school, pictures of the faculty. They plan at the end of 25 years to open the capsule and compare events of this year with 1993.

The next class meeting will be a discussion on the type of construction and material for the retainer and the possibility of securing helium gas to help preserve the documents and a suitable plaque describing the project.

Winter Choral Concert On Card at SIU-SW

A winter choral concert will be presented by Southern Illinois University-Southwestern's Women's Glee Club and Male Chorus at 8:15 p.m. March 6 in the Communications building theater.

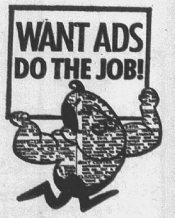

Under the direction of Leonard Van Camp, assistant professor of music, the combined choral groups will sing Jacob Gallus' "Pater Noster" and "They Are There" by Charles Ives.

Haydn's Magnificat" will be sung by the Women's Glee Club with solo parts sung by students Margaret Boyer of East St. Louis, Patricia Pazia of Madison, and Lu De Ogny of Florissant, Mo.

The Veterans Administration estimates the use of computer systems in administration of its $7 billion program of benefits for veterans and their dependents saves the Government approximately $17 million annually.

Most EIU Students Favor ROTC Program

A poll of 759 men students at Eastern Illinois University indicates that 646 would participate in a non-mandatory Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) program while 113 would not.

The poll, taken by the Eastern Veterans' Association (EVA) in a one-day effort in University Union, asked this question:

"Would you be interested in participating in an ROTC program at Eastern?"

The Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities has given Eastern authority to apply for the program. Should Eastern apply and receive the program, it would start in September, 1969.

President Quincy Doudna said he "deeply appreciated the efforts made by the Eastern Veterans' Association to determine student opinion of the ROTC proposal."

He said he "regretted that the Student Senate has no more meetings scheduled before the March 1 application deadline date so that the members could express their views on the matter."

23 DeMolays Attend Meet at Belleville

Twenty-three members of the Granite City DeMolay chapter attended a southern Illinois jurisdictional meeting Sunday at Belleville.

More than 200 attended the event which started with an 11 a.m. worship service. The sermon was titled "Where Is My Son?"

Following the business session, a bowling tournament was held at the Panarama lanes with 15 teams competing. The host Tancred chapter won the meet, while Granite City's first two teams took second and third-place trophies.

On the No. 1 team were Jim Fitzpatrick, captain, Roger Mathews, David Strotheide, Jon Teague and John Tolbert. On the No. 2 team were Jim Naeve, captain, Bill Kee, Max Merz, Mike Norton and Terry Talley.

Other DeMolays attending were Paul Boyer, Robert Chance, Kirk Darner, Carl Earls, Steve Ebrecht, Robert Epping, Michael Few, Charles Hileman, Tim Noud, Michael Rogers, David Watkins, Bill Watson and Joe Vaughn.

They were accompanied by advisors Gilbert Watson and Charles Meyer. Granite City will host the next jurisdictional meeting April 21 at the local Masonic Temple.

Corn Refiners to Name Four Junior Spokesmen

Corn Refiners Association announced plans today to name four junior spokesmen for corn refining in 1968. The program, initiated last year, is open to high school youths with interests in agriculture from Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Missouri. Union Starch & Refining Co. is a member company.

Four youths, one from each state, will be selected. Winners will tour a nearby corn wetmilling plant. From April 21-24 they will visit Washington, D. C., to meet with their senators and congressmen, tour the Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville, Md., and visit the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Westminster Graduate

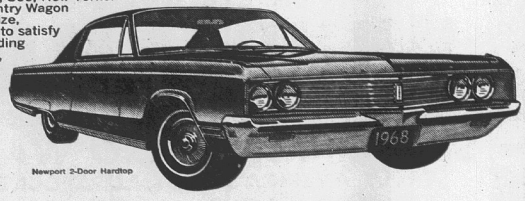

James Harold Karandjeff, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Karandjeff, 65 Oaklawn drive, is a January 1968 graduate of Westminster College, Fulton, Mo. He majored in economics at Westminster, a four-year liberal arts college for men.

"You could earn $10,000 or more the first year you run a Shell station like this. And be your own boss!"

The Shell Oil Company is looking for outstanding businessmen to run Shell stations in Granite City. Can you meet our three most important requirements? They may surprise you.

Shell is growing in Granite City. More dealers are needed now. Read this rundown on Shell stations—and why they can be big profit makers. Then read Shell's three most important qualifications. If you can meet them—or if you know someone who can, call WO 8-2200 or write us today.

SHELL is growing fast. We need men now — to manage our high-profit Shell service stations here in Granite City.

(Note: Previous experience with automobiles or service stations helps, but is not necessary. Some of our most successful dealers had no related experience before they joined Shell). Would you like to run a Shell station, be your own boss, set your own goals? If so, Shell offers you these five advantages:

2. You'll sell Super Shell, one of America's most popular gasolines. Sales of Super Shell gasoline are booming. That's because motorists know Super Shell contains Platformate, a mileage ingredient which helps them get good mileage. Result: high volume — and profits—for Shell dealers.

3. Shell dealers are trained free — and get paid, too. You may already know about automotive services, but Shell will teach you —free—the profit-proven methods of running a business. And you'll be paid while you learn. Result: higher profits for Shell dealers.

4. Shell helps you all the way. Shell representatives continue to help the dealer all through his career. They continually show him new ways to boost sales, cut costs. And Shell spends millions of dollars a year on advertising. Result: high profits for Shell dealers.

5. Shell's credit cardholders number in the millions. Credit cardholders buy more gasoline, more tires and more batteries than cash customers. And Shell has one of the largest group of credit cardholders. Result: millions of ready-made customers—and high profits—for Shell dealers across the country.

Can you qualify?

If you're interested in becoming a Shell dealer, we will want to ask you three important questions.

1. Do you agree that customer service is the most important factor in successful station management? Shell plans to give motorists the best service they've ever known. You should agree 100% with this goal.

2. Do you have managerial ability? Many men without technical training succeed in the service-station business because they have management know-how. You must be able to put men and money to work for you?

3. Are you willing to invest in your own future? You will have to make a small investment in products and equipment to get your business started. Shell will help you arrange your finances but you must demonstrate your faith in your own success by investing in your station.

We'll want to ask you other questions, too. But if you can answer "Yes" to the ones above, you're over the first hurdle.

Learn more about the high-profit business you can build as a Shell dealer. Call us now at 1-314-WO 8-2200 or 1-636-3075.

Violinist Kent Perry Plans Concert Sunday

Violinist Kent Perry, assistant professor in the Fine Arts Division of Southern Illinois University - Southwestern campus will give a recital Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the Lovejoy Library auditorium on the campus.

Assisted at the piano by his wife, Linda, also an SIU-SW staff member, Perry will play "Sonata in C for Violin and Piano" by Hindemith; "Largo Espressivo" by Pugnani; and "Sonata No. 12 in E Major for Violin and Piano" by Pergolesi.

After a short intermission Franz Schubert's "Trio in B-flat Major, Opus 99, for Piano, Violin, and Violoncello" will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Perry and cellist Joseph Pival, another SIU fine arts faculty member.

A former member of the Chicago Little Symphony, Perry is concertmaster of the SIU-SW Chamber Orchestra and a member of the resident Lincoln String Quartet.

Perry received his master of music degree from Northwestern University and taught violin for five years at Maryville College in Tennessee before coming to SIU in 1965. He is currently working toward a doctorate in music at the University of Illinois.

The Sunday afternoon program is open to the public without charge.

Mrs. Bob Hope to Talk At St. Louis U. Event

Mrs. Bob Hope, wife of the well-known comedian, will open the 1968 Women's Week at St. Louis University with a public talk Monday.

Mrs. Hope, the mother of four children and an active philanthropist, will speak on "Woman in the Family." The Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S.J., University president, will confer a special citation on Mrs. Hope in recognition of her work in apostolic, charitable and community affairs. Mrs. Hope will speak at 3 p.m. in the Busch Memorial Center, Grand and Laclede.

The week's theme, "The Art of Being a Woman," will be carried out in lectures, displays, exhibitions and a panel discussion. All of these events are open to the public without charge. Women's Week is sponsored by the University women student organizations.

Local Student at SIU In LEAC Fraternity

Thomas Ylikopsa of Granite City, has become an active member of LEAC Fraternity located on the campus of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

LEAC was founded in 1962 as a social - professional fraternity of students majoring in agriculture and related fields, seeking a better understanding and stronger brotherhood with others interested in the same fields. Ylikopsa is a freshman student majoring in Forestry.

Clothing Class Has Display

Beverly Mang, Geraldine Whyers, Jo Lynn Shermann, Barbara Wallace, Joyce Boushard, Lana Dalhous, Denise Lindner, Sharon Strickland, Doris Pritchett, Debbie Wallace, Sherry Butler, Suzanne Schalcham, Janet Powell, Carol Baker, Theresa Colbert and Gayle Cox, all members of Clothing 5 classes at the local high school have prepared a display of sweaters they made during the fall semester. The latter three girls have contributed two sweaters each.

The sixteen sweaters are in a variety of colors and styles, and are displayed in the hall leading to Exit 5.

Work to be completed this semester will be on spring coats.

Clothing One involves learning the parts and handling of machines and making a blouse; Class Two builds on the skills from the previous class; Pretailoring is covered in Class Three and tailoring in Class Four; while Class Five concentrates on knitting; Creative sewing is instructed in Class Six; and Classes in Seven and Eight cover designing and pattern alterations in the area of difficult figures.

Junior Talent Day For GAA March 6

Junior Talent Day for the Girls' Athletic Association will be held next Wednesday in the Granite City high school auditorium and will follow a business meeting presided over by Maggie Dunlap, president.

Barb Bartels is this year's talent day chairman and is asking students to sign up for participation. Presentations are to include skits, musical selections, group and individual performances, folk dances, and tap and modern dance.

Participants in the recital will be Richard Bertolino, a senior from Benld, who plays the trumpet; sophomore Joseph Bauman of Staunton, tuba; Raymond Voorhees, a junior from Granite City, baritone; and junior Phillip Paeltz of Godfrey, French horn. Bauman will also serve at piano accompanist.

Included on the program, open to the public without charge, will be a rondo by Leonard Bernstein, a serenade by Vincent Persichetti, "Sure On This Shining Night" by Samuel Barter, a march by M. Bradford-Anderson, and a sonata for horn and piano by Bernard Heiden.

Speech Students Selling Candy for Trip Fund

All speech students are salesmen these days, peddling candy to raise funds for Granite City high school's speech department to make a trip to New York on April 29.

Richard King, speech director, and two other teachers are to chaperone the trip.

Bach Society Invites Choirs to Participate

Choir groups at St. Louis area schools and churches have been invited to participate in the Bach Society of St. Louis Spring Festival program by singing three chorales from the St. John Passion, the work to be presented March 29 in Powell Symphony Hall.

William Heyne, musical director of the Society, said experimental participation of local choirs in the Society's Christmas program last December was found to be so successful that the plan is being tried again.

Choral groups who sing at the program will receive special half-price rates for their tickets to the concert. Inquiries may be addressed to Heyne, 4746 McPherson avenue, FO 1-3714.

36 Bookcases Built By Crews of Boys

Three teams of boys in the construction trades class in wood technology at Granite City high school built 36 bookcases for the school. Each team was directed by Ralph Bailey.

On the teams were Marce Rodgers and Rodney Stone, Paul Shane and Daniel Tazkersley and Robert Harper and Philip Martin. Plans for the bookcases were made by Russell Hamilton.

Ernest Kern Enrolled At SE Missouri State

A total of 1004 students have been named to the fall semester B list at Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The list is comprised of the top students on the campus who make a 3-point grade average or better. Of this list 179 students are from Cape Girardeau and 149 from St. Louis, the two most representative areas. Fifty eight students scored perfect 4.0. Ernest Lee Kern of Granite City is attending school there.

GC Students Take Part In Group Counseling

Four Granite City high school students participated in a demonstration on group counseling last week at the Southern Illinois University - Southwestern campus.

It was conducted by Dr. Helen Ederle for graduate students. They are Laura Massie, a junior, and seniors Joe Le-Grand, Lynn Failey and Joyce Harding.

GCHS Junior Prom Set for April 20

This year's Junior Prom at Granite City high will be held April 20 with a "Moonlight and Roses" theme.

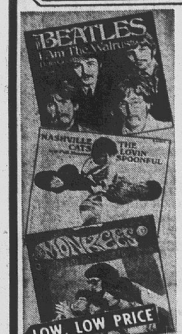

Arrangements for the spring formal now are being made by Ann Aufderheide and Pat Brule, co-chairmen, and the senior advisor, Mary Harris. Other committees are to be named.

GC Council Oks House Trailer Despite Complaint

An amendment to the Granite City code to permit house trailers in certain residential areas was proposed during Monday night's council session when aldermen voted 10-to-4 to permit continued location of a trailer at 2112 Nevada avenue.

The vote came on a request by Myron Keller for a special use permit for his 8x38-foot trailer on the lot which he owns.

Alderman Nonn, who called for approval of the permit pointing out that Keller plans to build a house on the lot when funds become available, said he did not feel the city code was valid, since it had not been read in detail when approved in 1958, but rather was merely presented for adoption.

"Many of us on the council at that time did not know of the trailer restriction, and I doubt now if it will hold up in court," he added.

City Law Upheld

A round-robin debate ensued in which City Atty. Allen said the city's case in this instance was upheld by the court after a complaint was filed against Keller, but that the fine was held in abeyance pending compliance with the city ordinance.

Alderman Rutledge noted the city law clearly defines where house trailers may be located, and that they may be placed in trailer courts or in commercial or business or industrial districts, but not in residential areas.

"We don't want any in the Eighth Ward," Alderman Johnson commented.

Nonn said that in many instances, house trailers were better than homes in some areas, and that they were the answer to the 35-foot lot problem in older sections of the city.

60% to 70% Approval

His proposal is for house trailers to be permitted where 60% to 70% of the neighboring residents are in accord, and Alderman Parmley added that they also should be permitted on sites for construction with a limitation.

Nonn recalled that at one location in his Fifth Ward, a resident was permitted to move in a house trailer until such time as he could build a home. "There's a $20,000 house there now," he added.

City Building Inspector Orville Deltour was called upon for comments. He said the trailer was put on the Nevada avenue lot 10 months ago, and that no time limit was specified in the court or by anyone else as to how long it could remain.

City Atty. Allen said the court proceeding followed a complaint by a neighbor. He added that the city zoning code permits house trailers only in trailer courts.

Voting for issuance of the special use permit for the trailer were Aldermen Dallas, Moerline, Bartosiak, Boyd, Poulos, Green, Nonn, Parmley, Dawes and Johnson. Opposed were Whitmer, Rutledge, Fry and Jarrett. Those absent were Basarich and Robertson.

Referred to the City Plan Commission was a request for a special use permit submitted by Dr. A. W. Trtanj to locate a dental clinic at 1701 Mitchell avenue.

Council members approved an amendment to the zoning ordinance for a four-family apartment to be located at 2203 East 25th street, rezoning the lot from R-3 single-family dwelling to R-5 for multiple-family dwelling.

STAFF SGT. DONALD WILLIAMS shown with sections of a culvert made at Granite City Steel Co., being used in Vietnam on construction projects.

Another Local GI Finds Touch of Home in Vietnam

Staff Sgt. Donald Williams, serving with the Corps of Engineers in Vietnam since June 1967, has completed supervision of the construction of a helicopter control tower which controls four of the helipads of Bearcat Complex and found a touch of home there. Culverts installed at the tower carry the Granite City Steel Co. emblems.

Also built was a hangar to house 12 "choppers".

The building is 40 feet high and has 16,000 square feet of floor space, which will provide a cleaner more efficient area for the maintenance of division helicopters. The building is prefabricated and has sliding doors and a concrete ramp leading up to the building.

Helicopter mechanics of the 709th Maintenance Battalion said they hoped to add a few refinements of their own to the building such as installing floodlights to illuminate the front ramp where they perform maintenance at night. They are also planning an overhead winch system for removing engines and transmissions from helicopters.

S/Sgt. Williams' wife, Ruth, and son, Douglas, reside at 5033 Lewis avenue, and joined him in November in Honolulu when he was granted his rest and recreation leave.

Main Lock at Alton Back in Operation

Col. Edwin R. Decker, District Engineer, St. Louis District, Corps of Engineers, announced that the main lock at Lock and Dam 26, Alton, was back in operation this week. Repairs to the lower miter gate began Jan. 30 and were expected to take until tomorrow to complete. Opening of the main lock today permits traffic to start passing again through both locks four days ahead of schedule.

With the main lock closed, a growing backlog of commercial traffic has developed waiting to pass through the smaller lock which remained in operation. Col. Decker said he expected river traffic to be returned to normal by Sunday.

St. Louis Ship, a division of Pott Industries, Inc., made the gate repairs.

Negotiations Slow By Depot and IUOE

Slow but steady progress is reported in the negotiations between the Granite City Army Depot and Local 149A, International Union of Operating Egineers. The negotiations began Oct. 31.

While most of the management and union proposals have been consummated, there are still a limited number of items that may be referred to higher authority of both depot and union for further mediation. Among the unresolved areas are grievances, work hours, arbitration and promotion policy.

The union represents about 800 employees at the depot.

City to Honor Heroic Firemen

Two actions concerning the city fire department were recommended Monday night by Alderman Fry, chairman of the Fire and Water committee.

First, he suggested the city present certificates of commendation to firemen who rescued Leon LaBlanc, 43, and his five-year-old daughter, Maria, from the burning home, 3016 Sunbury avenue, at midnight Saturday, and

A recommendation that investigations be made of fires that start up a second time after being extinguished by firemen. He noted that in 65 alarms last month, there were three instances in which firemen had to return to quell another flare-up. Arson has been suspected.

He suggested the city might call upon the state fire marshal's office to aid in investigations.

In praising firemen for their rescue work last weekend, Fry noted the firefighters went beyond the call of duty in going into the blazing, smoke-filled house. Special praise was given Firemen George Smolich for a second such rescue and to Capt. Floyd Bell and Firemen Robert Nonn and William Hodge.

Lenten Service Tonight At The Gospel Mission

The Lenten season will be observed Thursday evening when communion will be given at the 7:30 p.m. service at The Gospel Mission, 2014 East Twentieth street.

Rev. Jack A. Lewis, pastor of the Sunshine Mission, St. Louis, will be guest speaker.

Sunday evening, Dr. George A. Rosenthal will speak on the topic, "The Walk To Calvary." The public is invited to both services.

Two Prudential Agents Win Firm's Citation

Two members of the Prudential Insurance Co. East St. Louis district office have won the firm's presidential citation for all-round accomplishment in 1967.

They are Stanley Brown of 42 Shirlwin drive, Arlington Heights, and Russell Lindow of Belleville.

Farmers Urged To Make Plans On Conservation

Farmers who are gearing up for springtime operations are urged to "include conservation in plans and thinking.

Lee Rogers, office manager, Madison county ASCS office at Edwardsville, reminded farmers that these who need some particular conservation project on their land this year and who have not already done so are invited to discuss their plans with the ASCS office. Cost-sharing assistance through the Agricultural Conservation Program may still be available for needed conservation work.

"Now is a good time to plan and carry out needed conservation," Rogers said. "Many farmers this spring are setting aside land for a conserving use under the feed grain diversion program. Conservation work of a mechanical or construction type can most easily be done while the land is out of production."

Springtime in many areas is also "rain time," Rogers noted. It is, therefore the season when ACP water-conserving and erosion-prevention practices really perform — helping to get the water into the soil to help drought-proof the land for summer."

Rogers pointed out that the time tested agricultural conservation program is one of the nation's oldest farm-action programs. It has now been in over 30 years of continuous operation.

Each year it encourages and assists in completing additional conservation of soil, water, grass, woods, and wildlife in more than a million farms and ranches.

Campaign March 7-10

Local Girl, 7, is Easter Seal Poster Girl

Miss Marie M. Ropp, executive director of Easter Seal Society of Southwestern Illinois is announcing the Poster Child for the forthcoming fund drive to be held locally March 7, 8, 9 and 10, will be Vicky Branch, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Branch, 306 Chain of Rocks road. She attends the Tiny Tim pre-school classes at Central Christian church.

Also being announced are the chairman of Granite City drive, Mrs. Norma Darnell of the Quad-City Navy Mothers, 2711 (Apt. D) Center street, 877-9049, and Mrs. Patricia Rigney, mother of an Easter pre-school child, 2624 Highway 67, 876-4245.

They are requesting the help of volunteer workers for the door-to-door fund campaign. Anyone wishing to assist in this worthwhile drive are asked to contact either of the chairman.

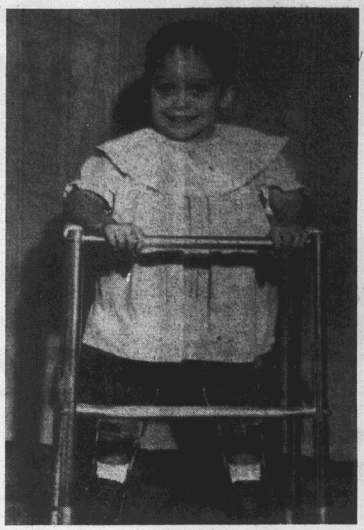

Counties comprising the Southwestern Illinois district are Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Clinton, Bond, Jersey and Washington.

Mrs. Ropp explained the local society will receive 90% of the funds raised in this area to support local services to physically handicapped children and adults. Ten percent will be sent to the state and national Easter Seal Societies to support research projects and aid for the local programs.

Ronald Goldsmith, program director and speech therapist, reports that services at the present time include speech therapy at the Alton Center, Sixth and Alby street; in Belleville at St. Elizabeth's Hospital; in East St. Louis, SIU-SW Campus center; in Venice at the public library, with 152 speech clients being served during the past year.

Pre-school classes are located in Alton and in Granite City at Central Christian Church on Johnson road. These schools are licensed by the state for ten children each. Both schools are filled and have a waiting list. Plans are underway to open a pre-school for the physically handicapped April 1 at Belleville at the United Church of Christ's former parsonage, 14 and A streets.

Occupational therapy on a part-time basis is provided in Alton at the Easter Seal Center; Eunice Smith School, Alton; Nelson School, Edwardsville; and in Granite City at Central Christian Church, where 17 clients were served in the past year. A counseling program of activities is in progress at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville.

VICKY BRANCH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Branch, 306 Chain of Rocks road, Granite City, who is the Poster Child for the Easter Seal Society fund drive to be held locally in March. She attends the Tiny Tim pre-school classes held at Central Christian Church.

For the past 13 years, the Junior Service League of Alton has sponsored a two-week summer Day Camp at Monticello College, Godfrey, and for the last two years the Auxiliary of the Society have assisted in this project. Approximately 50 chidlren, ages 4-12 attend this camp annually.

The Junior Women's Club of Highland has plans to conduct a summer Day Camp to serve 20 physically handicapped children of the area.

Loan equipment is available at no cost to individuals, including wheel chairs, walkers, relaxation chairs, crutches and other equipment that is in constant demand.

The creed of Easter Seal Society is: "The business of the Easter Seal Society is the crippled. To them, we pledge our skills and resources. For them, we seek opportunities for treatment, education and employment. In them, we try to instill the confidence, courage, and inner security needed for happy, self-reliant and productive living."

Animal Shelter Board To Study 'Happenings'

Members of Granite City's Animal Shelter Board advised the city council by letter Monday night that an immediate inquiry will be made of complaints of "various happenings" at the shelter building. The letter was placed on file.

In the letter it was stated: "We, the members of the Granite City Animal Shelter Board, have always been interested in seeing that the animals confined there are well fed and cared for as humanely as possible.

"We have stressed the idea of careful and thoughtful handling of animals. We insist on respect for and cooperation with the public which has so freely supported the shelter. We have had much praise from our citizens and from neighboring towns on the shelter and its management and we intend to keep up their respect.

"Recently our attention has been called to various happenings and conditions which we do not sanction. When unknown people make accusations, they are hard to verify. However, we feel it is necessary to try to make the best investigation possible.

"This inquiry will take place immediately."

St. Louis Philharmonic To Audition Soloists

The St. Louis Philharmonic Orchestra will hold auditions for soloist candidates for the 1968-69 season Sunday afternoon, March 31. These auditions will be held at the Aeolin Co. Clayton store, 7754 Forsyth avenue, at Bemiston, it was announced by Carl Robinson, president.

Applicants are requested to address a letter to the Philharmonic Society of St. Louis, P.O. Box 591, St. Louis, Mo. 63188, stating their schooling, repertory and other background information. They will then be given a specific appointment as to the time they are to appear for their audition on March 31.

Skids Into Post, Tree

The car of James A. Anderson, 2808 Indiana avenue, was damaged at 4:30 p.m. Monday when it skidded on rain-wet pavement in the 2900 block of State street and crashed into a post and a tree on the west side of the street.

Arterial Street Work Materials To Cost $42,000

Materials for summer maintenance of arterial streets in Granite City this year will cost $42,056, according to a compilation of low bids accepted Monday night by the city council.

Midwest Blacktop Roads, Inc., East St. Louis, was the low bidder for five items.

These included 65,700 gallons of RC-3 liquid asphalt applied on the streets for 17 cents a gallon to total $11,169; 17,725 gallons of road oil at 15 cents a gallon, applied, $2658; 5300 gallons of MC-3 liquid asphalt at 17 cents a gallon, applied, $935; and 3638 tons of seal coat aggregate, ⅜ to ½-inch at $5.20 a ton applied, $18,917.

St. Louis Slag Co. was low bidder for Grade 8 crushed stone to be picked up at the plant—360 tons at $2 per ton, $720.

Bituminous patching material will be purchased from Maclair Asphalt Co., East St. Louis, with 600 tons at $8.50 per ton to cost $5100 at the plant. Asphalt crack filler was bid at $552 by Witco Chemical Co., Hammond, Ind., with 12 tons to cost $46 a ton, delivered to the city.

Rock salt will be purchased from Cargill, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn., on a bid of $18.60 per ton for 100 tons in 100 pound bags.

The bid opening was at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the city hall, and the proposals were compiled for that evening's city council session by the engineering firm of Research Planning & Design Associates.

Niedringhaus PTA Chili Supper March 7

Mrs. Leo Manoogian, chairman for the chili supper sponsored by the Niedringhaus school PTA is announcing the supper will be held at the school March 7 from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Tickets for children will be 50 cents and their menu will include chili, dessert and drink or sandwich, dessert and drink. Adults will be served chili, dessert and drink or two hot dog sandwiches, dessert and drink for 75 cents. Individual orders for sloppy joe sandwiches, pie or chili may be purchased. A carry-out service will be available.

The supper is open to the public and also will include a book sale and cake and pie sale.

Earl Jarrett, president of the PTA, said all proceeds will go to the PTA treasury for the school picnic and other activities.

Home From Jehovah's Witnesses Convention

Angelo Scaglione, presiding minister of the Granite City congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, returned from Centralia this week after having attended a three-day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses there. Scaglione said the assembly included instruction and fellowship and that 18 new members were baptized into the ministry.

"The climax of the assmbly came when 1042 persons turned out to hear Joseph D. Wengert, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses, speak on 'Why Does God Permit Wickedness?' "

"Wengert said, 'This is a question that thinking men and women throughout the ages have pondered. Philosophers and clergymen have come up with many answers, but their accumulated ideas are often conflicting and their conclusions frequently contradict'," Scaglione related.

" 'Their opinions regardless of how widely accepted, do not prove truly satisfactory. A fundamental truth is that no man, however wise, can answer the questions regarding why God permits wickedness. The answer can only be obtained when we allow God to speak to us for himself—through his Word, the Bible.

" 'In placing the responsibility for the catastrophe that occurred in Eden, the Bible places the blame squarely where it belongs, in two places. One of these was Adam himself, who misused the freedom that his Creator had given him; the other was Satan, who has been tempting mankind in an effort to establish himself as a rival god, the superior of Jehovah.

" 'Throughout human history, some have been plagued by a tendency to blame God for all their troubles. Every war, every tragedy has been attributed to God in one way or another. But in this men have been inconsistent.

" 'Lawmakers are not usually blamed and brought to trial when others choose to break their laws and get themselves into difficulty, but this is exactly what men do when they put all the responsibility on God whenever evil or misfortune befalls them.'

"Knowing that God will soon put an end to all wickedness through his Kingdom by Christ Jesus, the members of our congregation have renewed zeal to continue their Christian ministry here at home," Scaglione said.

Car, Train Collide On East 20th Street

A Granite City Steel Co. switch engine was struck in the right front at the 20th and Omaha streets crossing at 9 p.m. Monday, by a car driven by George F. Weigle, St. Louis, according to a police report.

Weigle told officers he was watching another engine on another track and did not see the train on the crossing until too late to stop. Weigle's car was damaged in the front and the engine was damaged on the right front. Harold Swilley, 2263 Monroe street, was engineer of the train.

Junior Colleges to Need 11,421 Teachers by 1980

Junior colleges in Illinois will need an estimated 11,421 new teachers by 1980 to meet replacement and growth needs, according to a report just released by a special committee which has been studying the subject since 1966.

The committee, appointed by the Joint Council on Higher Education, is headed by Dr. Eric H. Johnson, vice-president and dean of administrative services at Illinois State University, Normal. All state colleges and universities were represented on the committee.

The report, "Junior College Personnel in Illinois," says new teacher needs will include 8851 in subject areas and 2570 in the vocational-technical area. The figure assumes that no change in present standards will be made, but the committee points out if any up-grading of standards occurs, even larger numbers of new teachers will be required.

244,349 Students by 1980

There are now about 40 junior colleges either in operation or in final stages of development, covering nearly all portions of the state, the report says. The number of students is predicted to increase from 82,825 in 1966 to 244,349 in 1980. Since not all of these are or will be full-time students, the "full-time equivalent" is expected to increase from 55,009 to 160,512 between 1966 and 1980.

The committee also predicts that the proportion of junior college students taking vocational and technical training will increase from 11% to 25% of all students in 1980.

Estimates of faculty needs were based on an average of 52 teachers needed for each 1000 full-time students in the liberal arts and college transfer curricula and 81 for each 1000 in technical and vocational curricula.

The committee urges that the minimum preparation for teachers in junior college, other than certain vocational-technical personnel, be the equivalent of a master's degree. At present, the report notes, approximately 95% of the full-time teachers in public junior colleges have a master's degree or better.

But the problem involved in obtaining the necessary personnel with master's degrees was pointed up by the fact that all Illinois public colleges and universities in 1966 produced 2407 master's degree candidates. These must also meet the needs of elementary and secondary schools, colleges, and government, business and industry.

"Given the limited supply of graduates available as compared with the demand," the report says, "it is probable that neither the junior colleges nor the senior institutions will be able to secure all needed personnel with the desired level of graduate work."

From Other States

It predicted that it will be necessary to secure substantial numbers of graduate degree holders from other states.

Because of the demand for graduate degree holders, the report urges that except for certain vocational - technical and professional areas, no state limitations be placed upon the development of new master's and sixth year programs in the state's colleges and universities.

The report recommends consideration of the development of an advanced master's degree requiring a minimum of one year of academic work beyond the present master's degree. It would be an intermediate degree between master's and doctor's.

It also urged that teacher preparation programs be designed to assure students an purposes and functions of the understanding of the philosophy, institutions in which they plan to teach. It also recommended that graduate programs for prospective junior college personnel include an internship experience program.

The Illinois Junior College Board does not intend to require issuance of a teaching credential for junior college teachers in order that these institutions may staff themselves in a manner identical with the four-year institutions, the report says.

The report also recommends that the Board of Higher Education launch a study which will give up-to-date information about all collegiate level instruction, both public and private.

On the committee making the report, in addition to Johnson, were Elmer J. Clark Southern Illinois University; Frank Dobbs, Northeastern University; Lavern Hamand, Eastern Illinois University; Morris Mellinger, Chicago State College; William. Ogilvie, Northern Illinois University; C. W. Sanford, University of Illinois; J. Henry Sather, Western Illinois University; Ernest Anderson, University of Illinois, and Joseph Totaro of the Board of Governors-Board of Regents office.

U.S. Industrial Attache To Be in St. Louis Today

John Garrison, industrial development attache in Europe for the U.S. Department of Commerce, was to be in St. Louis today to promote the "Invest in U.S.A." program. He will be available at the St. Louis field office of the U.S. Department of Commerce at 1520 Market street.

A. L. Rascher jr., director of the St. Louis field office, said the program helps the U.S. businessman compete more effectively in international markets by providing a channel for joint ventures, license agreements and other types of investments from abroad. Such investments expand the inflow of capital and, by demonstrating the benefits of foreign investments both to the host country and the investors, will help offset foreign criticism of U.S. investment abroad.

Sgt. Conley Howell is Assigned in Vietnam

Sgt. Conley L. Howell, son of Mrs. Myrtle L. Howell, 2129 Washington avenue, has arrived for duty at Selfridge AFB, Mich.

Sgt. Howell, a fuel specialist is assigned to a unit of the Aerospace Defense Command and previously served at U-Tapao Airfield, Thailand. A graduate of Granite City high school he also attended Southern Illinois University prior to entering the Army. His father Artie L. Howell, resides at 5137 Lakeview drive.

Edgar L. Lyle, 66, Dies

Edgar H. Lyle, 66, an employee of General Steel Industries, was buried Tuesday at Highland. He died Saturday at the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Danville. He was a world war II veteran and a former resident of Highland. Mr. Lyle is survived by one brother, Taylor Lyle of Highland.

State Expenses $1.3 Billion in 7 Months

The State of Illinois ended the first seven months of its 75th biennium on Jan. 31 this year with available fund balances of $396,542,837, according to a report by Adlai Stevenson III, state treasurer.

Total income during the period, exclusive of all fund balances at the beginning of the biennium last July 1, amounted to $1,163,780,076, while disbursements from all accounts amounted to $1,390,490,924, the report said. Balances at the beginning of the year totaled $574,803,608 which brought available state funds to $1,738,583,684 for the biennium thus far.

Total disbursements applied against available funds, along with outstanding warrants of $70,154,728, leaves the balance of $396 millions.

Of the balance, $392,721,194 is in regular funds supporting legislative appropriations, and the remaining $3,821,642 is in revolving funds, the report showed.

Hair Style Contest Winners Announced

A group of 13 students competed in a styling contest held Monday evening at Joseph's School of Hair Fashion. The contestants, and models were judged on execution, adaptability and creative styling. Twelve well-known hair stylists judged the contest under nationally accredited condition.

Trophies were awarded to Dotty Young and model, Maxine Lamkin, first place; Barbara Ford and model, Patsy Bucks, second place, and Sue Cory and Jessie Champion, model, third place.

Refreshments were served following the contest.

Students participating were Mary Wasylak, Linda Grotts, Lorretta Owens, Michael Hopkee, Ann Taylor, Joyce McKinney, Renee Kaiser, Nancy Woods, Marcia Hetenhouse and Cathy Crane, and the above named.

Edwardsville Rd. Mishap

Rain-wet pavement resulted in a collision at 3:15 p.m. Monday at 21st street and Edwardsville road of cars driven by Henry A. Bathon, 2031 Fifth street, Madison, and Simmie Morris, East St. Louis. Police reported Bathon was driving east on 21st street and Morris was headed south on Edwardsville road when the mishap occurred. Bathon reported he tried to stop but skidded into the path of the other car.

Collide in Madison

Two cars were damaged at Madison avenue and Second street in Madison at 5:10 p.m. Monday when one of them skidded on wet pavement. Police reported a car driven by Richard A. Benesch, Collinsville, and Merill Gardner, Alliance, Ohio, collided at the intersection as Benesch was turning right from Second street into Madison avenue and Gardner was headed south on Madison avenue. Gardner told police he applied his brakes when he saw the Benesch car, but that his car skidded into it.

Faces Traffic Charge

Terry M. Davis, 3240 Aubrey avenue, was arrested at 7:50 p.m. Monday on a charge of careless driving. Police charged he drove over a curbing making a U-turn. He posted bond pending a hearing March 7.

Mrs. Williams to Aid Conference on Children

Mrs. Beverlee Williams of Mitchell, music teacher at Mitchell grade school, has been asked to serve as a technical consultant for Illinois activities for the 1970 White House Conference on Children and Youth. She will attend the orientation meeting this April 10 at Springfield, Ill.

Gov. Otto Kerner has designated the Commission on Children and Youth to have responsibility for the activities in Illinois which must precede the 1970 White House Conference.

The 30 members of the commission will serve as the executive-steering committee and, in addition, there will be a Statewide Illinois Committee for the 1970 White House Conference composed of 125 people.

A large portion of these will be lay people.

The Technical Consultants' Group will provide professional partnership with the lay people and multi-discipline approaches, which have been important elements in Illinois activities for past White House Conferences, a spokesman said.

Hit-Run Accident

A car owned by Jean Krause, Collinsville, was damaged on the right side at 10:25 p.m. Monday by a car that left the scene, police reported. The hit-run accident occurred on a Kirkpatrick Homes parking lot.

Three-Car Collision At Johnson-Nameoki Rds.

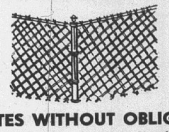

A three-car collision in which one of the cars was struck and damaged on both sides was reported by police at 3:45 p.m. Monday at Nameoki and Johnson roads. Police said a car driven by Henry Copman, 1523 Lindell avenue, headed north on Nameoki road, collided with a car driven by Earlita S. Richardson, 3225 Willow avenue, who was making a left turn from Nameoki into Johnson road.

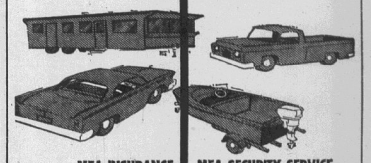

The Richardson car was knocked into a car headed west on Johnson road and driven by Bessie K. Thomure, 2325 Hodges avenue. The Copman car was damaged on the right front, the Richardson car on both sides and the Thomure auto in the left front.

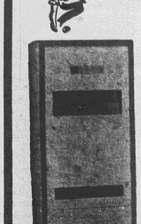

18th-Grand Collision

Cars driven by Fred W. Kickel, 2711 Buxton avenue, and Jimmy E. Stairs, 1929 Third street, Madison, collided at 18th street and Grand avenue at 3:50 p.m. Monday. Police reported that Kickel was passing through the intersection and Stairs' car skidded on wet pavement when he tried to stop, colliding with the left side of the Kickel auto.

BRICK FRONT AND overhang around entire structure are features of new building occupied by Schermer Ace Hardware at 4010 Pontoon road. Stock from former location at 2230 Pontoon road has been moved to the new store which opened for business yesterday. Ted Berger, manager of the Schermer store, said about three weeks will be required to complete stocking and expansion of all merchandise lines. New building provides 10,200 square feet of floor space, more than double that of former location.

NEW SIX-FOOT SHELF fixtures are stocked at the new Schermer Ace Hardware store, 4010 Pontoon road, which opened for business yesterday. Edward Peach, manager of the paint department, arranges stock just before the store opened. New location replaces store formerly operated at 2230 Pontoon road.

Schermer Pontoon Store Occupies New Building

The Schermer Ace Hardware store located at 2230 Pontoon road for the past 12 years has moved into its new building at 4010 Pontoon road and now is open for business.

The new store provides 10,200 square feet of floor space—more than double that of its previous quarters—and features the most modern fixtures for quick self-service shopping.

Ted Berger, manager of the Schermer Hardware Stores, emphasized that the Schermer store in downtown Granite City is to continue operating as usual. "Some persons believe we are closing the downtown store because of the new building, but that is not true," Berger said.

Merchandise from the former location was moved to the new building throughout the past week, but Berger said complete installation at the new location will not be fully accomplished for about three weeks.

The new store has opened as a convenience to the public in the area, although moving operations and the addition of expanded stocks has not been completed, Berger noted.

"We hope the public will bear with us for the next few weeks in which we hope to complete the transition," Berger said.

George M. Birdsong Promoted in Tripoli

Mrs. Linda Birdsong, 2109 Missouri avenue, has been notified that her husband, George M. Birdsong, who is serving in Tripoli with the U. S. Air Force has been promoted to staff sergeant.

He was graduated from Granite City high school in January 1962 and enlisted in the Air Force March 1962. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Birdsong, reside at 2708 Cayuga street.

New Tank Completed At Tri-City Port

The new one-million-gallon liquid storage tank built for National Marine Service, major client at the Tri-City Regional Port, was completed yesterday and was scheduled for testing today.

Carl Ranft, maanger of the port, said completion of the facility will provide much-needed space for increased movement of products through the port by barge, rail and truck. The port last week experienced the busiest week of its operation.

Testing operations today will consist of filling the tank with water and pumping in air to check for any possible leaks.

National Marine Service also maintains other large storage tanks at the port through which caustics, oils, chemicals and other liquid products are transferred for barge-truck-rail shipment.

Mayor's $260 Expense Allowance Rejected

Mayor Partney's $260 expense allowance for January was disapproved by Granite City council members who voted 11-to-3 not to make the payment.

After the vote, a motion was made by Alderman Rutledge for the mayor's annual expense allowance to be increased to $3600 from the present $1500 limit, and Nonn said that before the next mayoralty election, the council should consider increasing the present salary of $10,500 to $18,000 or $20,000.

A question on legality of increasing the mayor's expense allowance during a term of office was raised by Alderman Bartosiak, and City Atty. Allen was instructed to submit an opinion.

The motion not to pay the expense allowance for January was made by Alderman Parmley, who said the mayor's expenses during the current 1967-68 fiscal year already exceeded the $1500 limit. He had called for the $260 payment to be removed from the regular bill list.

Partney's Comments

"If it's illegal, then I would not want it," the mayor commented. "I want to remind the aldermen that we have had other illegal expenses."

In commenting on the action, Rutledge remarked that the council had discussed an increase in the mayor's expense allowance and had determined that $200 was not enough. Nonn added that a $3600 figure had been recommended prior to the last election, but that the ordinance never was presented to the the council.

Voting for Parmley's motion not to pay the allowance were Aldermen Dallas, Moerlien, Bartosiak, Whitmer, Boyd, Poulos, Green Parmley, Jarrett, Dawes and Johnson. Opposed were Rutledge, Nonn and Fry. The aldermen absent were Basarich and Robertson.

In continuing the Finance committee report, Alderman Rutledge submitted the payroll for the last half of February, amounting to $43,905. It was approved.

Federal Reimbursement

He also reported that the federal government had reimbursed the city $733, or half of the expenses for operation of Civil Defense facilities in the last quarter of 1967.

A resolution was adopted to transfer $379 from the sales tax reserve to the city's demolition fund for razing a condemned vacant dwelling at 1204 Rhodes street. The low bidder was G. H. Sternberg Co. The council instructed City Atty. Allen to file a lien against the property for $379.

Explorer Organizing Breakfast Here Mar. 6

A breakfast meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, March 6, on expansion of the explorer program in the Quad-Cities. Exploring is the phase of the Boy Scouts of America program for boys 14, 15, 16 and 17 years old.

Announcement of the breakfast was made by John Dreves, Uniwah district organization and extension chairman, and Dr. George T. Wilkins, explorer chairman of the Uniwah organization and extension committee.

Explorer posts at present serve a smaller percentage of the population than do the other two Boy Scout programs—cub packs for boys in the 8-10 age group and scout troops for those 11 and older.

Former explorers include Col. John Glenn, the first American astronaut to orbit the earth; Gen. William Westmoreland, commander in Vietnam; and Donald Freeman, former Madison high school and University of Illinois athletic star.

Revocation in Error

Secretary of State Paul Powell has rescinded the driver's license revocation action for Jackie A. Odom, 3009 Marshall avenue. The revocation, he noted, was in error because of an error in circuit court records. Her driver's license has been restored.

Speaker Smith States Policies On Vietnam War

Greater participation by South Vietnamese in the Far East war was urged Monday by Rep. Ralph T. Smith (R-Alton), speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives, in a talk to the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus Republican Club.

Smith said the way the administration is conducting the war, South Vietnam is not carrying the weight of the war in any substantial manner.

The house speaker's statement came during a discussion of what he termed substantial foreign and domestic policy differences between Democratic and Republican parties.

While advocating change in the basic war policy, Smith said he did not believe the U. S. should pull out of Vietnam. "We have to find a way to win it and not drag it out," he said.

Smith said the GOP believes there must be a better way to solve world problems than going to war. He blamed the Democratic Party for downgrading the value of traditional foreign alliances and the loss of long-standing national friendships, particularly with France.

On domestic issues, Smith contrasted the "balanced budget of the Eisenhower administration' with growing deficits of Democratic presidents. He also criticized the U. S. Supreme Court for making decisions to achieve what he called legislative and political results rather than concentrating on the solution of traditional legal problems.

At the state level, Smith criticized the Democratic Party for its "priority concern with the interstate highway system" which he said has led to neglect and deterioration of the state's primary and secondary roads, and for lack of progress on problems of mental retardation.
